OBC takes steps to reorganize tribal structure

By Nate Wisneski

Kalihiwaks

During the September 28 Oneida Business Committee (OBC) meeting the committee took action that will create a major re-organization of the tribe's structure.

In 2000 the General Tribal Council approved re-organization of the tribe under a proposal called Plan B.

The then sitting OBC viewed the GTC action as out of order and rejected Plan B.

During the meeting, the current OBC rescinded resolution BC-8-2-00-B which ruled the GTC action in 2000 was out of order. By rescinding the resolution Plan B was put in place.

"General Tribal Council action takes president over OBC action therefore we felt that it was necessary to follow that directive to make this action a reversion," said Treasurer Tina Danforth during the meeting.

As part of the implementation of Plan B the General Manager position was interimly removed and the Assistant General Manager position was permanently removed.

The Chief of Staff position was given a 30 day contract.

According to Chairman Ed Delgado, the GTC will be updated and the plan will be presented for approval hopefully in November.

Though the final plan has not been finalized it appears departments will report directly to members of the OBC.

For more information regarding the changes see the Chairman's Corner on page 6A.

Driving south on Freedom Road past the Holy Apostles Episcopal Church, just before reaching the Oneida Police Department, the church's cemetery transitions into a steep hill. Covering the peak of this slope, barely visible from the road, sits a number of weathered headstones covered in moss with the names barely visible. As it turns out these are actually headstones of Civil War Veterans.

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has provided replacement headstones for those veterans whose stones are damaged or weathered beyond repair.

Director of Veteran's Affairs Kerry Metoxen stated, "We actually started out with six (headstones) and they're not the exact same because some are eroded and real skinny now. But there are a few they said are still good. They just can't be bleached, but cleaned to the inside because the growth on them is so old it's actually in the stone."

The process begins with identifying headstones that are in the greatest need of repairs, pictures are then taken of those gravestones. Those pictures are then sent in to a stone company to be replicated on a new stone. The final product takes about four months to complete and weighs around 170 pounds.

Oneida Business Committee meeting wrap: September 28, 2011

By Nate Wisneski

Kalihwiaks

The September 28 Oneida Business Committee (OBC) meeting featured the committee rescinding a prior OBC directive that puts a tribal re-organization plan in motion. For more, see page 1A.

Present: Ed Delgado – Chairman, Greg Matson – Vice-Chairman, Patty Hoeft – Secretary, Tina Danforth – Treasurer, David Jordan – Councilmember, Vince DelaRosa – Councilmember, Brandon Stevens – Councilmember, Paul Ninham – Councilmember

Meeting Minutes

Meeting minutes from the September 14 OBC meeting were approved.

Finance Committee meeting minutes were approved from August 12 and September 23.

Resolutions

The OBC approved a resolution naming Councilman Paul Ninham the representative to the Natural Resource Damage Assessment Trustee. Ninham was also appointed as the tribe's delegate to the Tribal Clean Energy Resource Center Tribal Advisory Committee.

A resolution seeking the establishment of a Community and Employee Wellness Team was deferred back to the requestor until the October 12 meeting for more clarification.

A resolution was approved that designates the Oneida Social Services Child Care for Self-Sufficiency Program as the lead agency for the US Department Health and Human Services Administration for Children and Families, Child Care and Development Fund.

Boards, Committees, and Commissions

Reports from Bay Bank, Oneida Tribal Integrated Enterprise, Oneida Airport Hotel Corporation, Oneida Nation Commission on Aging and Oneida Golf Enterprise were accepted. The Library Board report was deferred to the October 12 meeting.

Legislative Operating Committee

LOC meeting minutes were approved from July 11 and August 12.

The committee approved November 10 as a public hearing date for per capita law amendments and hunting, fishing, and trapping law amendments.

The committee approved a motion that directs the law office to review Oneida Appeals Commission cases and notify the LOC when decisions impact tribal legislation.

Travel Reports

Melinda Danforth, Region 5 Tribal Operations Committee meeting, August 2 -3, Red Lake, MN. The report was approved.

Brandon Stevens, National Indian Gaming Association sub-committee meeting, August 22, Prior Lake, MN. The travel report was approved.

Ed Delgado, David Jordan, Patty Hoeft, Obama Victory Fund 2012 Tribal Leaders meeting, August 31 – September 2, Washington D.C. The travel report was approved.

Ed Delgado, HHS Tribal Consultation meeting, September 14 - 15, Washington D.C. The travel report was approved.

Ed Delgado, Land Consolidation Working meeting, September 19 - 21, Hinckley, MN. The travel report was approved.

Travel Requests

Kristine Hill, Melissa Skenandore, Micah Nickey, 2011 Rehabilitation Services Administration/Consortium of Administrators for Native American Rehabilitation Annual Training, October 23 – 25, Orlando, FL. The request was approved.

Brandon Stevens, National Board of Regents at Haskell Indian Nations University fall meeting, October 4 – 7, Lawrence, KS. The travel request was approved.

Vince DelaRosa, SEOTS Listening Session, September 21 - 22, Milwaukee, WI. Retro-approval was granted.

Follow Up/OBC Directives

A motion passed allowing employees to trade back their vacation and/or personal hours on a quarterly basis with the understanding that the employee cannot trade back more than 80 hours in one year. A motion was passed that also allows employees to exchange banked hours for Oneida retail gift cards.

The committee approved Ground Lessor's Estoppel Certificates, Consent and Agreements for Oak Ridge Plaza East with limited waiver of sovereign immunity. These properties are home to Wal-Mart and Festival Foods.

New Business

The committee requested a meeting within two weeks to discuss the potential of utilizing trust land instead of fee land for new tribal home construction. The group identified taxes and fees from outside communities on fee land as a growing problem for the tribe.

Approval was granted to an amendment to the Brown County recycling agreement. The amendment establishes eligibility for future recycling grants.

The OBC approved blanket travel for OBC members within their liaison duties. They will still be required to submit travel reports.

An increase of five percent annually over the next three years for Oneida Child Care services was approved. The initial request was asking for a 10 percent increase yearly.

The yearly attorney contract between William Cornelius and the Oneida Gaming Commission was approved.

A motion to approve the Cornerstone Patriot Fund LP limited waiver of sovereign immunity was approved.

The OBC approved the new Oneida Head Start Director. Compliance issues require the OBC approve Joan Christnot as the new director.

Approval was granted naming Carol Elm, Carol

Silva, and Dorothy Skenandore to the Anna John Nursing Home Board.

Executive Session

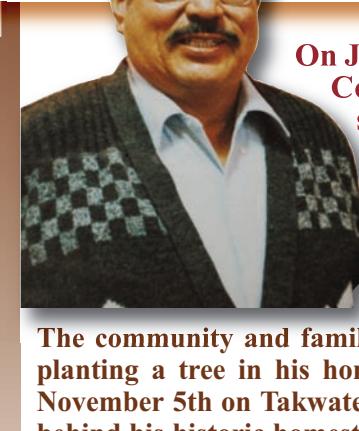

The New York land claims settlement update was accepted. The Gaming General Manager's report was approved. It addressed the gaming expansion proposal, and the closure of the County Road E and County Road EE gaming site.

Purcell Powless Remembrance Day

Saturday • November 5, 2011

On January 26, 2011, the Oneida Business Committee adopted a proclamation setting November 5th as

Purcell Powless Remembrance Day

The community and family and friends of Purcell Powless will be planting a tree in his honor and memory on Saturday morning, November 5th on Takwatekhka Road. This is located immediately behind his historic homestead.

Purcell Powless retained the original allotment of his grandfather, John D. Powless and the land remains in the Powless family today. Purcell applied to have his land placed in trust and it was his wish to have his land preserved for ever for the use of his descendants and never to be sold. He is one of only a few Oneida who had the foresight to preserve his homeland in this manner.

Purcell led the Oneida Nation as Chairman for 23 years, he is the longest serving chairman in our history. Under his leadership the Oneida Nation experienced the highest level of prosperity and success ever in our history. Purcell always gave credit to being surrounded by successful professional forward thinkers and doers.

Please join us as we celebrate the life and achievements of Purcell Powless

Passing On...Summers, Rudolph (Rudy)
May 6, 1931 – September 22, 2011

Rudolph (Rudy) Summers, 79 of Appleton passed away on Thursday September 22, 2011. He was born May 6, 1931 in Green Bay. Rudy had lived and worked in California for the last 43 years. He had married the former Marge Paeth.

He is survived by his sisters; Joyce Summers, Merle Moes, Barbara (Clinton Haynie) Smith, his stepdaughter Helen Door as well as numerous nieces and nephews and cousins.

Powless, Ronald M.
March 17, 1931 – September 9, 2011

Ronald M. Powless passed away Friday, September 9th in Marietta, GA while en route to his winter home in Ft. Myers, FL. He lived a full and interesting life.

He was born on March 17th, 1931 in Milwaukee, WI, the son of Merville and Jessie Powless. Ron is survived by his beloved wife of 55 years, Shirley (nee Jodar) Powless of Green Lake, WI and Ft. Myers, FL, his son, John Powless, wife Barbara, grandchildren Deandra, Trevor and Jarod of Madison, WI, his daughter, Jane Wagner and husband Alan of Rockford, IL, his sisters, Ramona Carlson of Oconomowoc, WI and Donna Powless Grignon, Keshena WI, his brothers David Powless, Corrales, NM and Lloyd Powless, DeBary, FL, and nieces, nephews and friends.

Ron was a Native American with roots in the Oneida and Chippewa Nations. Early in his childhood Ron lived on two Indian reservations, Cass Lake, MN (Ojibwa) and Pine Ridge, SD (Sioux). He was jokingly referred to as "Red Cloud" by his fellow Phi Kappa Psi fraternity brothers at Indiana University. A "nick name" among the "brothers" was one of the enjoyable traits of fraternity life. While Ron never related to his heritage early in life, over time through work and research he found a rich background and appreciation of his Indian ancestors.

While in military service and pursuing his education, Ron lived in some of the most interesting cities of the world. Out of high school, Ron attended Indiana University on an athletic scholarship to play football for the Hoosiers in the Big Ten. Leaving school for the military he was assigned to the U.S. Army Counter-intelligence Corps where he was stationed across the street from the Imperial Palace in Tokyo, Japan in what was the former headquarters of the Japanese secret police during WWII. During his time in Japan, Ron continued to play football and was selected to the U.S. Army All Star football team in 1954. Following his military service Ron continued his education in Mexico City attending Mexico City College.

When Ron first laid eyes on Shirley at the Milwaukee Sentinel in 1956, he indicated to a co-worker "that is the woman I am going to marry". Three months later they eloped to Washington, DC where he attended the University of the Americas. Subsequently, Ron graduated from Indiana University with a degree in Marketing and Economics. Following successful careers with Xerox and Itek he formed a corporation, International Data Systems to address casino audit needs. His success afforded Ron the opportunity to contribute to improving the welfare of American Indian causes as well as enjoy homes in Wisconsin and Florida.

In 2010, the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. recognized the Powless family for its success dating back to Ron's father Merville who survived early boarding school efforts by the military to orient Indians to the "white man's" way.

A private memorial service was held for the family at St. Michaels Lutheran Church, Ft. Myers on Saturday, September 17th, 2011. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions can be made to the American Diabetes Association, 1701 North Beauregard St, Alexandria VA, 22311.

Tucker, Patricia E.
March 16, 1954 – September 25, 2011

Patricia E. Tucker, Age 57 of Lamotte Lake, Keshena, passed away early Sunday morning, September 25, 2011 at the Shawano Medical Center

Patricia was born March 16, 1954 in Keshena, a daughter of the late Robert and Bertina (Archiette) Dodge.

She attended the Shawano schools, and following school stayed at home to care for her ailing parents.

In May of 1976, she was united in marriage to John Tucker at St Anthony's Catholic church in Neopit. Following their marriage the couple moved to Green Bay for a short time and later found a home on Lamotte Lake.

Patricia is a member of St Anthony's Catholic Church of Neopit. She is further survived by her dear Aunt, Elda Dickie; Her very special friend and sister in-law, Raynel Tucker; sister in-law Nan Waupoose; many Nieces and nephews.

Patricia was preceded in death by two sisters Sylvia Dodge, and baby Bobbie Lynn Dodge.

A funeral mass for Patricia was celebrated on Thursday, September 29 at 10:00AM at St Anthony's Catholic Church in Neopit. Father Robert Rank officiated with interment in the Parish Cemetery.

Schroeder-Mickelson Funeral Service of Shawano was in charge of the service arrangements.

Please go to www.schroedermickelsonfuneralservice.com to send online condolences to the family.

Obituaries...

There is no charge for obituary notices to be published in the Kalihwiaks for enrolledOneida members.

Thank You...

The family of Marcella Powless would like to extend a heartfelt thank you to everyone who made her last days as comfortable as possible.

Our family was very blessed by the huge outpouring of love, comfort, prayers and donations on our behalf. With great gratitude a SPECIAL THANK YOU to the following people:

Staff at Saint Vincent's Hospital; Nurses of Unity Hospice; Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Branch President Andrew Summers, Bishop Dennis Rekow, and the Relief Society Sisters who provided food and service of meal. Oneida Hymn Singers; Ryan Funeral Home, James Wolfe and Scott Baeten; and Friends and family who surrounded Marcella with their love and kind words.

Lastly, we would like to express our gratefulness to the Oneida Elderly Services Program. Marcella looked forward to participating everyday with the Elders. She would immediately mark her monthly calendar as soon as it arrived. We truly believe this program gave her life meaning and the needed strength to go on living to 91. She would joke with us about how tired she would be at the end of the day, "I could barely drag myself in the door." The Elders Program gave her the mobility to socialize outside the home, even if there were too many "Buggies" on the bus. Marcella enjoyed and appreciated the staff more than they will ever know. She stated more than once, "Some people don't realize how good we have it, but I do." Marcella loved everything about this program, from the meals, to the crafts and playing games.

We sincerely thank you for sharing our sorrow. Your kindness is more deeply appreciated than we can find the words to express.

Marcella will always be remembered and greatly missed by all the lives she has touched.

In Loving Memory*In Loving Memory ofDiane B. House (Thiesen)who four years ago passed away on October 19, 2007My Mother, My Soul*

Mom molded me with her love and her laughter through each hug and kiss she taught me what family meant her warm touch taught me thankfulness her smile taught me to be polite (when it's a must) and she taught me what a smile and wink can get done (when it's a must)

Mom's life lessons are the strength I walk in the love I live in the family I am surrounded by Mom never had to define what it meant to be Indian because Mom was that definition she always helped with a humble hand and never took more than she needed she never judged because she knew everyone had a story her respect was always sincere she kept humor close to her, because she knew laughter was the key to life.

Mom molded me, she molded my soul

She is alive in each of us She is our foundation now and in our future

She only dies if we do not honor her - If we do not live what she taught us

Mom molded who we are

She molds who we become

She is our soul

Thinking About Divorce?

Divorce is undoubtedly one of the most difficult decisions a person may face in his or her life. Almost one out of every two marriages today ends in divorce. The decision to divorce is a painfully personal one, but as final as it is, sometimes divorce is the only solution if there are issues of abuse or abandonment, or after trying time and time again to remedy a losing situation.

The reality is that while divorce is a negative experience for you and your family, it may be the only way for you to empower yourself and to move forward to emotional health and growth. Once the divorce is finalized, you will find that you are open to new experiences and relationships that were not possible while you were married.

When you have considered all the options and have made a final and firm decision to divorce, you may find yourself in an emotionally traumatic time. You will need help with the process which can be confusing and overwhelmingly legalistic. There will be questions about marital finances and property, retirement, taxes, child support and placement, living arrangements, and many more.

The documents you will need to start the action are: the divorce petition, confidential petition addendum, a summons (to be served on your spouse within 30 days). If there are issues that need to be addressed quickly then you must also file a notice of motion and motion for a temporary order and affidavit for temporary order. If you and your spouse are in agreement about all the issues in regard to the dissolution of your marriage, then a joint petition may be filed. There is a required waiting period of no less than 120 days after the initial filing for the final hearing to commence.

You may want to have the divorce heard and finalized in our own tribal court, the Oneida Tribal Judicial System, OTJS. To qualify, one of the marital partners must be an enrolled Oneida tribal member or other Indian and must have resided within the reservation boundaries for at least 60 days prior to filing.

At the temporary hearing the Court will determine, among other things, who will live in the marital home during the pending of the case, which party will have placement of the children and child support and temporary payments of debts. The court may order mediation or peacemaking if necessary to work out some prevailing issues. After the temporary hearing both parties will need to fill out and file a financial disclosure form. At the final hearing you will need an updated financial disclosure form, the Marital Settlement Agreement, in which all marital debts and assets are equitably divided and the terms of the child custody, placement and support have been agreed upon. You will need to complete and file a Vital Statistics form. Finally, after the final hearing, the Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law must be completed and filed with the court.

Elderly Services receives new treadmills

Injury Prevention Program secures grant from IHS

The Elderly Services Complex received two new treadmills courtesy of the Injury Prevention Program on Tuesday, September 27. Jennifer Jordan of the Injury Prevention Program stated the treadmills are wider and have a longer walking base to accommodate people who struggle with balance.

"We want to help to keep the elders healthy and active," she said.

Complex resident Geri Villalobos looks forward to using the new equipment as part of her fitness routine.

"It's going to be very nice to use every day," she said.

The Injury Prevention program has been in partnership with Elderly Services since 2009. The purpose of the partnership is to get Oneida elders to exercise more and reduce the number of falls that elders may experience. One way that falls can be reduced is through regular exercise, which improves balance, mobility, and strength. Though a grant from Indian Health Service, the Injury Prevention Program was able to provide two treadmills to the Elderly Services Complex.

All Oneida elders, even those who do not live at the complex, are welcome to use the treadmills between the hours of 8-4:30 pm Monday through Friday. In order to use the treadmills, all users will need to fill out a disclaimer form, which is available at the Elderly Services Reception Area. Elders who do not live at the Elderly Service Complex will also be required to sign in and out with the receptionist. All treadmill users will be required to sign in and out on a log sheet, which will be located in the treadmill area.

The Injury Prevention program and the Elderly Services program currently offer an Elder Incentive program which encourages elders not only to exercise, but, to become more involved in events and outings that are happening in the Oneida Community and the Greater Green Bay area. If you are interested in becoming involved in the program, please contact Michelle Cottrell at Elderly Services, 920-869-2448.

If you have any questions about the treadmills or the Injury Prevention Program, please call Jennifer Jordan Injury Prevention Coordinator at 920-869-4520.

Northeast Wisconsin Job Center Job Fair set for October 12

Northeast Wisconsin job seekers are invited to attend Northeast Wisconsin Job Center's 8th Annual Job Fair on Wednesday, October 12, from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., at Riverside Ballroom, 1560 Main Street, Green Bay.

"This event gives area job seekers an opportunity to directly connect with local employers who are looking to fill numerous positions within their respective companies," said Brian Pelon, district director, Bay Area Job Service.

The Job Fair is being held in conjunction with Wisconsin Job Center, Bay Area Workforce Development Board, Northeast Wisconsin Technical College, and Riverside Ballroom. Job fair opportunities include:

which, it knew was not acceptable to OSGC. Therefore, we ended negotiations with the County," said Cornelius.

Though no other setbacks are expected, Cornelius isn't ready to coast to the finish line.

"In business as in life, you can never say never because sometimes things happen. This has been a learning process and, because of it, we have a better and stronger project. We are focused on moving forward with building and operating a successful waste to energy facility," he said.

The plant is scheduled to be up and running during the fall of 2012 with up to 30 full-time jobs.

The construction of the plant will also create 45 local jobs.

Chairman's Corner...

Ed Delgado
Chairman

It has been a very challenging month of September for the Business Committee and the Chairman's office staff consisting of Executive Assistant Kitty Melchert, and Senior Policy Advisors Diane House and Linda Dallas. I have often observed Diane working far into the afternoon even though she is only scheduled to work until noon, and I have walked into my office's on some occasions far past 4:30 p.m. and Kitty and Linda were still there, working at their desks. I thank them for their hard work and their dedication to the Chairman's Office and the Oneida people. I am sure all members of the Business Committee feel the same about their staff. I am also thankful for the Business Committee's commitment to try and work towards a common goal of restructuring the Tribal organization in order to improve Tribal efficiencies and sustain quality Tribal services in these hard economic times.

Organizational Direction

On September 28, 2011 the Oneida Business Committee began the first of several steps that will result in restructuring and realignment of the Tribe's organization. As of October 1, 2011, the organization will, on an interim basis, operate without the General Manager and Assistant General Manager position.

Background:

In 2000, the General Tribal Council adopted a resolution which among other things, eliminated the General Manager position from the Tribe's organizational structure and directed that a different reporting structure be implemented. The newly adopted structure was called "Plan B" in the adopting resolution. However, the Business Committee at the time believed that proper procedure was not followed in 2000 and the GTC action was voided by BC Resolution #BC-8-1-00-B. The current Business Committee believes that the General Tribal Council action of 2000 was in fact proper and rescinded BC Resolution #BC-8-1-00 in order to begin implementing an updated Plan B. To date, the Committee continues to meet and discuss how Plan B can be best updated with complete implementation contingent upon approval by the General Tribal Council. So change is coming and you the membership will be updated and hopefully in November, the new plan will be presented to General Tribal Council for approval.

Travel Clarify

When I ran for the Oneida Tribal Chairman position, I was quoted as saying that I would be a stay at home Chairman. But I learned that is an impossible task. There are responsibilities of the Chairman that require travel to meet with U.S. governmental leaders and with Tribal leaders across Indian country. Accordingly, at the end of August, I traveled to Washington DC and had dinner with Vice-President Joe Biden. What an interesting and informed character he is. I was impressed. The purpose of that trip was to gain the ear of the Vice-President and mention the Oneida Tribe of Indians of Wisconsin as many times as possible so that our needs would have a better chance of being addressed both financially and politically. Later in September, I traveled to Washington DC again in order to ensure that the Oneida Tribe receives as much health related assistance as possible. I assure you, after two trips to Washington DC in less than one month, the incentive to gaze at statues of Americans long gone becomes really boring. However, I still give my respect to the memorials dedicated to America's soldiers of the two World Wars, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War. We should never forget the sacrifices made by those service people who served in those conflicts. Most recently, I traveled to Hinckley, Minnesota to provide input on possible allocations to the Tribe on issues of land consolidation. Often in Indian country, parcels of tribal land are divided up among hundreds, even thousands, of descendants. My next step on this issue is to consult with our Land Management Department.

A Beautiful Reservation

Two roundabouts have now been completed on the Oneida Indian Reservation. One is on Highway 172 in front of your Oneida Casino and the other is at the intersection of Highways 172 & 54. We should all be careful as we travel through these newly created roundabouts because to some drivers, the process is new and challenging. However, I think we can all agree that the newly constructed roundabouts say something good about our history as Oneida people and our presence here on our Reservation which is our home as Oneida people now and forever. I know there is some opposition from some who oppose the cost of the roundabouts because they contain reference to Oneida history and culture here on the Reservation. Some of those folks who appear to be in opposition to the roundabouts because of the Oneida cultural connection should sometime visit Washington DC. There, the whole town is all about American history and culture with strong European, Roman and Greek influence. Washington DC is a beautiful city which benefits all Americans. The Oneida people are steadfast and determined that our Reservation also be a beautiful place. That concept is part of our history and those people who live on our Reservation who are not Oneida might take advantage of Oneida ways about beauty and respect for the environment and actually benefit from our ways, and it might be a good way for us all to better work together.

One last comment on the Roundabouts: On Saturday, Oct. 1st, I drove by the roundabout at the intersection of Highway 54 and 172. It was late afternoon and sitting on top of the turtle's back were two Oneida youth, both between the ages of about 15 and 20 years old. They both had red shirts on and I think both had long black hair. It was a beautiful sight, these two young Oneidas sitting on the turtle's back and looking over their Reservation lands. I told the Communications

OBC Forum...

I hope the fall is a good time of the year for you and your family. In many ways fall triggers a season of change. Likewise, the Oneida Business Committee (OBC) has been trying to forge change. As you may have heard, the OBC reaffirmed the General Tribal Council (GTC) approval of Restructuring Plan B. This is a momentous change which will foster governing efficiencies and advance cleaner governing paths.

One report I would urge people to read, which speaks indirectly to some of these issues and the need to reform and change the government, is the Jack Pawley Report. I have copies of the report if you'd like to review it. This report probes at some of the long-standing governing issues which we have experienced over the past thirty (30) years.

Packer

Championship – Are there lessons to be learned?

The changes and the move towards Restructuring Plan B is simply a response to what the Oneida People, the GTC, approved on July 22, 2000. It is time that we foster changes here; we cannot live under the same tired governing systems which do not work. The GTC recognized the need for change some ten plus years ago, we are simply honoring what the GTC directed us to do in July of 2000.

The idea of change, in general, reminds me in so many ways of the issues the Green Bay Packers went through just a few years ago. Who can deny what a year it was for the Green Bay Packers? It was a great ride which led into a spectacular playoff run, topped off with a great victory in the big game. The city, the fans, and the Packer leadership should be very proud of the team.

It was not without sacrifice that this team arose from the dust to become the champions they are today. When I think about the transformation that the Packers made, I can't help but think, do we (Oneida) have that type of spirit and desire to change, to make things better? Does Oneida have what it takes to be a champion in the eyes of its people? Of course we do!

Here is just a little overview on one critical part of the Packers rise. I'd like to remind you of what was being said a few years back about the man at the center of the team's transformation, General Manager Ted Thompson. Much criticism was thrown towards Thompson from people who wanted things to stay as they were. Even in football, there are people who foot-drag, resist change and simply don't want anything different, good thing Ted Thompson didn't listen to the critics.

One of the most controversial things that occurred during Thompson's tenure was when he made the difficult decision to build a team around Aaron Rodgers instead of indulging Brett Favre's antics. Favre's dizzying indecision on retirement was tiring, "I want to stay, I want to go, I'll get back to you." Favre thought it was alright to wait until the last minute, in effect holding the team and organization up, while he decided what he wanted to do. Favre's actions were a farce and it went on for way too long. When Thompson had finally had enough, he did what people in leadership need to do, he made a decision that would benefit the team in the long run. He was going with Aaron Rodgers at quarterback. When this happened, many people were calling for Thompson to be fired because he was making a drastic change to what they had become comfortable with.

What Thompson showed us was a priceless example of good leadership in a controversial situation. That's what Oneida can use; leadership which makes well thought-out decisions and sticks with them. Thompson's decision made a change and a move in a new direction, resulting in a positive difference to the organization. Making one critical decision in an organization, which needs change, can make a world of difference. Maybe the Oneida leaders can learn from a model like this. Here are some noteworthy quotes regarding the changes and support made by the Packer organization:

"There's a lot of Packers fans, and you'd like for all of them to think that the organization is being run well... But you can't worry about that. You have to do your job. And quite frankly, I don't speak on those things anymore. We've moved on." Ted Thompson, General Manager

"I think it truly shows the strength of Ted to stick to his guns, stay the course... We stayed with the plan. We made the decision based on what we felt was the best interests of the Green Bay Packers, and we never budged off of it. It wasn't popular, and it wasn't fun at times, but we felt it was the right decision. And I think why we're standing here today talking about it proves it was the right decision." Mike McCarthy, Head Coach

"I have seen what he's done over his career, and I think it's tremendous... If you go back and look at all the things, certain guys he brought in, certain guys he let go, and these guys go to other teams and play for other teams. And you go, 'Wow, why didn't we keep him? Why'd we let him go?' And in all due respect, Ted made the best decision for this organization, and that's what you have to live with." Donald Driver, Player

Despite Thompson's critics, including from some players, and despite mounting pressure to not pursue wholesale changes and for many years; hundreds of people needed housing but were turned away because we had no response or mechanism to help them. Then we re-did the housing list, now today the housing list is growing again.

For years we had a stagnant pay scale. I have worked on the pay scale, through a petition, as did many others, and today, we have a new system (Valiant) in place yet most employees couldn't get a raise until the GTC took action. Why can't our governing models address these matters, why did the GTC have to take pay wages into their own hands?

Is this the hallmark of a championship organization? Could the Packers have achieved a championship operating under the Oneida model of doing business? Could you imagine Thompson using consultants to do his job for him? I wonder how the Favre vs. Rodgers decision would have played out if Thompson had hired outside consultants to make that decision for him. Thompson runs the team, he makes decisions, he owns up to his management responsibilities.

In Oneida, we have to change! We can no longer find it acceptable to just get by. We cannot have an organization where obvious cronyism operates in open air. A few people cannot be allowed to manipulate our systems to hire friends and family while qualified people sit on

Executive Managers

November 10, 2011

Purpose:

Hunting, Fishing and Trapping Law Amendments.

The purpose of these amendments is to permanently amend the Hunting, Fishing and Trapping Law for the 2011-2012 season. The Amendments, which were adopted on an emergency basis on June 22, 2011, allow ten and eleven-year olds to obtain a sportsman license to hunt after completing a hunter safety course, if he or she remains within arms grasp of a mentor while hunting; obeys all hunting laws and regulations; and obtains the necessary licenses, permits and/or tags. The Amendments also outline the requirements that a person must meet in order to be a mentor to a ten or eleven-year old hunter.

In addition, the Amendments allow tree stands to remain up until April 1st, as opposed to two weeks after the end of archery season; require a buck to have at least 4 points in order to be harvested; limit a designated hunter to hunting for one elder or disabled person; legalize colony traps; and require individuals to obtain a permit before possessing or releasing birds for dog training purposes.

Decades of Service

For more than 20 years our mother worked and promoted the SEOTS Program and Board. She was one of the original community people selected to begin an undertaking that was not suppose to last. Every year our mother along with the other members of the board worked very hard to keep the SEOTS program opened and funded. Recently our mother stepped down from the SEOTS Board after more than 20 years of dedicated service. The Business Committee nor the SEOTS Board did anything to acknowledge our mothers years of service to the SE Wi. Community. A SEOTS Board member invited our mother along with another board member who was leaving the board as well to dinner as an after thought. SHAME ON YOU BC and SEOTS Board for the disrespect shown to our mother Kim M Reyes for all she has done over the years. She worked hard to make sure Oneida's here in SE Wi. were able to utilize the same services that tribal members in Oneida had. Our mother received no acknowledgements hell she didn't even get so much as a card from the SEOTS Board when she left. Disrespectful as you are SEOTS Board can we trust you with our program that so many tribal members worked so hard to get going in the first place? Is this the kind of behavior we are to expect from this board?

Eyes and ears of our community.....don't flatter yourselves.

Sincerely,
Justin Reyes and Clarissa Reyes

Thank You

I wanted to write a note to let each and every person at the Oneida Community Health Center Dental Clinic know that my experience here has surpassed my expectations for my first internship experience. I knew before I came to Oneida that the clinic was known for a high standard of care for the community members, excellent dental, dental hygiene, assisting and management, and also that the location in the heart of Wisconsin, of course was gorgeous. There were a few things I had to learn.

What I did know was that the level of commitment, expertise, compassion, professionalism, and care that everyone I have come into contact with here has for the clinic and the community. I also did not anticipate the warm way in which you have accepted me into your work and family environment, and also into your daily life.

I want to thank you for the many gifts you have given me. Thank you for your kindness in the way you have led by example in not just the mechanics of dentistry, but the subtle ways of approaching situations that may not always be ideal (you never know what will happen). Your reactions and actions, and ability to roll with changes that came along during the day, speak volumes about how this is a true team and everyone helps and participates to ensure that patients are well provided for and co-team members have the help they need to make their job effective. Thank you for your generosity in providing much guidance and mentorship. This is irreplaceable and I do not know if you all know what a special place in my life and heart you will always have as my "first real life" experience in dentistry. From showing me how the clinic is run, to how to make a patient more comfortable, to techniques on restorations, my level of knowledge as I leave Oneida is leaps and bounds above what I came with. Thank you most of all for allowing me to be a part of the special team that is Oneida Dental Clinic. The community is very fortunate to have you to provide for their dental health care.

I also would like to send a thank you to the community of Oneida for allowing me the privilege of being allowed to practice dentistry among the most thoughtful, accepting and kind community of people I have met. The patients I have had the fine opportunity to meet and treat have allowed me a learning experience that will not soon be surpassed. They have taught me about being a better listener, diagnostician and provider by allowing me to hear their chief concerns and complete their treatment plans in a non-hurried teaching environment. This generosity will not be forgotten. I will always remember my time here the happiness and gratitude and hope to be able to visit again soon!

YawAko

Thank you all,
Rena Christman

A Second Chance

My name is Carmen Hill; I'm an enrolled Oneida member. I'm currently incarcerated at REECC Correctional facility. Sitting on a two-year bit for my second delivery of narcotics offense. I sold drugs to support my own drug and gambling addiction. I was harming myself and others to get my needs met. My family didn't like who I was and what I had become. I come from generations of addiction in my family. I'm happy to say they're all recovering alcoholics/drug addicts.

I remember when the judge sent me to two years in prison. I thought I was just going to die, that night I asked the Lord for forgiveness and that I was going to make the best out of my situation. I'm doing that right now, I'm going to school for my HSED and learning about myself and learning to love myself and knowing that I'm somebody.

I have lost 130 pounds since I have been incarcerated and still losing. I feel great and I'm very proud of myself.

I admit I'm a recovering addict and I'm going to put all my energy into staying clean and sober. To me recovering means learning how to think things through and making wiser choices and responding more appropriately to situations that come your way. Taking it one day at a time.

Being sent to prison wasn't my rock bottom, it's beginning a new life. My sobriety means the world to me.

the sidelines unable to contribute or work for the tribe they love. We must put an end to the questionable hiring practices going on in some areas of the tribe. It is simply not acceptable for people to continue to place their friends and family in prime positions.

When people in high places want to throw breadcrumbs at you and tell you to enjoy your dinner, it's time to wake up! It's very obvious that we cannot have some people's pockets lined with gold while other's pockets are lined with dust! We, as a tribe, can no longer have an indifference towards the pain, homelessness, and unemployed we have among us. The time is now to heal and create opportunities for all those who we can reasonable serve! This is a wake-up call.

Any nation is only as good as how they treat all their people, regardless of who they are. We will be judged dimly in our own history books if we allow our people to go without. When our people have to sleep in the cold and have to go to the Salvation Army for a warm meal; that is saying something.

When employees go years without raises as waste flourishes, that is saying something.

Similarly, just like Thompson did for the Packers, "I know we can make the best decision for this organization, and that's what we'll have to live with." The only question we'll have to live with when we get older is did we make the right decisions today? Our kids will want to know the answer to that question; we better have a good answer.

Office Update:

SEOTS

I would like to thank the SEOTS staff for their assistance in communicating and organizing a successful community gathering at SEOTS on September 21st. I had the opportunity to give a briefing from my office on policy and political issues I have been working on since taking office.

I spoke to community members regarding potential services that could be offered to the Milwaukee area and requested feedback on what services they would like to see. I also gave an overview of the current status of the budget and the obstacles the Tribe is facing.

One of the important issues I am actively working on is housing, not only here in Oneida but in Milwaukee as well. We have so many tribal members who have been left out in the cold when it comes to providing adequate, affordable and timely housing options. I discussed at the length what the Milwaukee area housing needs are and discussed the need to measure those needs so appropriate types of housing options can be sought.

Dealer's Wages

On September 14th, the OBC overwhelming approved a motion to clarify all dealers making under $60,000 are to be included in the .75 wage increase this October 1st. This was a monumental first step for bring the dealers to an appropriate wage scale and I thank the OBC and Gaming Management for their full support. It was evident the GTC action of July 4, 2011, did not specifically exclude the dealers in the motion thereby there was no viable reason to exclude this one category of employees from the increase.

In the coming months, I will be presenting the OBC with another proposal to permanently remove the wage cap on the dealers so that they may be hired and paid at market value. My goal is for the dealers to be able to be compensated in a manner that is consistent with all other regular jobs in the Tribe, including the eligibility for any performance review related increases that are otherwise offered to employees of the Tribe. I will keep you informed of our progress.

Liaison Assignments

Through the transition process, liaison assignments were agreed upon and approved by the OBC. I am pleased to announce that I am the liaison for: Southeastern Oneida Tribal Services (SEOTS) Board, Oneida

Guest Editorial

Responding to a previous letter

Dear Editor,

In the last issue of the Kalihwisaks a letter was submitted by Cathy L. Metoxen that had some very harsh and misleading references to me. She stated that I had posted on Brandon Steven's facebook but she decided not to include the post. Perhaps she did not include my post because she wanted the readers to believe it was a post in ridicule or in fun. I did in fact post, but my post was positive and supportive. I posted the following; "Whomever gives the prayer tomorrow, I hope the council listens and heeds the prayers. Bring your minds together and legislate do not administrate."

I stand by that post and will continue to encourage our elected leadership to bring their minds together to legislate as elected officials are empowered to do. She also insinuates that high paid employees were in the meeting and were rude, disrespectful, unethical, and unprofessional and she went on to list other behaviors.

I was in the meeting, as Director of Public Relations it is my responsibility to keep myself involved in attending meetings from time to time. At no time was I disrespectful or rude, unethical nor did I engage in any other conduct than advisory and professional.

I have worked for the Oneida Nation for more than 30 years and I stand by my actions. I am an enrolled Oneida with every right to express my opinion. Through my tenure with the Tribe I have been instrumental in many positive initiatives within our nation and I am proud of my accomplishments and contributions.

I pride myself in seeking solutions and resolutions to make our community a better place to raise our children. I would encourage Cathy Metoxen to strive to be a more positive and pleasant influence in our community. It is my personal opinion that she has good intentions but sometimes comes across as a very bitter and negative woman.

As the aunt and elder to Councilman Stevens it should be her desire to help guide him in a positive and respectful manner. Councilman Stevens is a young man and through his life he should have the resources of his community elders and family to support and guide him. Cathy is a very active individual in Tribal meetings, she has great energy within her that should be focused on building our nation. It is easy to point the finger and we are all guilty of it at times. I believe our challenge to our fellow tribal citizens is to point our leadership in the direction of seeking solutions and resolutions. Leadership is not always perfect and they will need to be guided when they make mistakes. It is important to encourage our leadership in a respectful manner. It is also important to support them when they are forward thinking and resolution oriented.

Finally, to suggest sabotage is the intent is a very serious allegation and impugns the integrity of every professional in the BC Conference Room. I can guarantee that my actions and intentions are not to sabotage the Oneida Nation or the Business Committee in any way. I believe when you point one finger you had better check the direction of your other three fingers.

Respectfully,
Bobbi Webster

SEOTS Mission...

Our mission is to strengthen our cultural connection and provide services and programs that enhance the well being of Onayote?aka in southeastern Wisconsin.

SEOTS Receives UWM Community/University Partnership Grant

By Mark W. Powless

For far too many years, numerous Native American youth have struggled in academic settings. In Milwaukee, the Milwaukee Public Schools (MPS) system tracks student performance by race, and specifically for Native youth. Two of the most troublesome figures are for grade point averages and graduation rates. As indicated in the MPS 2008-2009 District Report Card, of all ethnicities, Native American students had the lowest grade point average of 1.47. They also had the lowest graduation rates at 55.2%. Unfortunately these numbers are not a one time occurrence, but instead are part of a growing trend.

In an effort to address the crisis situation our youth are facing, SEOTS has been seeking funding to research the problem and implement a plan to improve Native academic performance. Earlier this year, SEOTS applied for and received a Community/University Partnership grant from the University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee (UWM) Cultures and Communities Program. The grants focus on promoting partnerships between the community and UWM to positively influence the well-being of the Milwaukee community.

South Eastern Oneida Tribal Services (SEOTS) and the UWM Department of Educational Psychology have partnered to develop the Honoring Our Youth, Fostering Strong Minds project. The project uses a Community Based Participatory Research (CBPR) model to explore the disparate rates of academic achievement for Native American youth within the Milwaukee-metro area. A youth Advisory Board will guide the project in conjunction with the project leaders. Three Native American UWM students will be trained in CBPR and focus group facilitation, and will act as facilitators for three focus groups of Native American youth. The project will also conduct three focus groups with adult Native American community members, and one focus group with local agency leaders who serve the Milwaukee-area Native American community. The project data will be utilized by SEOTS to develop a program to improve Native academic performance and will be shared with the Native American community, Native American serving agencies in the metro area, and UWM units serving the Native American community, such as the Electa Quinney Institute for American Indian Education, American Indian Student Services, and ACT 31 educators.

Adults and youth interested in participating in the project are encouraged to contact SEOTS. A special yawAko is extended to Dr. Leah Arndt of UWM for her help with this project.

WI Tribal Veterans: Gallant Service

By John A. Scocos

Secretary, Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs

In recent years, Wisconsin's Native American tribes have continued their steadfast support of all Wisconsin veterans, assisting with a number of veteran initiatives and providing support for 2010's LZ Lambeau, Wisconsin's official 'Welcome Home' to its Vietnam Veterans.

Wisconsin's tribal veterans have a long and proud history of military service, from the Civil War through the current conflicts in the Middle East. Native Americans from a number of Wisconsin tribes bravely served in several Civil War regiments. Initially, Wisconsin's war planners ignored tribal calls for enlistments, but as the war dragged on and casualties grew, Native American soldiers were eventually welcomed into the ranks. Once on the battlefield, Native American soldiers acquitted themselves well, fighting with great tenacity at places like Corinth and Vicksburg, and providing skilled assistance as master woodsmen and sharpshooters. In 1864, the forty or so Menominee of Company K, 37th Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry took part in one of the Civil War's most notorious events, the Battle of the Crater at Petersburg, Virginia.

Tunneling from behind Union lines, a group of Pennsylvania coal miners planted a large amount of black powder underneath Confederate defenses. Once detonated, a giant crater opened up, soon occupied by charging Union forces, among them, Company K. Once the Confederates regained their composure, they fired down upon the exposed Wisconsin warriors. In all, seventeen members of Company K were either killed, wounded, or became prisoners of war. Their gallantry, especially the efforts taken to prevent the capture of the regiment's sacred battle flag, remains a proud chapter of Wisconsin's Civil War lore.

The Medal of Honor is our nation's highest military award for bravery above and beyond the call of duty. Wisconsin is proud to be home to sixty-one recipients of this award, including Mitchell Red Cloud, a Ho-Chunk. Decorated for his service with the Marines in World War II, Red Cloud re-enlisted in the Army at the age of 25 to fight in the Korean War. In the early morning of November 5, 1950, 1,000 Chinese infantrymen ambushed Red Cloud and his battalion. Grossly outmanned, Red Cloud grabbed his Browning Automatic Rifle (BAR) and emptied magazine after magazine into the charging Chinese troops.

A citation reads: "His accurate and intense fire checked this assault and gained time for the company to consolidate its defense," even after he was shot twice in the chest and his assistant BAR man was killed. The citation continues, "With utter fearlessness he maintained his firing position until severely wounded by enemy fire." At one point, Red Cloud climbed to his feet, wrapped his arm around a tree, and continued firing until his fellow soldiers could reorganize and eventually evacuate the wounded.

Members of all Wisconsin tribes are currently serving in each branch of the Armed Forces. The Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs continues to work with all tribal veterans and the Tribal Veteran Services Officers (TVSO) to ensure they receive proper care and assistance in the critical readjustment period after returning home.

Potential deer crashes high again this fall when they see deer in the area. If you see one deer, there are probably more nearby that could dash in front of your vehicle," says Randy Romanski, chief of safety programs for WisDOT's Bureau of Transportation Safety. "If you can't avoid a deer, it's safer to hit the brakes and hit the deer than to swerve suddenly and try to miss it. If you swerve, you risk losing control of your vehicle and rolling over or hitting another car or a fixed object, like a tree."

Motorcyclists must be especially careful because collisions with deer can be fatal to motorcycle drivers and passengers. Motorcycles were involved in 12 of the 13 fatal deer versus motor vehicle crashes in 2010, according to Romanski.

The WisDOT Bureau of Transportation Safety offers the following advice to prevent deer crashes:

- Be on the lookout for deer, eliminate distractions while driving, and slow down in early morning and evening hours—the most active time for deer.
- Always wear your safety belt—there are fewer and less severe injuries in vehicle-deer crashes when safety belts are worn.
- If you see a deer by the side of the road, slow down and blow your horn with one long blast to frighten the deer away.
- When you see one deer, look for another one—deer seldom run alone.
- If you see a deer looming in your headlights, don't expect the deer to move away—headlights can confuse a deer and cause the animal to freeze.
- Brake firmly when you notice a deer in or near your path.
- Do not swerve—it can confuse the deer as to where to run—and cause you to lose control and hit a tree or another car.
- The one exception to the "don't swerve" advice applies to motorcyclists. On a motorcycle, you should slow down, brake firmly and then swerve if necessary to avoid hitting the deer. If you must swerve, always try to stay within your lane to avoid hitting other objects.
- If you hit a deer, get your vehicle off the road if possible, and then call a law enforcement agency. Walking on a highway is dangerous, so stay in your vehicle if you can.
- Don't try to move the animal if it is still alive. The injured deer could hurt you.

Judge restores Indians mascot for Mukwonago

WAUKESHA, Wis. - A Waukesha County judge says the state's effort to strip Mukwonago High School of its Indians nickname was unconstitutional.

Judge Donald Hassin Jr. ruled Thursday in favor of residents who challenged the 2010 state law that allowed complaints about Indian nicknames and mascots.

The judge agreed that the law as applied in the case against Mukwonago schools was unconstitutional because the decision maker a Wisconsin

Department of Public Instruction employee had an impermissibly high risk of bias.

The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel (<http://bit.ly/qjM1mu>) reports a former student registered a complaint against the Mukwonago

School District over the Indians name.

Last October, the DPI ruled that the mascot perpetuates stereotypes of American Indians and is discriminatory. The district was given a year to drop the Indians mascot.

Company seeks permits for new copper mine in UP

By John Flesher

AP Environmental Writer

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — As one company begins drilling a nickel and copper mine in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, another has applied for state permits to mine copper and silver in a different section of the peninsula near Lake Superior.

Orvana Minerals Corp., a subsidiary of a Toronto-based mining company, is targeting 798 million pounds of copper and 3.5 million ounces of silver from an underground deposit near Ironwood, on the U.P.'s far western end. Orvana has filed paperwork required for 13 permits — one from the state Department of Natural Resources and the others from the Department of Environmental Quality.

If they are approved and the parent company decides to proceed, the mine would operate an estimated 14 years and employ about 250 people, said Bill Williams, president of Orvana's U.S. subsidiary.

"We look forward to this permit review process and are optimistic about a positive outcome," Williams said Monday.

Copper and iron mining was big business in the Upper Peninsula for more than a century after discovery of rich deposits in the mid-1800s. But the industry gradually declined. At present, the only active mines in the region are the Empire and Tilden iron operations in Marquette County.

But a resurgence may be coming. Kennecott Minerals Co. recently began initial drilling for a nickel and copper mine in northwestern Marquette County scheduled to begin operations in 2013, although opponents are challenging in court the DEQ's decision to issue permits.

Two other companies, Aquila Resources Inc. and HudBay Minerals Inc., are exploring a zinc and gold deposit in Menominee County. They have postponed filing for permits while continuing to determine the size of the ore body, said Hal Fitch, director of the DEQ's Office of Geological Survey.

Several organizations and the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community have fought the Kennecott project, and environmentalists have raised concerns that a mining industry comeback could pollute the region's waters and air while disrupting wildlife habitat and the region's treasured solitude.

Michelle Halley, a National Wildlife Federation attorney who led the legal challenge of the Kennecott mine, said she has begun reviewing the Orvana documents.

"As far as whether we will choose to submit technical comments or litigate, it remains to be seen," Halley said.

Among potential red flags are the company's plan to withdraw an average of 150,000 gallons of Lake Superior water each day and discharge treated wastewater into a creek that feeds the lake, she said. Also worrisome is that the underground portion of the mine would reach to within 200 feet of the lake, Halley said.

Williams said the 200-foot buffer zone would protect the lake. Surface buildings and other infrastructure would be at least a mile inland, he said.

"We have spent a lot of time and effort doing all the testing that was above and beyond what was required," Williams said. "We've presented a very sound mine plan with minimal environmental impact."

Among the most contentious issues with the Kennecott project is the potential for acid mine drainage — a chemical reaction that generates acid when sulfur-bearing minerals are exposed to air and water. Williams said the chances of that happening with the Orvana mine were remote because the ore body contains little pyrite, the iron sulfide that most commonly becomes acidic.

Plans call for crushing the rock and producing mineral concentrates at the site, then shipping them elsewhere for smelting, which reduces them to raw metals.

Fitch said the DEQ has determined that Orvana has submitted a complete application. The public will get several opportunities to comment in person and in writing before the department makes a final decision, which could happen in as early as seven months, he said.

The agency has a team of experts who will review the 6,000 pages of documents and will hire outside help if needed, Fitch said.

"We will make sure the process is public and that we address the concerns that are out there," DEQ spokesman Brad Wurfel said.

From 1A/Civil War stone markers

"The old stones had no base to them, they were just the stone placed in the ground about eighteen inches deep. So it's no wonder (the headstones) always would tilt or move. With the new ones I'm pouring a concrete base for them and they get buried eighteen inches again. Once they get a base on them they don't move all that much," Christjohn said.

The first headstone replaced was that of Civil War Veteran Abraham Antone.

The next Veteran's Memorial Markers to be replaced are those of Civil War Veterans Cobus Powless, Jos Thompson, and Jacob Powless.

These markers are being replaced to remember those Civil War Veterans whose markers previously went unnoticed.

"There's so much work that has to be done up here. Yet a lot of people don't realize what these are, being Civil War markers. There are just so many Veterans we have up here; a lot of veterans from every war and it just keeps going on. One could be a relation and you just might not have known," said Christjohn.

This is an ongoing project for the Department of Veteran's Affairs and they hope to get to all of the markers that need to be replaced in the near future.

Holocaust Survivor and Author returns to Neville Public Museum

Green Bay, WI—Henry Golde, Holocaust survivor and author of Ragdolls, will offer a 6 p.m. book signing and a 6:30 p.m. presentation at the Neville Public Museum of Brown County on Thursday, October 20th.

Golde will share his compelling story as he experienced it first-hand as a Jew in World War II. Separated from his family at age 11, Golde spent five years in 10 different concentration camps, enduring illness and death all around him.

Golde shares his experiences in his book, Ragdolls, which is available in the Neville Gift Shop.

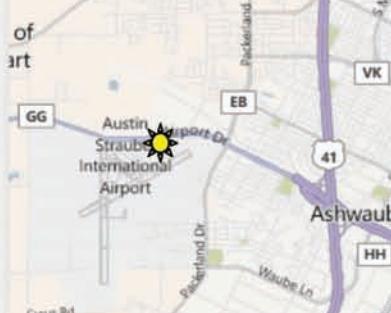

This special program is being offered in conjunction with the emotionally powerful exhibit, Anne Frank: A Private Photo Album which runs through October 23, 2011.

Attention: Oneida Sportsmen, Hunting Season Amendments

By Shad Webster

Natural Resources Director

The Department would like to update the Oneida Sportsmen of the amendments that have been approved for the 2011-12 hunting season. The following changes are a direct response to the Sportsmen's concerns about the current whitetail deer harvest rate and population density.

During the whitetail deer seasons the following rules will be in effect for harvesting a legal buck. All Oneida Sportsmen will be issued one (1) archery back tag for the harvest of a legal antlered whitetail buck or an antlerless whitetail deer along with one (1) firearm back tag to harvest a legal antlered whitetail buck. Oneida Sportsmen that choose to participate in the antlerless firearm drawing (Hunter's Choice drawing), may receive one (1) of the one hundred and fifty (150) available permits. Any unfilled back tags can be utilized during the muzzleloader season. Oneida Sportsmen are allowed to harvest a total of two (2) whitetail bucks, during the 2011-12 hunting season, with archery equipment, firearm, or muzzleloader during the established seasons. The seasons are as follows:

- Archery Season opens September 3, 2011 and continues until January 29, 2012.
- Firearm Season opens November 19, 2011 and continues until November 27, 2011.
- Muzzleloader Season opens November 28,

2011 and continues until January 1, 2012.

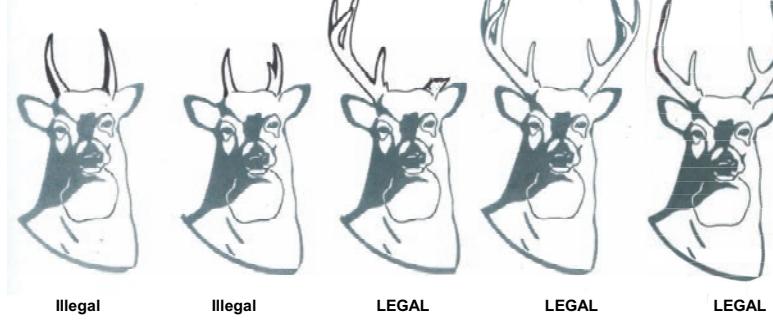

The definition of a legal whitetail buck is any deer with an antler over three (3") inches in length and a total of four (4) antler points or more on one or both antlers.

Oneida Sportsmen will be allowed to hunt for one (1) Oneida elder or disabled member, during any of the established whitetail deer seasons. The elder, or disabled member, must notify the Department as to who will be hunting for them during the 2011-12 hunting season.

The amendments will reduce the overall harvest rate by the membership but allow the age structure of the whitetail deer herd to develop. The three (3) critical components to whitetail deer's health are the available nutrition, genetics, and age. The lands within the exterior boundaries of the reservation provide ideal habitat for food and shelter for the whitetail deer. The genetics are here for quality, healthy deer to reside and produce a strong fawn crop year after year. With the time given for the deer to grow to an older age, the opportunity for a sustainable herd will continue to increase in the future. Mature does will develop healthier fawns in greater numbers each spring and bucks will reach their antler potential if allowed to grow to be

3 1/2 to 5 1/2 years old. The proposed changes will allow the Oneida Sportsmen to experience quality hunting opportunities afield while creating a prime opportunity to harvest a mature whitetail deer.

Conservation officers receive new training

By Shad Webster

Natural Resources Director

The Oneida Conservation Department has recently sent the Conservation Officers to the 2011 Native American Fish and Wildlife Society Regional Conference, hosted jointly by the Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin and Stockbridge-Munsee Band. The Conservation Officers attend a number of training sessions directly related to the enforcement and duties of Conservation Officers. During this conference the Conservation Officers received 24 hours required In-service Training and firearm certification qualification.

During the Conference certified Instructors provided tactics and procedures to assist with Officer Safety, search techniques, simulation, surveillance, firearms training, and site monitoring.

The Conservation Officers had opportunity to train with their side arms during five (5) simulation activities. The courses include Firearms Certification, Shooting from a Boat, Simulations "Shoot or Don't Shoot" training, Active Shooter Simulations, and Low Light/Night Time Shooting (Tom Kroepelin, Training Director Great Lakes Indian Fish and Wildlife Commission). These training scenarios provide real life experience for the Officers and prepare them for possible situations in the field.

Conservation Officers also participated in Handcuffing and Searching Procedures (Tom Kroepelin, Training Director GLIF&WC) which ensures Officer Safety when establishing contacts afield. The techniques assist the Officers with locating and identifying possible hidden weapons, drugs, and other contraband during field contacts.

With the current rise in active Illegal Marijuana Grows throughout the region, Officers attend workshops on Surveillance Techniques (Bill Gibson, United Forest Service) and Site Monitoring (Mike Sasse, Special Agent Division of Criminal Investigation). The workshop taught Conservation Officers tactics on identifying sites, monitoring activities, and identifying/tracking suspects. The training session included a field trip to a recently discovered and processed grow site and provided an in depth look at a grow operation. The trip examined reasons why the site was chosen and planting/harvesting operations by the growers. The Conservation Officers received detailed information about the surveillance equipment and techniques conducted during the bust.

The Conservation Officers received valuable training during the annual 2011 Native American Fish and Wildlife Society Regional Conference. The techniques and experience will assist the Officers with protecting the Nation's natural resources, however, the Officers need your assistance with identifying violations that occur. To report possible fish & game, forestry, or environmental violations contact the Oneida Conservation Department at (920) 869-1450, Officer Metoxen at (920) 562-5704, or Officer Kosowski at (920) 713-8451. Have a safe and enjoyable hunting season!

My Scoop

NBA Lockout Leads Too...

By Lakota Martinez

Thunderhawk Times

Because of the NBA lockout LeBron James could play in Europe this year?

If you ask me what I think about it. I'd tell you he has nothing to lose, LeBron would only be teaching the "ballers" across seas how it's done in the NBA.

Even if he doesn't play in Europe because of the amazing basketball player that he is, he will still be in the gym only getting greater and stronger.

Playing in Europe or not, the NBA should be excited and hyped for what the best player in the NBA is going to do next.

The Death Penalty

By Noelle Metoxen

Thunderhawk Times

This past week the talk of Capital Punishment has been coming up a lot. I have just finished reading The Green Mile. Although the book is fictional, it has some heart to it that makes the meaning of the book that real. The book gives you a feel as if you are there watching the person die yourself. There is this inhuman feeling to it.

My belief is that no person has the right to take another's life. The government or state tries to make themselves feel better by what they are doing, by blaming it on Justice. I don't think it is justice at all. Who is to say what is justice enough, and what is not. The saddest part of all is that some people truly and honestly believe that what they are doing is okay. They honestly think that by killing the criminal the world is better. They believe that person is sick, and needs to be put down. I think it very hypocritical, because you are just as sick if you can sit there and watch or allow the life to be taken.

I can't speak for everyone though, because I haven't lost someone close to me, by the hand of someone else. So I haven't had the feeling of need for justice. Yet, because I feel so strongly about what I believe I think that if a tragic were to happen, I would keep my mind set, and would never wish for another person's life to be taken.

ONHS Homecoming Plans Coming Together

By Jaleesa Caldwell

Thunderhawk Times

Oneida Nation High School's Student Council is planning a homecoming for the 2011 Football Season for the last week in October. (October 24-October 29) We're putting together a school spirit week, class competitions, powder puff football, and a school dance.

As of now, we were told we only have three and half days to work with for a school spirit week, so we planned Monday as Twin Day, where you and a friend dress the same. Tuesday; opposite gender day, where girls dress like guys and guys dress like girls. Wednesday is the color war between classes, where every class is addressed a color to wear, seniors wear pink, juniors wear blue, sophomores wear red, and freshman wear black. Then the last day, Thursday, is our spirit day where we come in our school colors and show our school spirit.

On Thursday we'll also be doing class competitions such as scooter relay races, the human pyramid, tug-a-war, 3-on-3 basketball, and hall decorating. Then, to complete the day, we'll be having powder puff football between the girls in each class. The games will be the seniors vs. juniors and sophomores vs. freshman. With the half day that we have we are hoping to make this a very fun, enjoyable day for everyone.

With no school on Friday, we will continue to show our school spirit with having our football game at 7:00 against Stockbridge. The winners of the two games from Thursday's powder puff football will be playing at halftime, to determine the winners. Then a bonfire will follow, for anyone who is willing to attend. The fire will be put out around 11:00-11:30.

Then, Saturday, we plan to have a Halloween-themed dance for the students here at ONHS. This is the first time ONHS is having a homecoming dance in 10 years, so we hope for the best for this. The dance is from 8:00-12:00. We will be having a costume contest for the top five costumes.

We are hoping to make this homecoming event a success and hope that everyone that is going to be in attendance has a great, enjoyable time.

ONHS Students prepare white corn

Submitted photos

Oneida Language and Culture students in Sonny Hill and Kalána Brooks' classes are engaged in preparing white corn as food. The corn has come from the high school's Three Sisters Garden located behind Norbert Hill Center. According to Brooks, "This is the first time the Oneida Nation High School ever had a Three Sisters Garden and it was organized by the Oneida Cannery, Iroquois Women Studies, and Oneida Language and Culture Classes. The Three Sisters in this case are White Corn, Bear Beans, and Acorn Squash." Thunderhawk Times reporters Lakota Martinez, Tasha Stevens, and Joelle Thomas interviewed the group which included (l to r) Bradley Sievers, Brooks, Yasmine Denny, Michael Mills, RJ Webster, Devonte Pointer, Noelle Metoxen, and Kanani Nunies.

Dining on a student budget

In a time when every penny counts—especially for teens—Noelle Metoxen decides to write about area restaurants, with the high school student in mind. Here are her first two reviews. Watch for more to come.

Restaurant Review-CHILI'S

Last Friday, my mother and I went out to lunch at the Chili's on Mason St. I do have to say I really enjoyed myself. It was around 1:30, so we had missed the lunch rush.

They have the 2 for $20 deal going on. My mother and I took great advantage of that. The soda's there are well sized, in mug like cups. We had the chips and salsa appetizer to start us off. We liked the salsa really well; it had a nice zing to it without over doing it.

I ordered the Chicken, Bacon, and Ranch Quesadilla with fries. It was amazing! They give you a well amount of slices of the quesadilla, not stingy at all. My mother ordered the Fried Shrimp with Avocados tacos and a side salad. The salad was nicely sized as well, and well distributed with the veg's in it.

After a minor mess up with my mother's order (they accidentally brought out the wrong shrimp meal) they fixed it quickly, and we were enjoying our meals. My mother is an avocado lover, so she really enjoyed her plate.

She was so stuffed she wasn't even able to finish her meal. She had plenty to take home for supper.

I enjoyed my time at Chili's and would love to go again sometime.

 (5 Stars)

Restaurant Review-RICO'S

Last Friday, my mother and I were set to meet my brother for dinner. They were in the mood for fish. We had gone to one restaurant but they had been there prior, but my hunger was willing to try it out.

The drinks there were given in quite large cup, which we didn't mind. With a good meal, comes a thirsty appetite. My brother ordered the perch plate, and my mother ordered the cod plate. I ordered a chicken wrap.

The place was kind of small and stuffy, but it was understandable for a Friday night. Our food came fairly quick, and I loved the chicken wrap I ordered. Most restaurants give the ranch in a dipping cup on the side, but Rico's put the ranch right in the wrap for me.

I asked how my brother and mother enjoyed their meals, and they were both satisfied, but my mother had wished she ordered the perch. She had taken a bite of my brothers and thought it was much better than the cod.

All in all, we enjoyed our visit at Rico's, the people there are so friendly and the food was good.

Oneida Housing Authority turning homes green

By Dawn Walschinski

Kalihwisaks

As fall weather turns crisp and cool, Oneida Housing Authority (OHA) employees are working to keep housing residents warm, cozy and green.

Through a stimulus grant from the American Reinvestment and Recovery Act, Rehabilitation Project Manager Dale "Frisell" Hill has used the funds to rehabilitate OHA houses, and help his employees reinvigorate their job skills.

"That's the coolest part about the program," said Hill. "The goal is to give young people a long period of time of good work experience."

Currently, the group of seven men have been working as Rehabilitation Trainees replacing asphalt shingles with metal roofs, changing out vinyl siding for wood siding, and installing insulation among other duties.

Folks around the reservation know the program is hard, the standards are high, we demand good craftsmanship," said Hill.

James Huff and Paul Melchert have been working for the program for more than a year. Huff had some construction experience before joining OHA.

"I just tore off roofs and helped clean up," he said.

He's appreciated the hands-on training he's received through the weatherization program.

"The things we've learned are actually extraordinary," said Huff. "We learned how to install drywall, we learned a lot about energy efficiency, dry lock, trim work, installing windows, tiling is a big thing that we did learn. Right there, you're basically a carpenter."

"Mainly, we learned understanding the importance of sustainable design and we're looking at long term," said Melchert.

While the program focuses on weatherizing OHA housing, a lot of the work involves repairing

James Huff paints drywall in an Oneida Housing Authority home. Huff is part of a team that rehabs homes to make them more energy efficient.

damage done by residents such as replacing broken windows and repairing holes in the walls. According to Hill, an average house rehabilitation should run $15,000, but repairing intentional vandalism can double the cost.

"If it's intentional tenant damage, it takes away from good things we can do in the program," said Hill. "I had one kind on the crew that after he learned how to repair holes in the wall, he said he didn't know it was so time consuming and so expensive, and he would never do it again."

In addition to getting training and certification, the trainees are learning how to plan a project.

"It's not just learning how to do something, but what it takes to plan it," said Hill. "I try to teach them everything that goes into that before you ever actually start."

Huff and Melchert appreciate their new skills and the chance to work with other Oneida citizens.

"Our contractor Jerry Jordan, JJC is predominately all Oneida members, and we are all Oneida members. Jerry Jordan had a lot to do with us learning on hand, on the job site, on what to do, on what not to do. It's basically Oneida members teaching other Oneida members skills trade, and that's a big thanks for Frisell and Jerry Jordan and all of Jerry Jordan's construction workers," said Huff.

Hill acknowledges that it can take patience to work with individuals who are not experienced carpenters.

"You can't have a program that targets those kids and not have patience; otherwise we'd have 10 new employees every month," he said. "It is stressful, but it's fulfilling. All the guys made me proud, they've changed so much."

While the program is slated to end next August, both Huff and Melchert see their work making a long term impact.

"We grew up in these low income houses, and I just hope that the program actually can stay there so I can teach younger tribal members coming out of high school or thinking about college and want to have a job on the side. We can teach them the skills we know and help them out with their future," said Huff.

"It's a great thing to know that the work I've done here will be lasting a long time for the tribe," said Melchert. "I feel like I'm helping preserve our reservation."

Paul Melchert paints a basement pole in an Oneida Housing Authority home that is being renovated to be more energy efficient.

Brookfield Renewable Power Signs Agreement to Donate Land to Hiawatha Institute

100 Acres Overlooks Cohoes Falls and is site where Haudenosaunee Peacemaker established the Iroquois Confederacy

Marlborough, MA – Brookfield announced today that it has signed an agreement to donate land of extraordinary spiritual and cultural significance to the Hiawatha Institute for Indigenous Knowledge. The approximately 100 acres of land, located adjacent to Cohoes Falls in Waterford, New York, contain the sacred site where Skennenrahawi, the Peacemaker, is said to have established the Haudenosaunee (Iroquois) Confederacy, the world's oldest united nations (see story below).

Tom Uncher, Brookfield's General Manager for New York East Operations said, "Brookfield recognizes that this land is part of our continent's rich history and is pleased that the Hiawatha Institute has agreed to preserve and protect the land's environmental, cultural and historical importance for future generations." Instrumental in securing the land grant is Brookfield's Senior Advisor of Aboriginal Affairs, John Kim Bell. A Mohawk from Kahnawake, Mr. Bell is an internationally recognized symphonic conductor and composer and founder of the National Aboriginal Achievement Foundation and National Aboriginal Achievement Awards in Canada. Mr. Bell has raised millions of dollars to provide post-secondary educational opportunities to Aboriginal youth across Canada for which he has received numerous awards including the Order of Canada.

John Kim Bell stated, "returning this sacred and historic site to the Iroquoian People is a deeply meaningful moment in history for our people and I am proud as a Mohawk to have played a role in seeing this land returned to First Nations ownership. I am also very pleased with my colleagues at Brookfield for their willingness to work in such a positive manner with a First Nation's organization."

Also playing a key role in the historical event were Dr. Greg Schaaf, Director of the Center for Indigenous Arts and Cultures, in Santa Fe, New Mexico and the late Mohawk Nation Chief Jake Swamp, founder of the Tree of Peace Society on the Akwesasne Mohawk Territory in northern New York.

Karihwakeron Tim Thompson, Wahta Mohawk, and President of the Hiawatha Institute for Indigenous Knowledge expanded upon the importance of this donation, "For the first time in over 300 years Haudenosaunee people will have undisputed title and complete access to an area which is considered among the most sacred places to Indigenous peoples in North America," he said.

Karihwakeron noted "It was at Cohoes where Skennenrahawi met the Mohawk people and persuaded them to adopt the Great Law of Peace and thereby become the first member nation in what was to become the world's first, democratically based, united nations organization. That event, on the north shore of the Mohawk River, would change the course of human history."

For downloadable pictures of members of the Hiawatha Institute for Indigenous Knowledge, Cohoes Falls and the ceremonial signing of the agreement, please visit http://www.brookfield-power.com/content/press_releases/

About the Hiawatha Institute for Indigenous Knowledge (HIIK)

The Hiawatha Institute for Indigenous Knowledge (HIIK) is a newly established organization associated with Syracuse University. It was created in fulfillment of a dream first envisioned by the Oneida leader Shenandoah 200 years ago: his wish was to provide a place of learning where the essence of Native knowledge would be shared with the world in a school of higher learning.

A group of contemporary scholars, educators and community leaders have renewed the vision. The group consisted of delegates from the member nations of the Haudenosaunee (Six Nations Iroquois) Confederacy, the oldest democratically based united nations organization on earth. They were there to do what they could to preserve the culture and traditions of the Haudenosaunee as distinct Native peoples while making available specific instances of our ancestral knowledge to anyone who has a desire to live in harmony with the earth by protecting the rights of those yet to be born onto the seventh generation. Named after one of the creators of the Haudenosaunee Confederacy over 800 years ago, the HIIK will work in partnership with Syracuse University to offer degrees in areas of study ranging from music to forestry, philosophy to energy, all from a distinct Native perspective in an inclusive curriculum designed by aboriginal knowledge keepers and unique among all institutions of higher learning in North America. Map Spotlight on Rose Hill Wetlands

By Sylvia Cornelius
Environmental Project Manager

The Oneida name for Rose Hill Wetlands is Yotsi'nahkwatalihá Tsi? Yonutáhele? Tyohwatsyana:wā. It is location number six on the "Oneida Reservation Parks, Trails, & Natural Areas Map." The site can be accessed at the end of Rose Hill Drive, just west of the intersection of County J and N Overland Rd. This natural area consists of 264 acres of mature hardwoods, wetlands, open meadow and two ponds. The Circle of Flight program provided the funding for restoration efforts at this site and was acquired in 1985.

The mature hardwoods provide habitat and food for wildlife. You can't bring your ATV, however you will find abundant plant and wildlife. Wildlife you may find here include: Deer, Coyote, Fox, Turkey, Rabbit, Raccoon, Small Mammals, Mallard, Wood Duck, Blue Jay, Red-Tail Hawk and a variety of Songbirds. Plants you will find include Gooseberry, Nettle, Queen Annes Lace, Common Milkweed, Goldenrod, and Blackberry. Trees include American Cranberry Bush, Black Ash, Maple and Birch.

If you are out enjoying our natural areas this fall, be safe and aware that hunting season has started! Both gun and bow hunting are allowed by Tribal members with a sportsman license during the appropriate seasons. For information on hunt-

Land Claims hosts Ft. Stanwix Treaty talk

By Jennifer Stevens

Oneida Land Claims Executive Assistant

The Oneida Land Claims Commission recently hosted another Oneida Treaty History Series event focusing on the "Treaty of Fort Stanwix of 1784" on September 15, 2011 at the Norbert Hill Center.

The event was facilitated by Jennifer Stevens, and our special guests and historians were; Laurence Hauptman, New York State professor of history, author Gordon McLester, historian and author, and Loretta V. Metoxen, tribal historian. Stevens led a PowerPoint presentation that entailed a 101 history of the Treaty of Fort Stanwix, a historical overview by Laurence Hauptman, Loretta V. Metoxen, and Gordon McLester, and wrapped up the evening with discussion.

The Oneida Land Claims Commission would like to thank their presenters and participants for making another successful evening covering our Oneida history. The Oneida Treaty History Series will be a continuous event throughout the year; The Land Claims Commission is striving for community outreach, and giving our tribal members opportunities to learn through various events and a social network on FaceBook, and website more about current affairs of our New York Land Claims and our long history.

Our next event we are looking at presenting in Milwaukee in December 2011. Watch for details.

If you want to learn more about the history series, would like a copy of the PowerPoint presentations, and/or want to be put on our mailing list; Contact Jennifer M. Stevens, (920)490-3955 jstevens@oneidanation.org

Up-date from the Office of the Oneida Ombudsman

Shekolih,
As I send out this report, it is quite obvious that the fall season is definitely upon us. Fall is a season of change, preparation, and transition. It seems to be appropriate that this be the time in which regular reports begin to come to the Oneida Community from the Office of the Ombudsman.

Since accepting the position as the Oneida Ombudsman in April, I have been actively working to fulfill the duties and responsibilities as an Organizational Ombudsman in many capacities. For those in the community who are not aware, the Oneida Ombudsman is a position within the Oneida Nation that came about as a result of a General Tribal Council motion back in 2005. Since that time there have been two other individuals that have filled the role of the Ombudsman, but for about the past two years the position sat vacant. It is with great honor and respect that I have accepted the position and look forward to meeting the responsibilities of the profession and practice of an Organizational Ombudsman.

Over the past six months I have been actively working on the re-opening of the Office of the Ombudsman so that it can operate as an Organizational Ombudsman is intended: both proactively; to minimize the opportunity for problems, concerns, and/or complaints; and in the reactive sense of addressing problems, concerns, and/or complaints that do arise. This work has included the following actions: organizing and aligning the Office of the Ombudsman with the core values and strategic results as identified and defined by Ska>nik=&lat for the Oneida Nation, reestablishing the membership of the Oneida Ombudsman with the International Ombudsman Association, compiling the historical information of the Oneida Ombudsman with current research information regarding the Organizational Ombudsman to strengthen the resources and structure that guide the work and actions of the Ombudsman, create an informational brochure about the Oneida Ombudsman, engage in both individual and organizational case work to address issues and proactively act to avoid potential concerns, and actively embracing the responsibility of understanding policy and process at all levels of the organization in order to function as an Organization a representative of "fair process" and the "fair administration of process."

It is the duty of the Office of the Ombudsman not to release information of the work done, or being done, that could identify individuals or groups who have sought the services of the Ombudsman while keeping the organization and community abreast of the issues that surface and work being done to improve the actions and services of the organization.

- Since the time I came aboard, a concern from within the community arose regarding access to care and services with Oneida Behavioral Health. I want to ensure the community that this matter is still being assessed and addressed and will be the subject of a more specific report out to the community over the next few months. This is a complex matter that is being looked at and worked on. However, with the changes that have occurred in the organizational leadership, it is also a matter that is awaiting the opportunity for discussion across all levels of "management."

- On the proactive side of things, the Comprehensive Health Division has been diligently working to operate with open lines of clear two-way communication and to revive the actions of Quality Assurance and Quality Improvement across the division. These are both vital actions within the health arena and also will be the subject of reports to come.

- In regards to identifying trends, the subject matter of communication seems to be at the root of many matters that come before the Office of the Ombudsman. Concerns related to style and amount of communication seem to be an issue that is impacting many levels of the organization. When communication is at the root cause of a concern or complaint, it continues to come out that it is not as much about the actions or end decision but rather the lack of open, clear, two-way communication that is the problem. People tend to be better able to accept actions that they may not agree with when communication is upfront, open, honest, clear, and provides as much of a voice to all involved as possible.

In reports to come I anticipate more information to be provided about what questions, concerns, and/or complaints have surfaced along with resolutions that have been reached or recommendations that have been made for possible resolution of the issue. I also anticipate more reports about the positive actions being taken to improve services and ensure fair process and fair administration of processes to all.

Should I Skip It? Eating Healthier

Kaitlin Fermanich

Dietetic Intern

We've all heard that it's bad to skip a meal. Our bodies need proper nutrition in order to sustain daily living. So why do we do it? Maybe we're too busy. Maybe we're trying to lose weight. Maybe, we just don't feel like cooking so instead we eat an entire box of crackers for dinner. It's not going to hurt us, right? Wrong!

When we skip a meal, our body goes into fasting, or starvation mode. It burns calories from our muscles to help stay fueled. We can start to experience nausea, fatigue, and light headedness. When it comes to weight loss, our metabolism is very important. Our metabolism is what burns calories from our food for energy. When we stop eating, our metabolism slows down. The only way to get it going again is to eat something or exercise. That means that, in order to lose weight, we actually have to keep eating.

Think of breakfast. Do you know why the name was created? Most often, we get anywhere from 6-10 hours of sleep every night. While we're sleeping, we're also fasting. Breakfast "breaks the fast" and provides us with a great start to the day. Maybe you don't like a big breakfast; that's okay! Something small a like a banana, yogurt, or piece of toast will break that fasting cycle.

Breakfast definitely isn't the only meal we skip. No matter what meal it is, we tend to get really hungry if we miss it. Our bodies are designed to eat once about every 4-5 hours. We're likely to eat extra calories if we skip a meal than if we eat on a regular schedule. Not only will we eat more, but we might choose to eat unhealthy foods. Skipping meals can create cravings. When we miss a meal, we might be inclined to grab fast food, or other foods high in fat and calories. That means that we have a greater tendency to break into that stash of sweets we've been trying to avoid. Studies have shown that people who eat less than 3 meals and 1 snack per day are more likely to be heavier than the frequent eaters.

What about that box of crackers for dinner? If you're trying to lose weight, think about healthier food choices. The USDA now recommends that half of our meal is fruits and vegetables, leaving only about a quarter for grains. If you're pressed for time, try preparing meals with left overs, make a quick salad, or try a lean deli sandwich and a piece of fruit.

The next time you're considering skipping a meal, don't do it! You'll feel better and be much healthier in the long run. Let's keep our metabolism running strong, eat healthy foods more often, and give our bodies the nutrients they deserve!

LAX program looking to teach game

By Nate Wisneski
Kalihiwaks

The game of lacrosse is deeply rooted within the Oneida culture and the Oneida Lacrosse Program wants to ensure it stays that way.

The programs founder Curt Summers created the non-profit group after seeing the excitement of box lacrosse in New York.

"A year ago I was out east and box lacrosse is really big," said

Summers. "I thought I really wanted to bring this home."

Box lacrosse is played on a smaller field with walls similar in size and appearance of a hockey rink. "It's a lot faster, phenomenal, crazy and physical," Summers said.

The program is looking to generate enough funds to build a box field along with a field lacrosse site.

"The box alone is going to cost us between $200,000 and $250,000," he said.

Fundraising for the program has been deliberately slow as the group focuses on forming their objectives.

"We have done the brat barn and we are selling shirts with our logo in it," Summers said. "Right now we have just raised enough money to fund our other fundraisers."

Along with game-play Summers would like to teach Oneida youth about the connection between the tribe and lacrosse.

"They have that feeling when they play but they don't know what that is. I tell them that is you and who you are. The game originated with our people and we will be talking about where the game came from and how it is important to us," he said.

During the summer the group held informal gatherings across the area to introduce themselves to the community.

"We got a bunch of kids together and we used (the time) to teach them stick skills. We had kids as young as four up to adults," Summers said. "We had three sites with about 50 to 60 kids."

Summers remembers funding his own trips and equipment for tournaments around the state and in Illinois and Minnesota. He hopes the program will be able to assist future teams and their needs.

"We really had no backing from anybody," he said. "We want to help out those teams."

The program is in the process of setting up spring camps, clinics and meetings.

Summers has also identified professional players willing to come to Oneida to help assist with camps and equipment needs at no cost.

He has also identified key potential donors who could assist with major funding efforts but is waiting to get fully established before making any donation requests.

"This is our game and it can take you places," Summers said. He just wants to make sure every child has that opportunity.

For more information about the program visit their Facebook page by searching for the Oneida Lacrosse Program.

Health care providers learn the three D's: Document, Document, Document

By Dawn Walschinski
Kalihwisaks

Arthur Thexton prefers not to see doctors. It's not because he has a phobia, it's because he's a Prosecuting Attorney for the Wisconsin Department of Safety and Professional Services.

"I'm here today to give a talk called 'How Not to Meet Me Professionally,'" said Thexton on his presentation given to health care providers from the Oneida Community Health Center (OCHC) and other area health professionals on Thursday, September 22 at the Radisson Hotel and Conference Center.

Thexton's talk centered on the growing problem of prescription drug abuse. "There are now more deaths from drug overdose than there are deaths from car accidents," said Thexton. "The reason the drug overdose has grown is because of prescription drugs, not so much heroin or cocaine or meth, but prescription drugs, and the fact is there's an industry of people out there who pretend to be patients and come to doctors and lie to them in order to get these kinds of medications, and then they sell them, or abuse them themselves, or both."

Thexton stated in his talk that doctors get into trouble with writing prescriptions when they fail to keep proper records.

"Document, document, document," he advised the group.

He also noted that sometimes doctors don't look at people the same way law enforcement might.

"Doctors begin with the premise that patients are telling the truth," said Thexton. Law enforcement personnel, on the other hand, are trained to be skeptical.

Doctors could face stiff penalties if it's found they're misusing their prescription writing duties.

"Doctors are held to a high standard and if they ignore the obvious signs, then they can have their prescribing privileges restricted, and they can be required to get education to help them knock it off, and in extreme cases, we just had to take licenses away," he said.

About 12% of investigations result in a discipline.

"I don't want you to be in that 12%, I want to avoid the problems," said Thexton.

"Every provider in this audience will be scammed at least once in their career."

Thexton pointed out a couple of common phrases patients often use when trying to get more prescription drugs such as "it fell in the toilet" or "the dog ate it."

"Have you ever tried to give a pill to a dog?" he asked.

Instead of focusing on pain, Thexton advises health care providers focus on function.

"Is the patient using

Prosecuting Attorney for the Wisconsin Department of Safety and Professional Services Arthur Thexton gave a presentation to area health care providers on protecting themselves from writing questionable prescriptions.

drugs to live his life, or is he living his life to use drugs? Does function improve or degenerate?" he asked.

OCHC Registered Nurse Jennifer Hoffman found that information to be helpful.

"It gave me some things to ask patients when they come in, how you're doing, rather than how's your pain, how's it better or worse, ask them how their functioning," she said.

In discussion after Thexton's presentation, attendees asked questions, and discussed the need for different clinics and pharmacies to talk to each other concerning patients.

"We can't let the patients play us against each other," stated one attendee.

Tribal chairman Bailey plans run for Congress

By John Flesher

Associated Press

Traverse City, Mich. - Derek Bailey, chairman of the Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians, said Friday he will seek the Democratic nomination to challenge freshman U.S. Rep. Dan Benishek in northern Michigan's 1st Congressional District.

Bailey joins former state legislator Gary McDowell in the race to unseat Benishek, a tea party-backed Republican from Crystal Falls elected last year. Benishek replaced Bart Stupak, a Democrat who decided against seeking re-election after serving 18 years in the House.

Democrats consider the seat among their best prospects for reversing the GOP's takeover of the House in 2008, even though the district may be somewhat more GOP-friendly since its lines were redrawn following the 2010 census. It still takes in all the Upper Peninsula and a large section of the northern Lower Peninsula.

Bailey, 38, described himself as a bridge builder who would cooperate with members of both parties at a time of fierce partisanship to reduce the federal debt and strengthen the economy.

"Working together respectfully ... is the basic expectation for our representatives," he said. "I pledge, and stand by my past work efforts, that I will bring this perspective to Congress and simply get work done."

Bailey was elected in 2008 as chairman of the Grand Traverse band after serving four years on the tribal council. The 4,100-citizen tribe operates two casinos and the Grand Traverse Resort and Spa, and provides government services in six counties: Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Grand Traverse, Leelanau and Manistee.

A Traverse City native who grew up there and in neighboring Leelanau County, Bailey was appointed by President Barack Obama to the National Advisory Council on Indian Education. He said he would be an advocate for early childhood education and rural families.

"Within our culture we have a teaching that any decision you make today should be based on how it will impact seven generations to come," Bailey said. "If you truly embrace that teaching and apply it when making law and policy, then of course you will protect our greatest natural resource."

Responding to Bailey's entry into the race, McDowell said he would keep his focus on Benishek. "No one in Congress is looking out for Northern Michigan and Dan Benishek is part of the problem," McDowell said.

Benishek's spokesman, Kyle Bonini, said the congressman is focused on representing Northern Michigan and will let this be decided by the citizens.'
