TURKEY FACTS

Turkey has less fat than beef or pork. Three ounces of ground beef contain 213 calories and 12 grams of fat. Three ounces of ground white turkey meat contain 200 calories and only 6 grams of fat. Most of the fat in turkey is right under the skin. The skin and the fat can easily be removed. Some of the fat in beef and pork is found around the outside and can be cut away. But fat is also found throughout beef and pork {called marbling.} This type of fat cannot be removed.

Ground turkey can be used instead of ground beef. In recipes much as meat loaf, tacos and spaghetti sauce. Because turkey is drier than beef, you may need to add a bit more liquid to recipes.

When buying turkey , look for a full breast, meaty legs and no odor and small amounts of fat. Avoid self basting turkeys because they are injected with saturated fats. Fresh turkey should be stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator and used within two days. Frozen turkey should be thawed un the refrigerator or a sink filled with cold water. Do not thaw on the kitchen counter at room temperature.

Winner of the Packer Raffle Tickets.

The winner is Cheryl Schommer. Thank you everyone for you help and support. $88.00 was raised and will be split between Oneida Foster Grandparents and Oneida Faith In Action Programs.

Why Dementia and Driving is a Difficult Issue

Concerns about driving often surface during the early stages of dementia when individuals are still independent. With dementia, an individual's capacity to assess his or her driving abilities may also diminish. People with dementia are especially likely to minimize the complexity of driving and overestimate their abilities. They may make excuses of their high-risk driving. Some common reasons people with dementia use to justify their continued driving include:

"Just because I got lost doesn't mean I can't drive."

"I make sure I look where I'm going."

"I've driven many, many years and haven't had an accident."

As driving and assessment skills decline, the risk of serious loss or injury increases. Care givers must assume the responsibility for monitoring and regulating the driving of the person with dementia.

Thanksgiving Day In The Morning

What is the place you like the best,
Thanksgiving Day in the morning?
The kitchen? with so many things to test
And help to measure and stir with zest,
And sniff and sample and all the rest,
Thanksgiving Day in the morning.

What are the colors you like the most
Thanksgiving Day in the morning?
The color of cranberries uppermost,
The pumpkin -yellow the tops boast,
The turkey-brown of a crispy roast,
Thanksgiving Day in the morning.

What are the sounds you think are gay,
Thanksgiving Day in the morning?
The sizzly sounds in the roaster tray
The gravy gurgling itself away,
The company sounds at the door-hooray!!
Thanksgiving Day in the morning.

THOUGHTS OF THANKSGIVING

Give thanks to Mother Earth for her bountiful harvest,
Praise the Great Spirit for the rain.

This is the time of joy, for family and friends,
to put aside troubles and make amends.

Welcome your brothers and sisters into your hearts, for this is how being thankful really starts.

Be thankful for the youngest and oldest too,
for this day the Great Spirit has given you!

A PRAYER OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN

Let your voice whisper righteousness in our ear through the West Wind in the late of the day.

Let us be comforted with love for our brothers and sister with no war.

Let us hold good health mentally and physically to solve our problems and accomplish something for future generations of life.

Let us be sincere to ourselves and our youth
and make the world a better place to live.

L.C. Owle

Indian Summer

Lolita Pinney

The plough blade turns the russet land,
A dream-filled pause; in weathered hand
The farmer holds a chipped gray stone . . .
An arrowhead some bow has known
When twisting roads that now prevail
Were just a redskinned warrior's trail.
Roads wind their way past abundant farms
Where corn shocks stand in old-time charms;
Their evening shadows at a glance
Suggest a village, wigwam stance.
Leaves rustle in a windswept blast . . .
Perhaps a hunter has crept past!

A wisp of bonfire plumes the sky,
Smoke signal to gray birds who fly
Due south; mute treaty to the geese
From lands that honored pipe of peace.
A pheasant lifts in sudden flight.
A fallen feather, amber light,
Floats to the ground, and quick as that
The farmer tucks it in his hat.
He seems to hear a tom-tom's tune
For paleface toil in hunter's moon.
He sighs, then turns to soil and plow,
His phantom brother's nearby now . . .
Indian summer. The autumn haze
Masks but lightly those distant days!

National Employ Older Workers Week September 24-30, 2006

Thank you !

You play a vital inspirational role in our organization. We love and appreciate your time and energy.

National Employ Older Workers Week showcases the efforts of the Department of Labor's Senior Community Service Employment Program (SCSEP). For over 40 years, SCSEP has served the job training and placement needs of people with limited financial resources who are age 55 or older. Since its inception under the Economic Opportunity Act, this program has helped over one million people enter the job market each year by providing workforce services to older Americans and exploring ways for older workers to respond to the rapidly changing skills demands of business.

America is witnessing a dramatic growth in the number of citizens who are 55 or older, a trend that will continue well into the 21st century. As our population continues to age, older Americans will play an increasingly important role in maintaining our economy and America's leadership in the world marketplace.

First celebrated in the Eisenhower Administration, and celebrated nearly every year since that time, National Employ Older Workers Week activities focus on recognizing the importance of the participation of older workers in the labor force. This is an important opportunity to highlight the vital role of older workers in the current labor force and the continuing importance of the participation of older workers in meeting the employment needs of our 21st century economy.

By 2008, 40 percent of the labor force will be age 45 or older, and 8 million more Americans age 55 or older will be in the labor force than there were in 1998. This population of mature workers includes individuals who are retiring at young ages and want second careers, individuals who want to work beyond age 65, and those individuals that want some source of income, but not necessarily a full time job.

National Employ Older Workers Week provides an opportunity to increase awareness and focus on development of innovative strategies for tapping into this underutilized labor pool that can help address the challenge posed by potential worker shortages.

The Committee on Economic Development cites surveys indicating that employers rate older workers high on factors such as judgment, commitment to quality, attendance and punctuality. These qualities, coupled with their "old fashioned employer loyalty," make older workers an attractive resource for employers seeking workers and possibly mentors for younger workers.

Americans aged 55 or older are a dedicated and experienced core of our workforce. Their contributions to the nation as paid workers and volunteers in both the private and public sectors are immeasurable. Thank you's went out to Patricia Beilke, Jean Denny, Richard Dodge, Cornelius Hill, Jeanne LaRock, Wayne McReynolds, Marie Scott, Barbara Skenandore, Marena Pamenet and Betty Jorgenson.

Mark Twain

The Undeceided Pumpkin

"I wonder," said the big pumpkin
Who was round and quite fat.
While nestling at the cornshocks feet,
With whom he love to chat.

"If I should be a pumpkin pie,
Or since I'm built just right,
Or should I be a jack-o-lantern,
On this Hallowe'en night.

"I can't deceide what I should be,
A lantern or a pie?
And so he sat and thought and thought,
But as he gave a sigh.

A small boy pounced and homeward ran,
And scopped the pumpkin out,
From which his mother made a pie,
And then with a glad shout.

He carved a happy pumpkin face,
One with a toothy grin,
And he found a stubby candle,
To light him from within.

On Hallowe'em night the pumpkin
Graced the table as a pie,
And carved as a jack-o-lantern
He smiled at passersby

Are Your Appliances Truly "Off?"

You may not realize it, but the power supply in many computers, computer speakers, TV, clock radios, DVD players, and other devices continues to draw small amounts of power even after you've switch them off-as long as they remain plugged in. That's because many are powered by transformers which remain on and continue drawing power-up to 10 watts per hour around the clock.
