Wisconsin seeks interstate designation for Hwy 41

By Dawn Walschinski
Kalihwisaks

Wisconsin Governor Scott Walker announced Tuesday, May 3 that the Wisconsin Department of Transportation (WisDOT) is planning to turn Highway 41 into an interstate.

"This sort of designation helps to attract growth for existing businesses as well as attract other employers to this region when they can say 'hey, we're right off an interstate,'" said Walker at a press conference held in Green Bay near the West Mason interchange.

A section of the Hwy

41 construction scheduled to begin this June will take place within the Oneida reservation borders, and Chairman Rick Hill was on hand for the announcement.

"Certainly, Chairman Hill knows coming up to this area all that it can bring to this region and throughout the state, the powerful effect it has when it comes to tourism," said Walker.

"Oneida could be the gateway for tourism for the rest of the tribes," said Hill in an interview after the announcement.

ONSS staff, students bid adieu to long time teacher

By Nate Wisneski

Kalihwisaks

The Oneida Nation School System (ONSS) is grieving after the death of one of their first teachers, Carol Potack.

Potack, who died on April 28, was an Ojibwe who was hired through a phone interview in the 1980's for a not yet started Oneida Tribal School as a Chapter 1 Reading Teacher. She was the first Native American teacher at the school.

Potack then became the systems Language/Culture Teacher leading classes in self-developed language lessons along with beadwork.

Submitted photo Carol Poteck, far left, died Thursday, April 28. Poteck was one of the first teachers to be hired by the newly formed Oneida Tribal School in the early 1980's. ONSS provided counseling for students grieving Poteck's death.

Oneida Business Committee Wrap: April 27, 2011

By Dawn Walschinski

Kalihwisaks
The Oneida Business Committee (OBC) honored the Oneida Nation High School (ONHS) Girls' Basketball Team for their winning season at the Wednesday, April 27 OBC meeting.

Councilman King praised the eight student athletes for their 16-6 season.

"These fine young women have worked extremely hard," said Better. "We ended up having a successful season, it was amazing."

In attendance: Chairman Rick Hill, Vice Chairwoman Kathy Hughes, Council Members Ed Delgado, Trish King, Brandon Stevens and Ron Tehassi Hill.

Excused: Secretary Patti Hoeft, Treasurer Tina Danforth, Councilwoman Melinda Danforth.

Oaths of office
Councilman Ron Tehassi Hill administered the oaths of office for Oneida Police Officer Brandon Van De Hei; for Election Board Alternates Sunshine Skenandore, Brian Bealieu, Jodi Cornelius, Elizabeth Hopewell and Teresa Schuman; for Oneida Environmental Resource Board Members Marlene Garvey and Chris Cornelius; and for the Oneida Police Commission Member Lois Strong.

Minutes
The OBC approved meeting minutes from April 13 and an April 18 special OBC meeting.

Resolutions
A FY2011 Inter-Tribal Buffalo Council Herd Development Grant Proposal was approved by the OBC.

Draft notices prohibiting the use of electronic polling and retro-approval were denied.

"I think these are a little bit too restrictive, and would prohibit the Business Committee from acting in a matter when it's absolutely necessary," said Councilwoman King.

Councilman Delgado argued that OBC members should be on call for emergency meetings.

"We should call a meeting, and when we call a meeting, the Business Committee should be available ... There's no reason we can't get five of us here," said Delgado.

Board, Committee and Commission quarterly reports

The OBC accepted reports from the Oneida Personnel Commission, Oneida Nation Veterans Affairs and the Oneida Arts Board. A report on transferring the Oneida Powwow Committee to the Tourism Department was accepted.

Reports from the South Eastern Oneida Tribal Services and Oneida Library Board were deferred.

Standing Committees
The Committee accepted minutes for the Legislative Operating Committee (LOC) meetings held April 6 and April 14. The OBC also approved Anna John Nursing Home Board by-laws and the April 22 Finance Committee minutes.

General Manager (GM) Debbie Thundercloud gave a report on analysis of services for boards, committees and commissions. There had been requests for administrative staff support from the groups. The OBC requested that the GM's office as well as Chief of Staff (COS) Bill Gollnick's office report at the May 5 OBC meeting with more information.

A discussion about sovereignty was sparked by a request by Oneida citizen Simon De Coteau for Oneida to reimburse him for storm water fees paid to the Village of Hobart on his fee land.

"(De Coteau) did not believe this is a fee that should be charged against him, and we investigated that. We tried to find a way to establish a broad based policy that would address this," said Gollnick.

There are approximately 216 tribal citizens who own fee land in Hobart. The Oneida Law Office recommended reimbursing tribal citizens as a charitable gift which could cost $20,000 total, or could be done based on income.

"It's a point of contention in the community. ...For those lands held by the tribe, it pays the fees under protest except on trust lands, and it's the trust land that's currently being adjudicated. As it relates to tribal members, they have their individual responsibilities as they currently exist," said Gollnick.

He explained the Law Office is being conservative about what cases to bring to court.

"The Law Office has been very considering of what cases have the potential to succeed, which ones don't, what we as a tribe would gain from various cases, and the potential losses associated with losing," said Gollnick. "If the tribal members were to come forward and to lose, that would be precedent setting for the tribe."

"Would it be appropriate to consider a class action to recover those fees that were being assessed illegally for the purposes of running the government who are playing us every day, using our members' money, and then they turn around and use that money to fight us on those issues," said Chairman Hill. Chief Council Jo Anne House stated the tribe has jurisdiction in those areas, but does not advise pursuing the issue in court.

"I believe the changing nature of the jurisprudence in this area has not been favorable to tribal governments," said House.

"I think the very absence of sovereignty is when we don't protect it as much as we can," said Councilman Stevens.

A motion by Councilman Delgado to pay the fee for tribal citizens under protest did not get any support.

"We're supposed to be a nation to help the people," said De Coteau. "Why aren't you helping people?"

Councilwoman King made a motion for the COS to direct a team to prepare a plan for reimbursement to tribal members who are being assess fees by other municipal governments based on need and age which passed.

Travel

A travel request for Treasurer Danforth to speak at the Women Leaders Native American Economic Development Symposium June 20-22 in Anaheim, CA was approved.

Vice Chairwoman Hughes withdrew her travel request for the symposium.

Chairman Hill and Councilman Stevens were approved to travel to a meeting with the US Department of Interior on May 2 in Washington DC on the condition they ask Interior officials about Oneida's special election to amend its constitution, converting individual fee land to trust land, and discuss the Tribal Gaming Eligibility Act that will impact tribes' ability to put casinos on new acquired land.

From 2A/OBC Wrap

General Tribal Council

A decision to schedule a General Tribal Council (GTC) meeting for the FY12 Budget was deferred to the next OBC meeting.

A petition concerning Health Care specialists, Initiative One Health Center management findings, land use fees for Oneida Farm, Tsyunhehkw, and grass-fed beef sold in cuts was recognized, and ordered to be researched for the June 8 OBC meeting.

Follow-ups/BC directives

The Committee approved putting in a request with the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) to place polling sites in Oneida and Milwaukee for the BIA Secretarial election for Tribal Constitution revisions.

New

Business/Requests

Tonya Boucher withdrew from her appointment to the Oneida Election Board, and the issue was referred to the Chairman's office for a new recommendation.

A request to provide sponsorship to the National Congress of American Indians Mid-Year Conference in Milwaukee June 13-16 was referred to the Treasurer's office.

The OBC approved a recommendation of Beverly Skenandore to the Oneida Child Protective Board.

The Committee also recommended a working group continue developing a recommendation for use of hand-held voting devices at GTC meetings and create a draft GTC meeting procedure. The devices will be tested at the May 23 GTC meeting.

The OBC reaffirmed that Oneida citizens 70 and older will not pay a membership fee at the Oneida Family Fitness (OFF) Center. There was debate to allow members 55 to 69 and those with disabilities to pay a reduced $25 per year fee. However Education and Training Area Manager Susan House stated the OFF hadn't kept records on how many members are disabled, and would need parameters for defining disabled. The budget impact for a reduced fee for those 55 to 69 would be $12,050. Chief of Finance Larry Barton stated there would be savings to Oneida if as a result of the reduced membership fees people were more active and healthy.

"The loss is immaterial in the grand scheme of the overall fiscal impacts. Secondly, it will quantify as a savings as a means of prevention," said Barton.

The reduced fees were approved for 55-69 year olds, and a report was requested in 45 days to study the impact of reducing fees for citizens with disabilities.

The OBC approved an Environmental Protection Agency Underground Storage Tank credential inspection authorization.

Additions Wayne Metoxen and Wilbur Rentmeister were recommended to the Oneida Total Integrated Enterprises Board.

Profile: McLester teaches lessons learned in Canada

Submitted photo

Ron McLester, Jr. went to school in Canada for his advanced degrees, and learned more about his Oneida heritage as well.

By Dawn Walschinski
Kalihwisaks

Ron McLester, Jr. traveled to Canada to obtain his degrees, and now is helping other Aboriginal students do the same as Manager of the Aboriginal Education Department at Mohawk College.

McLester, a citizen of the Oneida Tribe of Indians of Wisconsin, was appointed to the President's Advisory Council at Mohawk College of Applied Arts and Technology in Hamilton, Ontario and to the Board of Directors of Six Nations Polytechnic.

"It's a council made up of a variety of staff members from faculty staff, support staff, student leaders, and we discuss a wide range of ... opportunities, strategic goals, and any ideas," said McLester.

Recently, his department received a $300,000 grant to develop a program for kindergarten to 12 grade students to encourage them to seek higher education. "It's a project called Pathfinder," said McLester. "We're bringing in 80 Aboriginal students, and they will live on campus for up to eight weeks. It's really modeled after the Upward Bound program in the states. They will contribute towards a documentary that will be used as a recruitment film. They will also be given iPad 2's that they can keep at the end of their experience."

McLester was named Chair of Diversity at the college in February.

"It's a two year pilot project, so we will be doing a needs assessment and an environmental scan to check out get a feel for how diverse and how inclusive the college is, where any gaps exist as far as making it a more inclusive and diverse campus," he said.

McLester explained the school looks at diversity within the Aboriginal population.

"We see diversity in ... the reserve students, students who are from the urban core, or from students who are from far away – far north or far west. There are ... three different levels of diversity from the aboriginal population; and a fourth one would be for language speaking students, because there's a definite, I don't want to say barrier, but there's a definite difference from students who know some language between those who don't," he said.

McLester was also elected to the Board of Governors for Six Nations Polytechnic.

"Six Nations is ... basically an academic institution that's a community hub for not only ... focus groups and support groups, tutor groups, that kind of stuff, but also post secondary courses," he said.

McLester started his post-secondary education at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and then transferred to the University of Guelph in Ontario for Criminal Justice. He later earned a Masters in Social Work from McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario.

While attending college in Canada, McLester said he learned more about Oneida's traditional ways.

"I got to meet clan mothers and I got to meet chiefs, and (go to) their longhouse here, and (learn) a different way of understanding of what it means to be Haudenosuantee," said McLester. Haudenosuantee means People of the Longhouse.

Because he went to college in Canada, McLester paid his own tuition. He would like Oneida to change its policy to pay for schooling in Canada.

"One thing Oneida Nation hasn't done is removed the border. The Oneida Nation recognizes the Canadian border; that border is invisible to our people, and there are treaties that say that," he said.

Nori's Oneida Trading Post aims to put best foot forward

By Travis Cottrell
Kalihwisaks

Oneida Elder Nori Damrow has been involved with crafts for the majority of her life and loved every minute. Now she has taken that love and turned it into a small business venture with her new store, Nori's Oneida Trading Post.

It has been Nori's dream to one day open a store. After stepping away from a busy career she is now making that dream a reality. "I've been involved with crafts for nearly fifty years, I worked out of my home and did shows and powwows. So it's been a part of my life. Even after I began to work elsewhere I continued (to make crafts) simply because I loved it," said Damrow.

The quaint shop manages to stock a good amount of merchandise into the shop's space. Damrow says, "Everyday we change, everyday we're putting things in or fixing things different. I walk in here and I'm surprised every time I walk in, it seems to get fuller and fuller."

The store features a wide variety of merchandise such as beads, craft supplies, rugs, pottery, and baskets, just to name a few items. The store even displays and sells artworks produced by local artists and hopes to eventually feature an artist each month.

Although Damrow is the owner of the shop she is not without help. Damrow works with the assistance of Mary Hill and Mary Vvalther, respectively. Both of who bring experience and knowledge of crafts and artwork to the business.

"I do my artwork to sell. I paint, I sculpt, I do raised beadwork, and I do silver smithing. I'm a master silver smith, I thought at the university level," says Vvalther of her experience in the arts. Hill also creates artwork in a different medium, "I mostly do sewing. I sew a lot of home decorations, I work with Pendleton, or whatever I feel like doing." Hill also offers experience in business.

Aside from the business' growing inventory of supplies Nori's Trading Post also con-signs merchandise as well as entertains trades for merchandise.

"We'd like it to be more of a general merchandise store. We're looking at hats and shirts, but what's biggest on my mind are diapers," Damrow says of the future growth of the store.

"We come from three different perspectives and we all have our strengths and we all have our weaknesses. So we've just been trying to put our best foot forward and get this thing off the ground and have something really special to offer to the public."

Nori's Oneida Trading Post is located at 2615 S. Packerland Dr., Suite F-2. The store is within the Airport Business Center. The store is open Tuesday through Saturday 10:00am to 5:00pm and will host a Grand Opening on Saturday, May 28th with ceremonies starting at 2:00pm.

Kathy Hughes
Vice-Chairwoman

Last week I attended a meeting in Portland Oregon. Our task at this meeting was to prepare a draft consultation policy for CMS (Center for Medicare/Medicaid Services). This was a small workgroup with Tribal Leaders and CMS staff represented. We accomplished our task and are using this week to refine the document through email exchanges and conference calls. The importance of this policy is emphasized each time CMS puts out new regulations and guidance with the implementation of the Affordable Care Act. The announcements most often impact our Elderly and the children, along with low-income families. While there can be no guarantees, having a Consultation Policy for the CMS will afford the Tribe a better opportunity to have input before these announcements are made, hopefully, minimizing any negative impacts.

We are continuing to look at systems to provide a better voting procedure at General Tribal Council meetings. Use of a hand held device is expected to provide a smoother means of getting an accurate count in a timely manner. If you have been there when a hand count takes place you will know it is time consuming and at times questionable on accuracy. A workgroup is looking at devices and will be preparing procedures for GTC consideration sometime in the near future.

At the last Business Committee meeting a discussion took place regarding the fees for the Fitness Center. The Committee had previously taken action to lower the fees for those 55 and older to $25. At this meeting, we eliminated any fees for those 70 and older.

That reduction is a minimal cost factor at this time. But what I am concerned about is the accumulation of the small costs when we are having such a trying time coming up with a budget that meets all these needs. We received a petition this week asking for the specialty services that were eliminated at the Health Center to be returned. The Committee was reviewing this decision as part of the budgeting process but now the resolution is asking for it to be reinstated prior to any analysis to support the feasibility. We are being told again not to prepare a budget that will cut labor cost by laying people off. In addition, a petition has come forward asking for a $.75 increase for all employees with annual wages of $60,000 or less. These are a few examples that demonstrate when I say we are good at coming up with ideas on how to spend money but getting the same creative thinking into how to make more money is an ongoing struggle.

While there has been a lot of talk, both for and against, the GTC meeting stipend, we have to recognize the influence that action has had on getting participation at these meetings. For more than 20 years I have been a part of the Committee in bringing an agenda to the GTC for decisions. Many of those GTC meetings didn't take place because we weren't able to get a 75 member quorum. I think it is fantastic that everyone is coming. And hopefully we will reach a point of understanding that paying for the responsibility is not a good thing. Primary Elections are on May 7 and I hope there is a really good turn out for this first time event too. Voting in the Primary Election is another process for participation in your government and should not be dealt with lightly. We elect a Business Committee to take care of the daily governmental affairs of the Tribe and to create Laws that recognize the sovereign authority of the government to exercise jurisdiction over the reservation.

This Primary is the start in determining the Committee to do this work on your behalf. It isn't an easy job. It doesn't pay well and it takes long hours.

Petition Support

Dear Editor,

I support Loretta V. Metoxen's petition on the agenda for the GTC meeting, May 23rd. Her petition asks GTC to take the Judiciary Act off the table and vote on the "qualifications of judges" and the "disciplinary panel" as presented in February.

At that GTC meeting, Feb. 5, 2011, GTC supported higher education qualifications of future judges. But, after four hours, just as GTC was ready vote on a reasonable set of qualifications, a motion was made to table the Judiciary Act, again.

In sum, the purpose of the motion was to allow an open forum of community members to discuss the options and come to a more refined and precise recommendation, with the "6 month" time limit being an arbitrary time frame.

In review, the Judiciary Act and Legislative Procedures Act were on the table from a previous GTC meeting held on Nov. of 2010. But, the GTC wanted the BC separate the two proposed acts, and present them again with clarifications, as was done Feb. 5th.

We have worked on the Judiciary Act for years. During the last 2 years, the BC and LOC held 2 public hearings, and many community meetings about the Judiciary Act. Tribal members commented at public hearings, attended community meetings, and helped shape the Judiciary Act. This has not been the effort of the BC, but the collective, the Oneida citizenship.

The tribe has outgrown the "Appeals Commission" (AC) hearing body. It's time to empower a true court system, and reach the full potential of our Sovereignty. A review of comments from the Feb. 5th meeting reveals a strong belief that some of the current AC members don't have the skill sets and ethical standards required of true judges.

The majority of GTC, Feb 5th, favored higher education and experience as qualifications for judges. Some people prefer a mediation, peacemaking and "alternative dispute resolution," which are included in the Judiciary Act under the section called "Peacemaking and Mediation Division."

Tribal members want future judges to be competent, fair, and objective in a tribal court. By setting the judges qualification higher, a strong ethical code, and a disciplinary panel of independent judges, we can reach this goal.

This petition seeks to set the qualifications to include a Juris Doctorate degree for the Chief Judges, and a bachelor's degree or 10 years of comparable experience for lower court judges.

GTC supports higher education, and dedicates funds to the Oneida Scholarship program. Many Oneidas are graduating from college, and even law school. In the past there was concern that educational requirements were too limiting, but that is no longer true. There are Oneida people who have the education, experience, and ethical standards we expect from judges.

Hopefully, the GTC will agree it's time to take off the table this Judiciary Act and Legislative Procedures Act and move forward with creating our own court.

Sincerely,
Sherrole Benton

Petition Opposition

I learned Thursday night (04/20/11) at our Judiciary Act Workgroup meeting that the Oneida Business Committee has agreed to place Loretta Metoxen's petition (to take the Judiciary Act off the table EARLY) on the agenda for the GTC meeting scheduled for May 23, 2011. By no means am I surprised, but I am truly disappointed that the Oneida Business Committee would allow the petition to be placed on the GTC meeting agenda because the GTC

OBC Forum...

Shekoli!

One of the most difficult things about nearing the end of my term of office is looking at all of the things that I still want to accomplish. No matter how members of the OBC schedule or plan, we will always end up with things that just won't be finished by the last day of the term. The last six months in office are always a rush to try and finalize as many projects as possible, which leads to a lot of hectic days and long nights.

Although several legislative items are underway, there are two particular projects that I hope will reach finalization: The Judiciary and the Indian Preference in Contracting Law. Both of these laws speak strongly to the Tribe's sovereign foundation, and among all the laws we are working on, I believe these two are extremely important for the Nation. Following is a status update on both:

The Judiciary

The February 5, 2011 GTC meeting was the third time the Judiciary came before the people. After four hours of excellent discussion, the membership was extremely close to adopting the law, but the motion got bogged down with word-smithing problems and the proposal was ultimately tabled for six months. We were directed to formulate a work group, consisting of any and all interested GTC members, to discuss and bring back specific language for two sections of the law where we had presented the GTC with different options – education/experience requirements for judges, and the composition of disciplinary panels.

Every Thursday night throughout the months of March and April, interested GTC members have come together and discussed the language and various options regarding these two areas of the proposal. It has been a wonderful experience to see interested community members, with so many different backgrounds and opinions, come together and work together towards a common goal. I particularly want to commend the members of the workgroup for their willingness to listen to each other, the patience and respect they have demonstrated, and of course for the excellent points that have been made and the ideas that have been brought forth.

The group strives to come to consensus and will soon make their final recommendations for GTC consideration within the six-month time-frame. Of particular note: A petition was also submitted asking that the Judiciary be addressed prior to the six-month time-frame. The OBC has scheduled that petition to be heard at the May 23rd GTC meeting. The work group is being encouraged to be ready to address the issue on that day if the membership so desires to take it up.

Indian Preference in Contracting

The Indian Preference in Contracting law is the second project that I am working particularly hard to finalize. This law has been on the LOC agenda for revisions for over two years, and we are now ready to present it for public comment.

Trish King

At first glance, I thought that overhauling our current Indian Preference law might be a fairly simple task – but it has turned out to be a very challenging yet fascinating project. As sometimes happens with Tribal legislation, there are competing interests involved, and the Tribe has a stake in both of those interests.

On the one hand, it is crucial that we support Oneida-owned and Indian-owned businesses and workers. As a sovereign nation, we are deeply invested in making sure that our people can take advantage of every possible opportunity to earn a living; that businesses owned by our people become successful, and that our people are involved in every aspect of our Nation's development.

On the other hand, it is just as important that we are fiscally responsible, accountable, and most of all – fair. We have to make sure that we are not overspending on products and services. We have to ensure that every Tribal member and business is treated equally, and fairly. And we also have to make sure that nobody takes advantage of preference in a way that violates the intent of granting preference.

In the new Indian Preference in Contracting law, we are trying to strike a better balance between these competing interests, and to add accountability and transparency. We want to make sure that everyone clearly understands their rights under this law, and how to challenge any perceived unfairness in how it is applied. Through more detailed and specific language, we are trying to close any loopholes in the current law and more rigorously enforce preference in contracting for Oneida and other Indian businesses, and preference by contractors in employment for Oneida and other Indian workers.

A public hearing will be held on the proposal on May 26, 2011, in the OBC Conference Room. This is your opportunity to let the government hear your voice. If you would like a copy of the proposal, stop by the Legislative Reference Office in the Norbert Hill Center, or check online – the www.Oneida-nsn.gov website will have information about public hearings – just click on the "Government" link at the top, and then select "Tribal Laws" from the drop-down menu. If you are unable to attend the Public Hearing, you can submit written comments to Legislative Reference Office, P.O. Box 365, Oneida, WI 54155.

I would like to also note that there are a total of seven proposed legislative items that have been scheduled for public hearings in upcoming weeks. You can find information on these public hearings on the Tribal website as well as in this issue of the Kalihwisaks. Three public hearings will be held on May 23 and the remaining four will be held on May 26, 2011. We hope to see you there!

Frequently Asked Questions Oneida Tribal General Election Primary

How will the election process be different for the 2011 General Election?

In 2011, a Primary Election will be held. In years past there was no primary election.

What is a primary?

Excerpts from Oneida Tribal Election Law:

2.12-2. There shall be a primary election for Business Committee positions whenever there are three (3) or more candidates for any officer positions or sixteen (16) or more candidates for the at-large council member positions.

(a) The two (2) candidates receiving the highest number of votes cast for each officer position shall be placed on the ballot.

(b) The fifteen (15) candidates receiving the highest number of votes cast for the at-large council member positions shall be placed on the ballot.

(c) Any position where a tie exists to determine the candidates to be placed on the ballot shall include all candidates where the tie exists.

2.12-3. The Election Board shall cancel the primary election if the Business Committee positions did not draw the requisite number of candidates for a primary by the petitioning deadline set for the primary.

2.12-4. In the event a candidate withdraws or is unable to run for office after being declared a winner in the primary, the Election Board shall declare the next highest primary vote recipient the primary winner. This procedure shall be repeated as necessary until the ballot is full or until there are no available candidates. If the ballot has already been printed, the procedures for notifying the Oneida public in section 2.5-11 and 2.5-12 shall be followed, including the requirement to print a notice in the Tribal newspaper if time lines allow.

Why have a primary?

To give members a chance to select from fewer candidates or the Business Committee positions in the General Election.

Will there be a primary for all vacancies?

No. The primary election is for Business Committee vacancies only.

When will the primary be held?

On Saturday, May 7, 2011 at the Oneida Health Center and the SEOTS Building in Milwaukee. Polls will be open from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

If there are only two candidates running for an officer position, will a primary still be held for that position?

No. The primary is designed to get the top two candidates for each officer position. If only two applicants run for that position, each applicant will automatically be placed on the General Election ballot as a candidate.

If a candidate didn't advance in the primary, can I write their name on my ballot at the General Election?

No. Write-in candidates are not allowed.

When will the Caucus be held?

On Saturday, March 12, 2011 at the Norbert Hill Center at 1:00 p.m.

Is the Caucus just for vacancies within the Business Committee?

No, the Caucus will be for ALL vacancies of all boards, committees, and commissions with elected positions to be filled at the 2011 General Election.

When can I submit application for candidacy?

Officially this is done at the Caucus by being nominated and submitting the required application by the deadline date to the Tribal Secretary's Office.

If I can't attend the Caucus, can I still submit my application to be a candidate?

Yes. You will need to complete a petition and submit the required application by the deadline date.

How long do I have to submit an application to become a candidate?

All applications are due by 4:30 p.m. on Friday, March 18, 2011 to the Tribal Secretary's Office.

Hill stated Oneida has an intergovernmental agreement with Wisconsin that will create engineering jobs for Oneida Tribal Integrated Enterprises (OTIE) as well as opportunities for Oneida entrepreneurs.

“Whether it’s trucking, signage, building products, labor, not only for our own private sector, but there’s also an opportunity for OTIE and the engineering area as well,” said Hill.

The designation as an interstate would need to be approved by the Federal Highway Authority. Improvements to Highway 41 would have to include widening the corridor as well as meeting overpass height requirements and safety standards.

“As long as we’re making upgrades and improvements along the way, we make sure we do them so it fits the interstate standards,” said Walker.

Construction will begin in the Green Bay area in at the WIS 29 and County J intersection in June and continue through May of 2012. The interstate designation will run from Green Bay to Milwaukee. The cost to make the improvements is estimated to be between $15 and $20 million.

Public Hearing Notice

9:00AM Norbert Hill Center (BCCR)

May 23, 2011

Purpose:

Amendments to the Child Custody, Placement and Visitation Law to Address a Parent Move.

The intent of these Amendments is to require a parent with physical custody of a child to provide notice to the other parent prior to moving outside of the state. The Amendments also provide a mechanism for the non-custodial parent to object and a hearing to be held. The Amendments are based on a request submitted by the Oneida Appeals Commission.

Purpose:

Oneida Tribal Regulation of Domestic Animals Ordinance Amendments.

The purpose of these amendments is to grandfather in those individuals who have more animals than allowed under the Tribe’s law, if they had those animals on the land before they became subject to the jurisdiction of the Tribe. The amendments would also allow an individual to operate a kennel on land zoned residential, if he or she obtains a permit from the Land Commission which allows the kennel. Finally, the amendments clarify the type of land the Ordinance applies to and allows individuals to appeal fines and citations to the Environmental Resource Board.

Purpose:

Amendments to Address Guardians Ad Litem Appointments and Conflicts of Interest.

The intent of these amendments is to prevent conflicts of interest in the appointment of guardians ad litem. The provisions for appointing a guardian ad litem are located in the Child Custody, Placement, and Visitation law. Under the amendments, a person would be disqualified for appointment as a guardian ad litem for a particular case if he or she is related to an interested party, an actual party, a Commissioner for the proceeding, or to an appointing Commissioner. Amendments to the Paternity law and Child Support law are also included in order to reference the Child Custody, Placement and Visitation law’s standards for guardian ad litem appointments.

Purpose:

Hunting, Fishing and Trapping Law Amendments.

The purpose of these amendments is to update the Hunting, Fishing and Trapping Law for the 2011-2012 season. The Amendments would allow ten and eleven-year olds to obtain a sportsman license to hunt after completing a hunter safety course, if he or she remains within arms grasp of a mentor while hunting; obeys all hunting laws and regulations; and obtains the necessary licenses, permits and/or tags. The Amendments also outline the requirements that a person must meet in order to be a mentor to a ten or eleven-year old hunter. In addition, the Amendments would allow tree stands to remain up until April 1st, as opposed to two weeks after the end of archery season; require a buck to have at least 4 points in order to be harvested; limit a designated hunter to hunting for one elder or disabled person; legalize colony traps; require individuals to obtain a permit before possessing or releasing birds for dog training purposes; and allow non-Indians to obtain a predator’s license to hunt fox, coyote and raccoon on the Reservation.

Purpose:

Indian Preference in Contracting Law Adoption.

The Indian Preference in Contracting law would replace the current Oneida Indian Preference Law, which was originally adopted in 1998 and last amended in 2003. The purposes of the law are to 1) expand the application of preference in contracting, thus increasing economic opportunities for tribal businesses, and 2) to prevent increased Tribal costs due to misuse of Indian preference entitlement.

Purpose:

Amendments to the Per Capita Ordinance.

The intent of these Amendments is to:

- Adopt a fine of 1/3 of the balance of the trust account to penalize those individuals who submit fraudulent proof of a diploma when claiming their trust account funds.
- Prohibit someone who is dually enrolled in the Oneida Tribe and another Tribe from being eligible for a per capita payment.
- Outline how a Tribal member may refuse a per capita payment or trust account payment.
- Clarify how prior payments may be claimed and how they are distributed.
- Prohibit a per capita payment to a Tribal member whose date of death occurs before the payment is distributed.
- Authorize the Trust Committee to establish additional payment dates, as needed, with Oneida Business Committee (OBC) approval.

Purpose:

Voluntary Severance Law Adoption.

The purpose of this law is to govern voluntary severance by creating the authorities and responsibilities of various Tribal entities when a voluntary severance is available to employees of the Tribe. The Law allows the Oneida Business Committee to reduce the Tribe’s workforce, based on financial conditions, through the enactment of a voluntary severance. Under the Law, the Human Resource Department and the Executive Managers are responsible for informing employees of the voluntary severance and making the final determination as to whether an employee is eligible to receive a severance. The intent of the Law is not to terminate employees based on performance issues and applies only to those employees who voluntarily resign from the Tribe.

Public Hearing Process Testimony:

Oral: There will be a 5 minute limit for all oral presentations. Each participant is encouraged to provide a written transcript of his/her oral testimony, to be submitted while present at the public hearing or within ten (10) business days from the date of public hearing to the below named individuals.

Written: For those who cannot attend the scheduled public hearing or do not plan to speak at the hearing, the Oneida Tribe encourages those to submit written testimony. A maximum of ten (10) pages, doubled spaced, can be submitted within ten (10) business days from the date of public hearing to the Tribal Secretary (Patricia Hoeft) or Tonya Boucher, Legislative Reference Office at the Norbert Hill Center, 2nd floor or mail to PO Box 365, Oneida WI 54155.

If you would like to obtain a copy of the above proposed law or have any questions as to the public hearing process you may contact Tonya Boucher at the Legislative Reference Office, via Groupwise tboucher@oneidana-tion.org Or call 1-800-236-2214 or 920-869-4376. Oneida Tribal Judicial System

Quarterly Summaries for Jan. - Mar. 2011

Procedure, Rule 9(E) Failure of Allegations. Appellant failed to sufficiently allege one of the criteria of Rule 9(D). This case denied.

Mary L. Brocker v. Anna John Nursing Home, Sherri Lansbach. Docket No. 11-AC-001, January 19, 2011. Judicial Officers Winnifred L. Thomas, Janice L. McLester, Lois Powless presiding. Remanded to the Oneida Personnel Commission to hold a hearing on the original merits of the case, in accordance with RAP, Rule 9(B)(2): If not ripe for Appellate review, the Initial Review body will determine what original hearing body has subject matter jurisdiction over the case.

Mary Brocker v. Anna John Nursing Home, Sherri Lansbach. Docket No. 11-AC-006, March 25, 2011. Judicial Officers Janice L. McLester, Lois Powless, Winnifred Thomas presiding. Denied according to Rules of Appellate Procedure, Rule 9(E) Failure of Allegations. Appellant failed to sufficiently allege one of the criteria of Rule 9(D). This case denied.

Appellate Court Decisions

Steven Huff v. Oneida Bingo & Casino, Slot Department, Dan Stevens. Docket No. 10-AC-018, February 15, 2011. Judicial Officers Janice L. McLester, Lois Powless, Winnifred L. Thomas, Jennifer Webster and Stanley R. Webster presiding. This case was an appeal of an Oneida Personnel Commission (OPC) decision which upheld, Appellant, Steven Huff's termination for violation of Oneida Personnel Policies and Procedures, Section V.D.2.II.a "Failure to report promptly and observe work schedules...without the specific approval of the supervisor" and Section V.D.3.c "Accumulated Disciplinary Actions Warranting Termination". Mr. Huff claimed his supervisor's failure to adhere to

Section V.D.5.e requiring him to send a copy of the disciplinary action to the area manager and gaming manager, created a procedural irregularity in the disciplinary process. OPC ruled in its decision to uphold the termination and that while there may have been procedural irregularities exhibited during the disciplinary process, "past practice has set a precedent for implementing Section V.D.5.e..." The supervisors failure to adhere to the Blue Book (requiring copies of the termination be sent to the area manager and general manager) was not a procedural irregularity that caused harm to Mr. Huff. This Appellate body found there was no procedural irregularity in the OPC's process of reasoning in itself, however, there was a procedural irregularity when they ruled there had been no previous appeal challenging this violation. This case was an appeal, a challenge and should have been acted upon. All laws and rules of the Oneida Tribe are valid and in full force and effect unless shown otherwise. This irregularity was found to be a harmless error, no evidence in the record that this failure to follow the rule resulted in any tangible harm or error which required reversal of the termination. Mr. Huff was terminated for violations of Section V.D.2.II.a and V.D.3.c of the Blue Book which he did not argue. Termination upheld.

Lee Thomas v. Oneida Tribe Financial Department, Lawrence Barton. Docket No. 10-AC-011, December 22, 2011. Pro Tem Judicial Officers Todd R. Matha, Stephan M. Grochowski, Marianne Higgins, Robert Miller, Jr. and James B. Mohr presiding. This case was an appeal of an Oneida Personnel Commission (OPC) decision which upheld a (3) day suspension due to an "unauthorized release of the Bay Bank Loan Report." On January 27, 2010 the Oneida Business Committee directed the Bay Bank President to provide the small business loan 2000 reports by

Friday, January 29, 2010. Subsequently, on January 29, 2010, Tribal Secretary Patti Hoeft independently requested the reports from Jennifer Schabow, Accounting Manager-Programs and Mr. Thomas approved the delivery to Ms. Hoeft. As a result, Mr. Barton, Supervisor issued Mr. Thomas a 3-day suspension for "unauthorized release of the Bay Bank Loan Report." Mr. Thomas objected to the discipline on three (3) principal grounds: 1) no records were released outside the Tribe; 2) the record delivery did not materially differ from similar past instances over a span of five (5) years, without Respondents pre-authorization; and 3) the records did not contain confidential information. OPC found the documents released had personal information and were released without the consent of parties and the parties could be hurt if the report was released to the public. Mr. Thomas alleged the OPC decision to be clearly erroneous and against the weight of the evidence. The Appellate body agreed. They emphasized that Mr. Thomas did not distribute the bank records outside the Tribe, but to the Tribal Secretary. OPC found the apparent absence of consent by the account holders, however neither party, not the Business Committee ever insisted or mentioned this condition. Mr. Barton indicated he should have pre-authorized the record delivery, but offered no testimony or documentation to support. The second OPC finding of "too much information" contained in the records was ambiguous. Inasmuch as no public release of information occurred, this argument fails. The Personnel Commission decision overturned, suspension overturned.

Department of Public Works, Rosa John, Custodial Supervisor v. Aaron Menchski. Docket No. 10-AC-027, March 16, 2011. Judicial Officers Janice L. McLester, Lois Powless, Winnifred L. Thomas, Jennifer Webster and

Stanley R. Webster presiding. This case was an appeal by Rosa John, Custodial Supervisor, Department of Public Works, of an Oneida Personnel Commission (OPC) decision which overturned Respondent, Aaron Mencheski's termination. On June 14, 2010 Mr. Mencheski was terminated for violation of Oneida Personnel Policies and Procedures, Section V.D.3.b Accumulated Disciplinary Actions warranting Termination, "The accumulation of two (2) upheld suspensions within any twelve (12) month period. (T)". Ms. John alleged the OPC to be clearly erroneous by failing to consider evidence presented as to why there was a legitimate reason the five day rule in accordance with Section V.D.5 Disciplinary Procedure was not met. OPC found Ms. John's inaction of following up on the status of whether or not Mr. Mencheski appealed his April 5, 2010 discipline to the OPC to be fatal. Ms. John issued the termination more than two (2) months after the discipline had been issued. OPC decision upheld, termination overturned.

Trial Court Decisions

Donald J. Denny v. Oneida HRD-Benefits and Crawford & Company. Docket No. 10-TC-088, January 7, 2011. Judicial Officers Leland Wigg-Ninham, Mary Adams, Stanley Webster presiding. This case arose out of a work place injury suffered by Donald Denny. Mr. Denny sought additional benefits in the form of medical treatment and compensation for a 10% permanent partial disability. The court denied Mr. Denny's claim for his failure to prove his claim for 10% permanent partial disability.

Sharon Cornelius vs. Oneida HRD-Benefits and Crawford Insurance. Docket No. 10-TC-194, March 7, 2011. Judicial Officers Mary Adams, Jean M. Webster and Leland Wigg-Ninham presiding. This case arose out of a work place injury suffered by Sharon Cornelius. This situation was unique; employee, Sharon Cornelius, fainted due to her diabetic health conditions, which cause her injury. Ms. Cornelius was working during a "Code D". The criteria for the "Code D" exposed Ms. Cornelius to those conditions or circumstances beyond those common to occupational life and is predominantly work related. Furthermore, the Court found it persuasive that Ms. Cornelius' supervisor knew she was diabetic and denied her the necessary break, even when Ms. Cornelius notified the supervisor she was beginning to feel dizzy and light headed.

The Court granted Ms. Cornelius's requests of coverage for her medical bills and loss of wages provided they were consistent with the Workers' Compensation Ordinance.

Lisa Marie Summers v. Oneida Business Committee. Docket No. 10-TC-217, March 14, 2011. Judicial Officers Mary Adams, Sandra Skenadore and Jean M. Webster presiding. Petitioner, Ms. Summers was requesting reinstatement of the original accumulation of employee personal time by one (1) day. Mrs. Summers filed a Motion to Voluntarily Dismiss without Prejudice, claiming the parties have come to an agreement. The Court granted the motion.

Lisa M. Behringer vs. Michael T. Behringer. Docket No. 10-DI-004, March 4, 2011. Judicial Officers Mary Adams, Jean M. Webster and Leland Wigg-Ninham presiding. This is a divorce action. Petitioner, Mrs. Behringer, filed a motion to dismiss. The Court granted the motion to dismiss.

Complete copy of the decisions can be obtained at the Oneida Tribal Judicial System office and can be viewed from the Oneida Internet. Submitted by Janice L. McLester.

Initial Review

Rule 9(D) - Criteria for Acceptance:

The Initial Review Body shall accept an appeal for appellate review if one or more of the following elements are sufficiently alleged to exist in the original hearing body decision by the Appellant in the Notice of Appeal:

- (1) A violation of constitutional provisions;
- (2) The decision is outside the scope of the authority or otherwise unlawful;
- (3) The decision is clearly erroneous and is against the weight of the evidence presented at the hearing level;
- (4) The decision is arbitrary and/or capricious;
- (5) There is exhibited a procedural irregularity which would be considered a harmful error that may have contributed to the final decision, which if the error had not occurred, would have altered the final decision;
- (6) There is a presentation or introduction of new evidence that was not available at the hearing level which, if available, may have altered the final decision.

To conserve time and space provided, the Oneida Tribal Judicial System will only put into print the Initial Review Decisions which have been denied. The cases that have been accepted at Initial Review will be published when the final adjudication has been entered.

Denied Initial Review Decisions

Matthew E. Ellis v. Division of Land Management. Docket No. 10-AC-033, January 6, 2011. Judicial Officers Winnifred L. Thomas, Janice L. McLester, Lois Powless presiding. Denied according to Rules of Appellate

Oneida Legal Resource Center

By Attorney Charlene Smith
Legal Resource Center

The Legal Resource Center (LRC) is for tribal members who have legal issues and tribal employees who have employment issues. The LRC staff is available for free legal consultations by appointment.

Due to the expansion of the Oneida tribal jurisdiction with the recent adoption of tribal laws relating to family law, more cases will be heard in the Oneida Tribal Judicial System (OTJS) for members who would otherwise have to file and appear in state court. This is an opportunity for members to have their legal disputes addressed/settled in their own court by tribal judicial officers. It is beneficial for the tribe as a whole as it exercises our sovereign right to self govern.

The services are offered to Oneida tribal members for a fee. The legal services include family law litigation at the OTJS, pro-se divorce paperwork, name changes, wills, power of attorney documents, eviction defense (OHA and DOLM only), small claims, and legal procedure information. There may be legal issues that the LRC staff is not proficient in, but the staff will do their best to point the member in the right direction to get their legal questions answered and/or legal issues resolved. The LRC attorney also provides assistance and/or representation for tribal members in criminal matters and family law issues in local state courts.

The LRC continues to assist Oneida employees who work on the program side with their issues of employee dispute. An employee who has an employment dispute may consult with one of the LRC paralegals in regard to their rights and due process. There is no fee for this service.

Please call the LRC for more information or an appointment at (920) 496-5310.

The LRC is located at Ridgeview Plaza, in Suite 7 at 3759 w. Mason St.

Oneida Business Committee Recognizes Lady Thunderhawks' Success

By Lisa Rauschenbach
ONHS Athletic Director

Last week the BC recognized the Lady Thunderhawks on their successful basketball season. This recognition was very much appreciated and needed to show our girls how proud of them we are.

I would like to give some additional recognition to Coach Jamie Better. Her commitment, hard work and perseverance to the ONHS basketball program has far exceeded any expectations that the Athletic Program has given her. Coach Better has fueled a fire in not only our basketball program but the Athletic program as well this 2011 season. Her dedication, passion for coaching and lasting influence is one of the main reasons that the community came together to support these girls. Jamie started this season, trying to teach the fundamentals of basketball but ended up teaching so much more. Basic fundamentals quickly become lessons on being a team and helping one another to succeed. She spent countless hours both on and off the court teaching the girls the value of being a team player, commitment, looking out for one another, the importance of academics, being respectful, thankfulness, good sportsmanship, how to represent our community and most importantly to never give up on themselves.

For all of these reasons, Coach Better deserves to be recognized as she is no "ordinary coach" but rather a mentor and investor into teaching our young ladies how to be student athletes. She has made a tremendous impact on the basketball program in the short time she has been with us and her first season's success is a direct reflection of that.

If and when you see Coach Better, please thank her for everything she has done within the ONHS Athletic program. My hopes are to continue to mimic Ms. Better's efforts and passion for helping our Oneida youth to set high expectations for seasons to come.

OSGC Appreciates Support at GTC

Oneida Seven Generations Corporation wants to thank all those who attended the recent GTC meeting to ask questions and voice their support for OSGC's proposed renewable energy project. The facility, to be located on Green Bay's far northwest side will take municipal solid waste (MSW) and, through a Pyrolysis - gasification system, turn it into energy.

"We greatly appreciate the many comments and questions tribal members had about the project," said OSGC Chief Executive Officer, Kevin Cornelius. "It showed the community wanted to learn more, and hear from the experts, about how the system works and the many benefits to the environment as well as the Tribe. We appreciate their support." Among the environmental benefits:

- The facility will be able to process up to 150 tons of MSW daily, reducing the amount of waste going into area landfills. Currently, approximately 500 to 600 tons of MSW is transferred daily at the Brown County Waste Transfer Station.
- The facility will meet all public health and safety rules and requirements of the DOE, WDNR, EPA and OSHA. The facility will not be allowed to be built, or operate, unless it meets all requirements.

In addition to the technology and environmental benefits, various financial aspects of the project were discussed. It was stressed that:

- No money from Oneida Tribal government is invested in the project.
 - The BIA loan guarantee is tied only to the project and NOT the tribe.
- "We've done our due diligence in moving forward with this project," stated Cornelius. "Plus, we are now working with a local government that wants us to be there. Our relationship with, and assistance from, the City of Green Bay has been nothing but positive. This is a good project for everyone involved."

For more information about the OSGC renewable energy facility, go to www.osgc.net or feel free to contact the OSGC office at (920) 347-0500. "Our door is always open to those who are interested in our projects or have questions," said Cornelius.

Remembering Maple Tapping

By Dawn Walschinski
Kalihwisaks

Three generations gathered to hear my Grandmother Marjorie Broberg remember when her grandparents Lavina and Simon Metoxen would tap maple trees on their property when Marjorie was a young girl. My aunt Susan Lemens, my mother Maxine Thomas and myself, Dawn Walschinski, drank tea and listened to her stories.

"I remember my grandparents had a little woods back of their place, and they would cut down trees, but they would leave all the maples up, and they called them sugar maples. They would tap them in the spring time, and my uncle and grandfather would hang pails on the tapped trees," said Marjorie.

"My grandparents had great big milk cans, and they would pour the sap in there," she explained. "My grandmother had a big black kettle, and they would pour all the sap in there. Then they made a fire, and it had to keep going day and night."

When the syrup was the right thickness, Marjorie's grandmother would put the finished product into pint jars to share with everyone who helped.

"Then they would have a nice pancake breakfast, and they would put maple syrup on it," she said.

Maxine, an Oneida Culture and Language Teacher at the Oneida Nation School System (ONSS), explained the ONSS students bartered maple syrup with schools up north for wild rice for the annual family feast.

"Someone in the family needed to go up there every year to help with their wild rice, so that they could bring some home," said Marjorie who had an aunt that lived in Odanah, Wisc. "I always thought wild rice tasted so good."

From 1A/Farewell to Potack

Potack's importance in helping shape the youth of the Oneida community was not unnoticed by Sharon Mousseau, the school's Superintendent.

"Language and Culture have always been at the center of our school," said Mousseau. "Culture is who we are and we have to teach it."

Parents were notified of Potack's death in a letter sent home with students on Friday, April 29. The letter advises that students were told of her death and provided counseling services.

Potack's death pushed the school's crisis plan into action shortly after the school was notified.

"I am glad we have that in place. I was gone and everyone knew what to do," Mousseau said. The plan details the process of handling crisis situations and each staff member knows their role within the plan.

With the loss of Potack, the school will be even more shorthanded in the culture area due to a retirement last year. Currently under cost containment measures that prohibit new hires the school will turn to a substitute teacher for the rest of the school year. The school also recognizes the challenge of replacing her.

"Carol's position was not tribally funded so we will be able to post her job," Mousseau. "But people don't go to school to teach culture and heritage. You have to know it and have patience with kids like she did."

Potack served in the Oneida Nation School System for 26 years.

"We're going to miss her," said Mousseau. "That's what everyone is saying."

From 6A/Letters & Opinions overwhelmingly voted to TABLE the Judiciary Act for six (6) months to allow any interested GTC members to work together to clean up the disastrous, confusing and ambiguous Judiciary Act that was presented to the GTC as a final work product of the OBC in January 2011. To allow a petition to UNTABLE before the August 2011 GTC meeting is total disregard for the directive of the Oneida General Tribal Council. To make matters worse, they scheduled it on a Monday night. A reasonable and responsible person would schedule such an important issue for a Saturday to ensure the greatest amount of participation of the membership given the fact the Judiciary Act has the potential to impact every single Oneida Tribal Member. From little bitty babies right up to our elders. It is my understanding Councilman Brandon Yellowbird-Stevens joined in with Loretta Metoxen and Sherole Benton to lead this effort immediately following the Judiciary Act meeting held in January 2011, because "they" did not get what they wanted. The Judiciary Workgroup is trying to work diligently to formulate a Judiciary Act that is reasonable and requires qualifications, competence, responsibility and accountability. But it is difficult to do this when there are so many abusive and inappropriate activities occurring during the meetings. The meetings have actually become a hostile environment. I do not like the inappropriate behaviors that are displayed. We have bulldozers and bulldozers running rampant with no controls. Elders being attacked and put down when they try to express how they feel about a topic. And I do not understand for the life of me why Councilwoman Trish King does not stop the inappropriate and abusive behaviors as they occur. I attend the Judiciary workgroup meeting to work on creating a law that is in the best interest of all our people, not for just a select few and not for certain family members. Our people attend the workgroup meetings to share ideas and give positive input. They do not go to the meetings to get attacked or put down by Sherole Benton. I do not think we should allow a few bullies to disturb a GTC directive. Nor do I think we should allow the Oneida Business Committee to blow our money on a meeting that is not scheduled to convene until August 2011. Again ... they keep telling us we don't have any money, but they can call a GTC meeting to promote the self interest of a small group of people and violate the directives of the GTC.

Unfortunate NIGA Incident

Dear Editor,
An ugly, violent incident occurred at the National Indian Gaming Association (NIGA) Convention in Phoenix, Arizona against our Tribal Treasurer, Christina Danforth. This incident occurred as a violation of her right to express her freedom of speech. That the attack was condoned and encouraged by other Oneida Tribal members makes it a further violation of human rights. The incident brings dishonor to the group of Oneidas who perpetrated this in their attempt to discredit the Treasurer. It was an Oneida tribal member, the wife of one of our Business Committee members, who purposely followed, and verbally and physically, accosted Ms. Danforth in front of a large number of witnesses at the meeting. There is no justification for this uncouth lack of civility. I believe we all would agree that politics can become ugly and out of control. But, whether it is the larger politics of the United States or our local Oneida people at the NIGA Convention in Phoenix, Arizona, it is completely uncalled for.

The historical and traditional heritage of our Oneida culture, specifically, the Great Law of Peace, put an end to the violence and disrespect of one human being to another. The hatchet of violence was buried long ago. The Great Law of Peace is not some mythical fairytale that our children learn in school, but it is the stronghold system of beliefs that our grandparents, our ancestors, were raised under. The Great Law of Peace is not a story for us to dangle in front of the faces of non-Indians on a world stage, so we can brag about our great government. It is meant to give our families, our children, our neighbors, our community a system of respect (a way of daily life) without violence. The Great Law of Peace begins at home. It is to be practiced in our tribal governmental affairs as the guide of proper, civilized behavior. It is the guide that we, as representatives of Oneida, take with us in the national arena of politics. The Great Law of Peace seems to have been forgotten and left behind when our Oneida tribal members attended the NIGA convention two weeks ago. They acted in a very disrespectful manner to one of our public officials. Differences of opinions will always exist in our tribal politics. However, respect should also be included with those differing opinions.

Respectfully,
Catherine Webster

Nation within a Nation

Dear Rep Steineke,
I want to let you know I oppose your bill you are working on to introduce regarding the Oneida Tribe and their liquor license.

As you may not know the Oneida Tribe like every other tribe is a Nation within a Nation and the Oneidas have officially existed here, in the Wisconsin territory, since 1821-2 but were established in 1838; 10 years before the state of WI became a state in 1848.

Based on the article from the Seymour Times Press (dated April 18, 2011) it is in my opinion that you do not recognize the Oneida Nation of WI as a government. The Oneidas of WI entered into a treaty with the United States in 1822 for the area where they reside and call home today. Their (Oneidas) agreements should be made and formed between the State or Federal Government; Thus they should be treated similar to a local government but more as a sovereign nation within a nation. As a sovereign nation / government they have the right to govern and license themselves; they should not be required to obtain such permission and permits from a local government.

Your current action and statements made in the Times Press leads me to believe again that you voted in favor of the WI State Budget Bill that you did not read or debate. Your previous response to me was that you voted for the WI Budget because otherwise it meant layoffs; it is evident there are many other items in the bill PASSED by YOU that will have far greater consequences to all Wisconsinites. In conclusion, as a voter I strongly oppose your action to create this bill against their rights to govern themselves as a Sovereign Nation.

Respectfully,
Chris Cornelius

Oneida hosts U.S. Department of Education

By Travis Cottrell
Kalihwisaks

The U.S. Department of Education held an urban Indian Listening and Learning session with the Native community, tribal leaders, and Native student-serving representatives at the Radisson Hotel and Conference Center on April 26.

The session was intended to provide an opportunity to voice thoughts and engage in dialogue with senior officials from the Department. The session was one of several Listening and Learning sessions held in urban Native communities and is a follow-up to a series of 2010 Tribal leader consultations that were conducted in Anchorage, AK; Santa Clara Pueblo, NM; Shawnee, OK; Pine Ridge, SD; Window Rock, AZ; and Puyallup, WA.

Representatives from a variety of Tribes were in attendance including Oneida, Menominee, Ho-

Chunk, and Potawatomi as well as a handful of Tribes from outside the state of Wisconsin.

During the session representatives had an opportunity to step up to the microphone and voice their concerns, ideas, needs, and opinions in an attempt to improve the state of Native education.

As each representative took their turn on the microphone a few recurring themes began to emerge.

One glaring concern was the need for improved communication between the different education entities. Improved communication would allow not only needs and concerns to be heard in a timely manner, but it would also allow for consistency across the board. Aside from the consistency, areas would also be able to communicate with other areas in order to solve problems they are not used to that other areas may have experience in.

Another dominant concern was the notion that teachers do not have the knowledge of the culture in which they are teaching. Some examples were cited by representatives indicating that students were punished or scolded by teachers simply because the teachers did not know that certain mannerisms or actions are part of the area's culture. The Department did state that there are summer workshops that educate teachers in Native culture, but did acknowledge the fact that this knowledge needs to be learned and used in the classroom.

At the conclusion of the session the Department thanked those who participated for their honest approach and insightful criticism. The Department is committed to moving forward in Native education and anticipates that interactions among Tribal, State, and Local officials, Indian education stakeholders, and the Department will lead to a more effective education policy.

Judge approves USDA, Indian farmers settlement

By Mary Clare Jalonick

Associated Press
WASHINGTON - A federal judge has approved a $680 million settlement between the Agriculture Department and American Indian farmers who say they were denied loans because of discrimination.

The two sides agreed on the deal last year subject to court approval. U.S. District Judge Emmet Sullivan approved the terms Thursday.

Individuals who can prove discrimination could receive up to $250,000 from the government. The agreement also includes $80 million in farm debt forgiveness for the Indian plaintiffs and a series of initiatives to try and alleviate racism against American Indians and other minorities in rural farm loan offices.

The lawsuit, named after George and Marilyn Keepseagle of Fort Yates, N.D., was filed in 1999 and contends Indian farmers and ranchers lost hundreds of millions of dollars over several decades because they were denied USDA loans that instead went to their white neighbors. The government settled a similar lawsuit filed by black farmers more than a decade ago and has offered to settle other suits brought against USDA by Hispanic and women farmers.

President Barack Obama said the settlement was "yet another important step forward in addressing an unfortunate chapter in USDA's civil rights history."

Obama praised the roles played by Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack and Attorney General Eric Holder in reaching the settlement.

"Today's approval of the settlement will help strengthen our nation to nation relationship with Indian Country and reinforce the idea that all citizens have a right to be treated fairly by their government," Obama said.

Due to the terms of the settlement, the American Indian money would not need legislative action to be awarded. Farmers will have until December to file their claims.

"This settlement will help thousands of Native Americans who are still farming and ranching," said Porter Holder of Soper, Okla., a named plaintiff in the suit. "The USDA has some terrific programs, but Native Americans must have equal access to them."

Agriculture Secretary Vilsack said his department is working on improving its civil rights record.

"We are committed to changing the culture that made this settlement necessary, and we believe we are well on the way to doing just that," he said.

Casinos sense opening in online poker indictments

By Oskar Garcia
Associated Press

LAS VEGAS - The indictments that led to three major online poker companies shuttering U.S. operations have provided an opening for American casinos to cash in on an industry worth an untold billions of dollars.

Casinos want to fill the void created by the crackdown to create their own online poker sites should the game become legal in the U.S., giving them tens of thousands of potential consumers who have seen their pastimes and livelihoods eliminated by the prosecutions.

Their argument: Americans are playing poker online despite attempts to stop them, so why not allow legitimate casinos to offer the game? They also argue that governments could clearly use tax revenue from poker games.

The push has gained momentum in the last week after billionaire casino mogul Steve Wynn and his counterpart at Caesars Entertainment Corp. spoke out in favor of clarifying federal laws to explicitly allow Internet poker.

Their advantage - if lawmakers ultimately see things the same way - is that it's unlikely PokerStars, Full Tilt Poker and Absolute Poker will be allowed back into the U.S. market while their executives face allegations of bank fraud, money laundering and running illegal gambling businesses.

Caesars CEO Gary Loveman told The Associated Press after penning an op-ed on the subject this week that the timing is right for casinos to publicly make their push.

"Our industry has to modernize itself in a way that allows its services to be provided electronically and not in these massively expensive brick-and-mortar facilities," Loveman said. "To speak to a younger audience, this is increasingly necessary."

Internet gambling was effectively banned in 2006 by a federal law that prohibited banks and credit card companies from processing payments from gambling companies to individuals. But it didn't clearly state what kind of gambling was illegal, and many believe it left the door open for states and companies to consider the issue.

"The policy up to now, which is no surprise to anybody, has been murky and arcane. Arcane is a good word from the SATs that means mysterious and unfathomable," said Wynn, the chief executive of Wynn Resorts Ltd. Wynn Resorts had a deal in place with PokerStars to partner in offering online poker to Americans if federal laws changed, but nixed the arrangement the same day the indictments were announced.

"Most everything in Washington is mysterious and unfathomable," Wynn told investors last week as his company reported its first-quarter earnings. "We're trying to figure out what the hell the public policy is and then we can have a corporate policy."

The Department of Justice has yet to pursue legal actions against anyone for playing poker based on the 2006 law. The recent charges dealt with allegations that the poker sites were creating third-party operations that tricked banks into thinking gambling transactions were legitimate.

"The word 'indictment' is not one that you take lightly. However, what they're indicting was the illegal activity of foreign operators in the United States," said Loveman. "The solution to that problem is not simply to send our law enforcement people out chasing foreign operators. The solution is to take a very simple pastime that's been around this country for hundreds of years, and allow licensed, regulated providers to provide it."

Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid, a former Nevada state gambling regulator who supported the 2006 law, shares that sentiment. Reid attempted to push a bill to legalize online poker at the end of last year, but it fell short. He said it's important that online poker is legalized in the next couple years.

"I hope we can get something done," Reid told the AP. "It's something that has to be regulated. The commodity is cash and we have to be very, very careful that we do it the right way when it deals with interstate commerce."

Players have heard that before, and while many have followed legislative developments, others didn't care as long as they could access the gambling sites.

John Pappas, executive director of the Poker Players Alliance, said the indictments served as a wakeup call.

SEOTS Volunteers Impact Community

By Mark W. Powless

If you are looking for expressions of Oneida's core values in the community, you need look no further than the volunteers of Southeastern Oneida Tribal Services. The individuals that assist SEOTS to provide programs and services display ka'nikuhliyo (the openness of the good spirit and mind) regularly for their community. Listed below are just a few of the individuals who donate their time and talents to making a positive difference in the Oneida community.

Susan Brandstetter: Susan helped design and create the newest expression of Oneida culture at SEOTS. The Circle of Life wall at SEOTS is a visual display that pays tribute to the ceremonies of Oneida culture. It offers images and descriptions that seek to educate the community about these integral events.

Mark R. Powless: For several years Mark has taught the Oneida language classes at SEOTS, while incorporating his own style of humor. Recently, participation in the classes has been amazing. The class is looking forward to doing a welcoming address, in the language, at the upcoming Oneida Community and Culture in Southeastern Wisconsin event being held at Greene Hall on the UWM campus on Saturday, May 21.

Phyllis Popovich: On a weekly basis Phyllis assists with set-up and clean-up for the Tuesday

Elder activities. She is typically the first one in and the last one to leave and is very committed to the group she spends her Tuesday afternoons with. The Elder activities serve approximately 20 people and offer educational and/or fun events such as bingo, exercise, cultural education and more. In addition, a lunch time meal is available.

Richard Jones: SEOTS is regularly in need of drivers and Dick is always available to help. On occasion we have had to call Dick at the last minute and he has been more than happy to assist. SEOTS provides transportation to Oneida for appointments, casino gaming, cultural events, GTC meetings, and more.

Jim Kelly: Jim is a professional photographer who offers his services, free of charge, for many SEOTS activities. He has also assisted for many activities such as elder activities, craft classes, and driving. Jim is always willing to help in any way that he can. His comfortable demeanor brings a relaxing energy to the events he attends.

These are just a few of the people that commit themselves to helping the Oneida community. Without our volunteers, SEOTS would not be able to have the impact on our community that we do. By opening their good spirits and minds to their friends and neighbors, they truly help to build a stronger and happier Oneida Nation!

Oneida artist finds success in new medium

By Travis Cottrell

Kalihwisaks
Watercolor painter Dawn Dark Mountain has been creating works of art for some time. But recently her original designs have crossed over to Pendleton blankets, opening doors that will lift her work to new heights.

Dark Mountain has been working in watercolor and printmaking for 22 years, drawing inspiration from Iroquois stories, designs and culture. But having her art applied to Pendleton blankets was something she had not envisioned. Dark Mountain recalls, "As a watercolor painter I do not normally design blankets. My first experience working with blankets was with the Oneida tribal blanket in 2006."

Dark Mountain entered a watercolor sketch into the 2006 competition intended to create an official Pendleton blanket specifically for the Oneida Nation, Pendleton Woolen Mills then produced the design. This experience is what introduced her to blanket design.

Submitted photos

Left: Dawn Dark Mountain works on a watercolor painting. Right: Dark Mountain's "Sky Woman" design that has been worked into a blanket for Pendleton's regular line of blankets.

Recently the Pendleton Company contacted Dark Mountain expressing interest in using an image from Dark Mountain to create a blanket for their regular line. "Robert Christnacht, the Division Manager of "Home at Pendleton Woolen Mills" contacted me. He told me that after working with me on the custom design for Oneida, they had wanted to create a design for their regular line using one of my images," says Dark Mountain.

"This recent blanket, "Sky Woman" was created entirely based on my painting of the same name. They created several color designs using the image. After consulting with me, we chose a design and they sent me a prototype. After comparing it to the original image, I suggested a few changes that had to do with how the image was translated into a blanket design." The Sky Woman blanket can be viewed and purchased on the Pendleton website.

As for the future Dark Mountain will continue to create work and exhibit at art shows, fairs and Native art shows, markets and festivals.

The possibility to continue to create blanket designs remains open. "They (Pendleton) have expressed an interest in doing additional designs. I imagine that it would depend on how well the "Sky Woman" muchacho (baby) blanket sells. I understand that the first run, which came out in March, has sold out. The next run will be available soon."

NWTC Art Gallery features 'Contemporary Portraiture'

Green Bay - Albert Einstein, Marilyn Monroe, and Mother Teresa are just a few of the famous faces depicted in the Northeast Wisconsin Technical College Art Gallery's latest exhibit. "Contemporary Portraiture" by Green Bay artist Sherri Baierl is on view now through Monday, May 30.

To create the 17-piece collection, Baierl used acrylic, mixed media or digital graphics. Bearing titles such as "Honor," "Sincerity," and "Grace," the portraits are all based on words connoting values, according to Baierl.

"What am I learning from my art? That people want something true," Baierl said. "They are drawn in and captivated by people who share things that unveil that truth. No matter your background, point of view or anything else, if you respect one another enough to hear/see/experience those true things, then you will be changed."

Also part of Baierl's exhibit is a series of religious drawings, "The 14 Stations of the Cross."

Located in the Library on the second floor of the Student Center on the Green Bay campus, the gallery is open to the public during regular Library hours: Monday through Thursday, 7:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.; Friday, 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; and Saturday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. For summer hours, go to www.nwtc.edu/library. Admission is free.

About the artist: Sherri Baierl is a certified art teacher, an adjunct instructor for NWTC, and a freelance graphics designer. Baierl often works with mixed media and collage with embedded graphics. She is also well-versed in working with multiple media, such as ceramics, print-making, drawing, painting, textiles, collage, photography, and graphics. Baierl enjoys the aspect of storytelling that can come from artwork or the discussion that it can prompt. For more information, visit the artist's web site at www.sherribaierl.com.

Thornberry Creek is a Class I Trout Stream and tributary to Lancaster Brook.

By Jim Snitgen

The Oneida Environmental Health & Safety Division's (EH&SD) water resources program is active in monitoring and restoring the surface waters of the Oneida Reservation. Restoration projects and water quality monitoring go hand-in-hand as projects to restore the aquatic health of streams should gradually show results in the data collected during monitoring. The first stream restoration project was initiated in 2003 on a headwater tributary to Trout Creek. Since then, several projects have been successfully implemented in the Trout Creek and Silver Creek watersheds. Partnerships with other agencies are critical for implementing stream restoration projects. These include cooperative relationships with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Natural Resource Conservation Service, the BIA, and the Fox River NRDA Trustee Council.

Oneida is currently taking advantage of stimulus funding for water quality programs, applying successfully for external grant funding through the BIA from the Great Lakes Restoration Initiative. One project will be Trout Creek stream channel restoration, which will enhance in-stream habitat by meandering the stream, planting a wooded corridor, grassed waterways, and using best management land-use practices to promote cool ground-water recharge. This and other efforts in the Trout Creek system will have major impacts on reestablishing fish passage and improving habitat.

Another project on Lancaster Brook will restore fish passage by removing and replacing failing culverts with bottomless arched box culverts. This initiative builds on previous habitat work and will allow trout to move up and downstream for better breeding and winter habitat. Lancaster Brook is classified as a Class II Trout Stream and has a Class I Trout Stream as a tributary (Thornberry Creek). Other projects in the planning and implementation stages include improvements to the South Branch of the Suamico River system and work in the Duck Creek watershed to improve northern pike habitat and water quality monitoring.

The EH&SD staff will continue the work of identifying funding sources for projects and coordinating with external agencies. Restoring Oneida's natural landscape and providing enhanced opportunities for tribal members to enjoy natural resources are our main goals. The EH&SD will continue cooperative, best management practices to improve the water quality essential to a beneficial quality of life on the Oneida Nation Reservation.

Keshena, WI – During commencement ceremonies on Saturday, June 4, the College of Menominee Nation will introduce its newest group of alumni and observe a number of "firsts."

Approximately 140 individuals are candidates for graduation this year, making this the largest class in CMN history and bringing the number of CMN alumni to 700. to a new site. Six students will be receiving CMN Bachelor of Science degrees in the Early Childhood/Elementary Education. Location is another first. In a departure from previous years when ceremonies were held on CMN's main campus, this year's program will be in the Five Clans Ballroom in the new Menominee Casino Resort conference center in Keshena. Ceremonies begin at 10 A.M.

Guest speaker for the 2011 graduation is Richard B. "Rick" Williams. He serves as President and Chief Executive Officer of the American Indian College Fund, a national nonprofit organization based in Denver, Colorado, that Master of Arts in Education from the University of Wyoming. He has been recognized by the University of Nebraska as an outstanding alumnus and presented with the honorary Doctor of Humane Letters by Roger Williams University.

This year's graduating class members represent a number of American Indian tribes and come from 28 Wisconsin communities: Antigo, Appleton, Birnamwood, Bowler, Cecil, Clintonville, De Pere, Forestville, Green Bay, Gresham, Hobart, Kaukauna, Keshena, Lac du Flambeau, Marion, Menasha, Neopit, New London, Oconto Falls, Oneida, Oshkosh, Scandinavia, Seymour, Shawano, Sturgeon Bay, Suamico, Suring and Wittenberg.

World War II Re-enactment and U.S.O. Swing Dance July 9 & 10

National Railroad Museum's annual summer event offers education for the entire family, and more this year

Green Bay, WI – Step back in time at the National Railroad Museum's fourth annual World War II Reenactment on July 9 – 10, 2011. Visitors will have the opportunity to explore WWII history through battles, encampments, lectures and other engaging events throughout the weekend. A special U.S.O.-style swing dance will cap the evening of Saturday, July 9, 2011 from 7:00 p.m. - 11:00 p.m. inside the Lenfestey Center on Museum grounds.

The daytime reenactment will feature German and American encampments and two daily battles that are only accessible by the Museum's train. Patrons are encouraged to interact with the reenactors as they recreate scenarios from history throughout each day. Special appearances by Eleanor Roosevelt (played by Jessica Michna) will be held on Saturday and Sunday; WIXX's John Maino will speak about his newest book "The European Campaign" on Saturday, July 9th at 2:00 p.m. The Museum's educator, Bob Lettenberger, will speak about the use of trains in American wars on Sunday, July 10th. The Gen. Eisenhower command coaches will be open for guided tours throughout the weekend.

In 1941 the United Service Organization (U.S.O.) was established to meet the request of Franklin D. Roosevelt for private organizations to provide for the needs of on-leave U.S. armed forces on American soil and abroad. Six organizations met the President's call, forming the U.S.O. with other organizations, such as the Red Cross, providing a similar function as well. Over 3,000 U.S.O. clubs were in existence in 1944, often run by volunteers in small towns. Saturday, July 9th's U.S.O.-style Dance will highlight live music from Bay Area Big Band. Come and enjoy what a WWII soldier might have experienced - hometown food, dancing, a cash bar and U.S.O. girls and reenactors in WWII-era uniform. Funds from the special dance tickets will help fund the Museum's Children's Discovery Depot.

"World War II was a significant period in American history," stated Jacqueline Frank, museum executive director. "As more veterans are passing, it is important to keep alive their memory, and how this event influenced American life and culture then - as well as today. This event will allow patrons to immerse themselves in history and learn about the event in a really fun, meaningful way."

The Museum grounds will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. both reenactment days. Reenactment activities will take place throughout both days. A Crowning Achievement

By Denis Gullickson
Thunderhawk Times

Ululani Nunies was crowned Queen at the 2011 ONHS Prom on April 16, but, really, it was another in a long line of achievements that have distinguished her senior year and—in fact—all of her years as a student at ONHS.

In the process, Ulu has earned lots of fans, including many of her instructors and other staff members at the high school.

Here are just a few of the things ONHS staff members have to say about Ulu:

“Ululani is a pleasant young woman and an awesome student. She values her education and is respectful to her peers and staff. She also possesses leadership skills like no other student I have seen. She has been an asset to Oneida Nation High School and I know that she will have a successful life.”—Social Studies Teacher Carol Johnson.

“Ulu represents the 110% student here at ONHS. She is culturally-active, academically sound, and represents herself, her family, and her community with class. It has been my pleasure to have her as a member of the T-Hawk Science Research team.”—Science Teacher Becky Nutt.

“Ulu showed great leadership on the basketball court. I was very impressed how she led by example, hard work, being vocal to encourage her teammates, and being dedicated to the team doing well. I see similar strengths in the classroom. She has set the achievement bar in trigonometry class high to the benefit of the entire class.”—Math Teacher Mike Hanke.

“Ulu is one of our students that is most respectful to the staff, usually has a smile or a friendly comment to address you with. She has concerns about the students in our school and their behaviors. Ulu is a role model to the students also. I heard her tell some younger students when they were looking at the GPA list hanging, that she should have worked a lot harder in 9th and 10th grades so her GPA would be a lot higher now as a Senior. She is a great athlete and is in many sports. Ulu has been involved with the BIG APPLE and did an excellent job in her role. What I can also say Ululani is a great asset to our school and we are happy she is here.”—High School Office Manager Carol Martin.

“Ulu has been a positive influence in our school since she transferred [here from Seymour High School]. She is well grounded, has a good sense of direction in her life, and sets a good example for others to follow.”—Principal Bob Ganka.

Ulu is president of the ONHS student council. She is also an active member of the ONHS sports teams, including this year’s very successful girl’s basketball team. Her 2011 Science Fair project earned her national recognition. She is consistently on the ONHS Honor Roll.

Ulu is the daughter of Sterling and Monica Nunies and the granddaughter of the late Purcell and Angeline Powless.

Her future plans include attending college to major in Native American studies and becoming a teacher of Native American history.

She has participated in the Unity group and in the National Unity Conferences in Reno and San Diego among many other extra-curricular activities.

Being crowned Queen was a pretty special recognition for a pretty special young lady.

My Scoop

Biodiesel Project is Moving Along

By Jason Skenadore
Thunderhawk Times

This last week was a big one for our biodiesel project. On Wednesday, we ran the biodiesel we made though a generator and it worked. We even used our own biodiesel to make more biodiesel!

We’d like to try it in other diesel equipment in the near future. We are hoping to go far with this.

The workers are all from ONHS. Students and staff are working hard so they can make it to Washington, D.C. as winners of this national competition.

We are still taking samples of the biodiesel to make sure that it’s good. We will have our samples analyzed at NWTC and Argonne National Labs in Illinois.

Some people that are supporting us came to see the biodiesel project in action.

This is a big thing for Becky Nutt, our science teacher, because we have been working on this for awhile and Becky has been working very hard herself. Her husband, Kirk, has also been helping a lot.

Becky said, “We’d like to thank Greg Matson from housing for his support, as well. We also need to thank Seven Generations Corp for the use of the Tower Foods building as a work space.”

ONHS Track Team Running For It

By Thunderhawk Times staff

With two runners—Junior Anthony Cornelius and Freshman Denver Dean—the ONHS track team is small in numbers, but big in heart.

The two left the school for their first meet in Lena on Monday, May 2.

Denver was set to run in the 100 meters and Anthony in the 400 meters, high and low hurdles, and other events.

At the Lena meet, Denver took third in his event. Anthony said he “didn’t want to talk about it.” Knowing Anthony, that means that he intends to work hard at improving for the next meet.

Seed Ceremony begins

By Rachel Ninham
Thunderhawk Times

The way the Seed Ceremony starts is the people gather in the Longhouse.

The Kanehelatuksla (The Thanksgiving Address) words will be said, and instructions on how to play the Kayátowaná (Peach Stone Game).

One man will be selected to collect seeds from the women. And one man will be selected to collect seeds from a man. One woman is selected to hold the beans. The same thing is done for the men. Seeds are matched up.

After the game of Kayátowaná is won (men to women), the speaker will announce the winner and give the introduction for Ohstowa?ko (the Great Feather Dance). Once the Ohstowa?ko is over and done with, the story of the Three Sisters is told. The Old Women’s songs are next. And then is followed with The Bean Dance.

The final thing that is done is the closing and is followed with a feast.

US Supreme Court won't hear Wis. judge's case

By Dinesh Ramde

Associated Press

MILWAUKEE (AP) ~ The U.S. Supreme Court has declined to hear the case of a Wisconsin judge who wants judicial candidates to be allowed to raise money on their own behalf.

The Monday decision keeps in place a lower court's ruling that forces candidates to raise money through committees to prevent conflicts of interest, real or perceived.

The Wisconsin Code of Judicial Conduct previously prevented Wisconsin judges from joining political parties, endorsing partisan candidates or soliciting campaign donations, either for themselves or for candidates for other offices.

Milwaukee County Circuit Court Judge John Siefert filed a lawsuit challenging those three rules on free-speech grounds. The 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago ruled in his favor last year on letting judges join political parties but ruled against him on the other two issues.

The nation's high court said Monday it wouldn't hear arguments on those two issues.

Siefert said Tuesday that he wasn't entirely disappointed because he won on the issue he considers the most important.

"The key political right is the right to be part of a political party," he told The Associated Press. "I realize the other two issues were more minor. I can understand why a busy Supreme Court would decide not to take them up."

The lower court ruled that judges couldn't solicit money on their own because doing so carries "a greater potential for a quid pro quo and a greater appearance of a quid pro quo than a contribution given to the judge's campaign committee."

It also said the state had an obligation to regulate the behavior of judges who were speaking out in their professional capacities as a means to advance a political end.

Siefert's lawsuit named as a defendant James Alexander, the executive director of the Wisconsin Judicial Commission, which enforces the state's code of conduct. Alexander said he was pleased with the decision and glad the case was over.

"If at any time in history the need for impartiality and integrity has been evident in the state of Wisconsin it should be now," he said.

Judicial politics in Wisconsin have been on clear display in recent weeks. State Supreme Court Justice David Prosser survived a bitter challenge last month from assistant Attorney General JoAnne Kloppenburg. Prosser won by a margin of roughly 0.5 percent and Kloppenburg requested a recount, which is ongoing.

A government watchdog group said outside groups combined to spend $4.5 million in the two months leading up to their spring election.

Siefert said the figure showed how important it was for candidates to raise and spend their own money rather than let third parties hijack the races with high spending.

"If candidates are allowed to ask for campaign contributions directly, they'll have more control over their own message," he said.

Mike McCabe, of the Wisconsin Democracy Campaign, disagreed. He said the public is better served when judges are independent of political influences.

McCabe, whose group pushes for campaign-finance reform, said Siefert had correctly identified a significant problem but was suggesting the wrong way to solve it.

"I think ultimately the solution is to give candidates public financing so they don't have to engage in private fundraising to remain relevant," he said. "Otherwise they undermine their own impartiality and subject themselves to claims of conflict of interest every time a major donor appears in their courtroom."

Help feed the hungry

Postal Employees Help Stamp Out Hunger

ONEIDA, WI — Every second Saturday in May letter carriers in more than 10,000 cities and towns across America deliver much more than mail when they walk and drive along their postal routes. They also collect the goodness and compassion of their postal customers who participate in the NALC Stamp Out Hunger National Food Drive — the largest one-day food drive in the nation and probably the world. Oneida carriers will be participating in this event.

Led by letter carriers represented by the National Association of Letter Carriers (AFL-CIO), with the help of rural letter carriers, other postal employees and numerous other volunteers, the drive has resulted in delivery of more than one billion pounds of donations to community food banks and pantries over the past 18 years.

On Saturday, May 14, carriers will collect non-perishable food donations left by mailboxes and in post offices and deliver them to local community food banks, pantries and shelters.

The U.S. Postal Service and Campbell

Soup Company are major supporters of the drive. Campbell Soup also earmarked an additional 1 million pound canned food donation to the drive. Other supporters are Cox Target Media and its Valpak Direct Marketing Systems, the nationwide direct mail marketing firm, which promotes the drive on 40 million packets delivered to postal customers.

The drive also relies on the backing of the National Rural Letter Carriers Association, the Feeding America food bank network; the United Way of America and its local United Ways, the AFL-CIO Community Services network, and countless local sponsors.

All citizens need do is to place the food next to their mailbox before their letter carrier delivers mail on Saturday, May 14. The carrier will do all the rest. The food is taken back to a postal station, sorted, and then delivered to various Brown County pantries. There it is available for needy families. Oneida Postmaster said, "With many men, women and children living at risk of hunger, please join me and many other residents of the Oneida Area by placing a non-perishable food donation next to your mailbox to help Stamp Out Hunger."

Some 35.5 million people face hunger every day in America, including 13 million children. This drive is one way people can help those right in their own city or town who need help.

The NALC food drive has received a number of accolades over the years, including two Presidential Certificates of Achievement.

Help the U.S. Postal Service Stamp Out Hunger!

A self-supporting government enterprise, the U.S. Postal Service is the only delivery service that reaches every address in the nation, 150 million residences, businesses and Post Office Boxes. The Postal Service receives no tax dollars. With 36,000 retail locations and the most frequently visited website in the federal government, the Postal Service relies on the sale of postage, products and services to pay for operating expenses. Named the Most Trusted Government Agency five consecutive years and the sixth Most Trusted Business in the nation by the Ponemon Institute, the Postal Service has an annual revenue of more than $68 billion and delivers nearly half the world's mail.

Skenandore Awarded Environmental Honor

Ted Skenandore holds the 2011 Environmental Hero Award, which he received because of his efforts as Tsyunhehkwá Agricultural Supervisor.

By Travis Cottrell
Kalihwisaks

On Saturday, April 30th the Helfenstein Soup Council presented Ted Skenandore, Tsyunhehkwá Agricultural Supervisor, with the 2011 Environmental Hero Award.

Skenandore was given the award for the work that he does to preserve Oneida culture by helping to provide a sustainable food system for his people and also for his talents and skills as an artist, musician, and storyteller. He and the team of people that work at Tsyunhehkwá farm are growing healthy food while teaching and preserving culture, their seeds, and their heritage for future generations of their community.

Although Skenandore is thrilled and honored that his efforts were recognized and appreciated he reiterates that the work that has been is only possible because of a team effort. "This isn't really about me because it takes teamwork to make all of this happen. Whether it's the agricultural area here at Tsyunhehkwá or with my bands. It all takes a team of people to do," says Skenandore.

The Helfenstein Soup Council is a local non-profit organization committed to promoting sustainable living. They have been recognizing local community members for their work in educating people and living their lives in manner that preserves the Earth for future generations. Skenandore is the 18th individual that has been recognized in this manner.

Mailbox Vandalism isn't a joke

Help protect your neighborhood from this crime

ONEIDA, WI — Taking a bat to a mailbox, hitting it with a brick, or setting off a firecracker or pipe bomb inside may seem like fun to some rambunctious teens. However, it's not a rite of passage - it's a criminal act that hurts our neighbors and our community.

"Mailbox vandalism increases during the summer months, and we need to encourage everyone to be aware of any misconduct that may occur in their neighborhoods", said Oneida Postmaster Cheryl Koenig. Mailboxes are protected by federal law, and crimes against them and the mail they contain are considered a federal offense. Violators can be fined up to $250,000 or imprisoned for up to three years for each act of vandalism.

Damaged mailboxes have to be replaced, costing the owner time, money and inconvenience. Meanwhile, the mail cannot be delivered. Many people depend on receiving monthly checks and other financial support through the mail, so doing without their mail negatively affects their lives. And some damaged mail cannot be replaced - family photos, letters from sons and daughters serving in the military overseas, and other priceless keepsakes that mean so much to the recipient.

Mailbox vandalism affects all of us. We don't feel as secure in our neighborhoods and communities. Property values can drop as a result of vandalism and other crimes. And prospective new residents may think twice about moving here knowing that our young people have such callous disregard for the property of others.

"If you have teenagers at home, talk with them about the downside of damaging mailboxes, and vandalism in general," added Koenig. "Remind them of the penalties, the impact on the victims, and that they can get hurt or killed in the process. The Postal Service doesn't take these crimes lightly because of the severity of the potential consequences."

If you discover someone tampering with your or your neighbor's mailbox, get a description of the person(s), a description and license plate number of any vehicle, then immediately report this information to the police.

SD school ends contracts with all employees

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) ~ All employees at the Crazy Horse School in Wanblee have been notified they will be out of a job at the end of the school year.

The school board recently decided not to renew contracts with the more than 90 employees, from the superintendent to bus drivers. The entire staff will have to re-apply for their jobs on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in South Dakota.

School board chairman John Haas tells the Rapid City Journal that the school board's decision does not target any person or group. He says the board is trying to create a school that meets students' needs by teaching reading, writing and math. The school has struggled for years to meet the requirements of the federal school improvement law known as No Child Left Behind.

Arizona court rules for tribe on annexation issue

PHOENIX (AP) ~ A state appeals court has overturned the city of Glendale's annexation of land that includes part of the site of a casino resort planned in the Phoenix area by a southern Arizona Indian tribe, the Tohono O'odham Nation.

A trial judge had ruled in favor of Glendale, upholding the city's position that the annexation of the property in 2001 automatically took effect 30 days after it was approved.

But a Court of Appeals panel ruled that the annexation never became official because a challenge was filed against it and then the city itself repealed the annexation before the case went to court.

The annexation question matters because tribal casinos are now allowed inside incorporated municipalities.

Native Hawaiian self-government bill passed

HONOLULU (AP) ~ Legislation that starts the process for Native Hawaiians to form their own government is heading to Gov. Neil Abercrombie for his approval.

The Hawaii House and Senate voted Tuesday to approve the bill, which recognizes Native Hawaiians as the indigenous people of the state.

The measure is meant to support a related proposal pending in Congress that would protect Native Hawaiian programs and allow them to create a self-governing entity.

Native Hawaiians are the last remaining indigenous group in the United States who haven't been allowed to establish their own government, a right already extended to many Alaska Natives and Native American tribes.

The bill calls for a five-member commission responsible for creating a roll of qualified Native Hawaiians interested in participating in their government.

Committee sends voter ID bill to Wis. Assembly

MADISON, Wis. (AP) ~ Voters will be required to show a photo ID at the polls under a bill approved by an Assembly committee Tuesday despite concerns from Democrats and the nonpartisan board that monitors Wisconsin elections that the measure was moving too quickly.

The proposal, which has the backing of Gov. Scott Walker, is on course to pass the full Legislature next week.

Democrats had successfully blocked the photo ID requirement for years, arguing that it would disenfranchise voters, especially the elderly, poor and students. But it got new life this year with Republicans in control of the Legislature. They say the photo requirement and other changes are reasonable ways to improve voter confidence and reduce the risk of fraud.

"What we're trying to do is make the system better," said Rep. Gary Tauchen, R-Bondue, chairman of the Assembly's committee on election and campaign reform.

The head of the nonpartisan Government Accountability Board, which oversees Wisconsin elections, sent the committee members a letter urging them to make a number of changes and complaining that there had not been enough time to carefully evaluate the latest version, which was just made public late Friday.

GAB head Kevin Kennedy urged the committee to seek additional input from the public and local election officials before moving ahead.

While Republicans on the committee, including bill sponsor Rep. Jeff Stone, R-Greendale, said they were open to changes, the bill remained on course to be voted on in a week. It passed Tuesday on a partisan 5-3 vote.

GOP proposal would cap interest on payday loans

MADISON, Wis. (AP) ~ Interest rates on payday loans would be capped at 36 percent under a proposal Republicans are circulating in the Wisconsin Legislature.

New regulations on the payday lending industry took effect in December, but the previous Legislature controlled by Democrats rejected a cap on interest. Consumer advocates who supported tighter regulations on the industry had pushed for the interest rate cap, saying it was needed to prevent borrowers from getting socked with interest as high as 500 percent or more.

The new law limits the size of the loans and bars auto title loans.

Rep. Evan Wynn of Whitewater and Sen. Glenn Grothman of West Bend are proposing the interest rate cap. They are seeking co-sponsors of the proposal until May 12.

Senate official objects to bin Laden-Geronimo link

By Matthew Daly

Associated Press
WASHINGTON (AP) ~ The staff director for the Senate Indian Affairs Committee is objecting to the U.S. military's use of the code name "Geronimo" for Osama Bin Laden during the raid that killed the al-Qaida leader.

Geronimo was an Apache Indian leader in the 19th century who spent many years fighting the Mexican and U.S. armies until his capture in 1886.

The staff director and chief counsel for the Senate Indian Affairs Committee, Loretta Tuell, says it is inappropriate to link whom she calls "one of the greatest Native American heroes" with one of the most hated enemies of the United States.

Tuell is a member of the Nez Perce tribe and grew on the tribe's reservation in Idaho. The Indian Affairs panel has scheduled a hearing Thursday on racial stereotypes of native people.
