Waste to energy plant gets the green light

(Oneida, WI) The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) has issued a Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) for Oneida Seven Generation Corporation's proposed waste to energy facility in Green Bay, WI. It is the last ruling needed to move forward with the plant. The DOE conducted an environmental assessment earlier this year, considered public input and, in August, issued a preliminary determination that the project will not cause significant adverse environmental effects. The final ruling (FONSI) was issued on Thursday, November 10, 2011.

In late September, the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources issued final air and waste permits after determining the project will meet air and waste pollution control requirements and will not cause significant adverse environmental impacts. This followed a nine month application process, which included public meetings and comment periods.

"We are obviously very happy with the DOE and WDNR findings," stated Seven Generation's C.E.O. Kevin Cornelius. "We have said all along that this facility will be in compliance with all applicable state and federal regulations, or we

Sgt. House recognized for heroic actions

By Dawn Walschinski

Kalihiwak

Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) Police Officer Sergeant Yuma House was named Officer of the Year by the Indian Country Section of the International Association of Chiefs of Police at their annual convention held in Chicago this past October.

"It's shocking because I know quite a few other officers that are well deserving more than I ... I'm receiving on their behalf," said House. "It's an honor."

The son of Oneida citizen Sharon House, Sgt. House patrols the Lower Brule Reservation in South Dakota. Sgt. House was recognized for his actions on two dates. On June 21 two vehicles were swept off a highway during a flash flood. Sgt. House tethered himself with a rope and entered the flood waters to search the vehicles for occupants. Later that summer on August 2 Sgt. House responded to a head on collision where both vehicles were engulfed in flames. Sgt. House attempted to save the lives of the individuals in the burning cars with a fire extinguisher.

Sgt. House stated that patrolling the rural community can be difficult.

"We have all the same crimes most other reservations have, he said. "You're by yourself out

King sentenced to 1 year in state prison

By Travis Cottrell

Kalihwiwaks

Brown County Judge Mark Warpinski sentenced Edwin King Jr. to a year in state prison and seven years of extended supervision for three separate felony charges. King was found guilty by way of no contest pleas to the three charges; Exposing a Child to Harmful Material, Causing a Child age 13-18 to View Sexual Activity, and Using a Computer to Facilitate a Child Sex Crime.

The courtroom was filled with the family and close friends of King who were there for support.

King's Attorney, David Christian, opened his defense by acknowledging how challenging this particular case has been due to the conflicts between King's reputation and the nature of his crime. "For me this has been a difficult and puzzling case. Mr. King has never been in any trouble in his life, he has no criminal record, no juvenile record. He comes from an extremely stable background, he's been married 39 years, has four children and seven grandchildren. He is a respected member of the community. I have to say that Mr. King is a low risk offender," Christian said.

A visually somber King was then given the opportunity to address the court.

"I want to say how sorry I am, sorry about all the pain I have caused to my family. It has been hard to live with that pain, it's been hard to live with myself. I'm not really sure how I got to this point. I lost the connection to my spirituality and now I'm returning to my spirituality. I will accept responsibility for my actions," King said.

King has also been attending counseling regularly on his own prior to being sentenced.

Judge Warpinski closed the proceeding by stating, "Aside from the condition of the crimes you have been accused of here I don't believe you are a bad person. But I have to look after the safety of the people. There has to be a way to make sure this doesn't happen again, that is why I believe state prison to be appropriate. I also believe that counseling needs will be better addressed in a prison setting rather than a jail setting."

King was not immediately taken into custody because Judge Warpinski believed there was no risk by releasing King into the public. A date was scheduled for King to arrive and be taken into custody.

Passing On...

Denny, Beverly
July 31, 1959 – November 9, 2011

Beverly Denny, 52, of Green Bay, died unexpectedly on Wednesday November 9, 2011 as a result of a traffic accident. The daughter of Curtis and Beverly Jean (Klevene) Denny Jr. was born July 31, 1959 in Milwaukee. She was a fun-loving woman with a great sense of humor who loved wearing crazy hats and going to the Casino. Bev loved spending time with her son and family.

Survivors include her sons, Leotis, Sonny, Ronnie, Jr., her siblings, Debra Pitch, Sarah Denny, Brenda Skenandore, Chantay Denny, Curt Denny III, Bill Denny, her nieces and nephews, including Lisa (Eric) Rauschenbach (her children, Marcus, Mariah and Miles) Shane Skenandore (his children, Chance, Brendan, and Milana), Daneille (Matt) Wilson, as well as Bev's father, Curtis. She was preceded in death by her mother Beverly and one sister, Lauren Denny.

Family and friends may have called RYAN FUNERAL HOME AND CREMATORIAL 305 North Tenth Street, De Pere from 10:00 am to 12:00 noon on Sunday November 13, 2011. Oneida Hymn Singers sang at 11:30 am. Service of Remembrance in Celebration of Bev's Life was held at Noon Sunday at the funeral home. Please visit www.ryanfh.com to send online condolences to the Denny family.

Metoxen Noble, Hazel
October 20, 1918 – November 4, 2011

Hazel (Smith) Metoxen Noble, 93, passed away peacefully Friday morning, November 4, 2011 at the home of her son Roger in the loving care of her son Daryle. Hazel was a good Christian woman who cared for many in need and was an inspiration to her family and friends. Family meant the world to Hazel; she was the glue that kept us all together.

Hazel was born to Joseph and Rose (Cornelius) Smith on October 20, 1918 on the Oneida Reservation. She was united in marriage to Freeman Metoxen Sr in 1934. Out of their union Hazel gave birth to 14 children: Dewey (Dorothy) Metoxen, Chicago, Gary (Pat) Metoxen, Surprise, AZ, Michael Metoxen, MO, Allen (Toni) Metoxen, TX, Roger Metoxen, Daryle Metoxen, De Pere, Rosemary Metoxen, Kaukauna, and Patti Metoxen, San Leandro, TX; two daughters-in-law Carole Metoxen, Little Chute and Deloria Skenandore, NV. Hazel is also survived by numerous grandchildren, great grandchildren, great great grandchildren, nieces, nephews, and cousins.

One dear sister survives her, Rosalie La Mere. Three sons preceded her in death: Gordon, Freeman, Jr., and Ronald Metoxen; one daughter Janice Metoxen; one granddaughter Janice, and two sons who died in infancy: Joseph and Kenneth.

In 1971 Hazel and her youngest children moved to Hayward, CA for a fresh start and just because she always wanted to live in California. While in California she met and wed George Noble who has preceded her in death. She was a devoted caregiver and worked in several nursing homes while living in Wisconsin and California. She also spent time in Virginia, privately caring for a retired official of the Bureau of Indian Affairs. In 1987, she retired and Hazel longed for her home and moved back to Oneida to be close to her family and longtime friends. She wasn't retired for long and began volunteering for the Oneida Senior Companion Program where she visited many Oneida Elders for over ten years. Hazel was so very proud of all her sons for volunteering to serve in the Armed Forces.

In Loving Memory of...

Tami Jo (Sam) Cornelius

3/25/1969 - 11/18/2006

It's been five long years and with this month comes sad regret that brings a day we will never forget. The tears in our eyes we can wipe away, the ache in our hearts will always stay.

So many things have happened since you were called away, so many things to share with you - you are a grandma now to little Brody. Things we wish to say like we miss you so much and I wish you could call me just one more time for our noon phone calls.

Life goes on, we know that's true, but nothing has been the same since we lost you.

Community Meeting for a Indian Community Development Block Grant Application

A new Oneida Housing Authority initiative is to provide housing for singles (family of one) in our community. A family of one is still a family and for years OHA has focused on families of two or more as a priority for housing.

OHA is sponsoring a community meeting to get your input and comments regarding single family housing in the community. This meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, December 6, 2011 at 5:30 p.m. at the Three Sisters Community Building, 2790 O Na Ste Lane, Green Bay. Light snack and beverage will be available.

Topics for discussion during the meetings will include applicant income eligibility, application forms and documents needed to complete a housing application. Other topics will include site location, types of housing; duplexes, apartment housing, garages, student housing and size of multi-family units. You as a community member have a voice in housing in our community, please attend and let your concerns be considered. If you have any questions, please contact:

crash that killed 3

TOWN OF LESSOR, Wis. (AP) ~ Authorities have released the names of victims in a two-vehicle crash that killed three people and injured four others in Shawano County.

The sheriff's office identifies the three who died as 52-year-old Beverly Denny and 17-year-old Jacob Johns, both of Green Bay, and 19-year-old Sebastian Scharenbroch of Oconto.

All three were passengers in a van that went into a skid on a snowy highway, collided with an oncoming truck and caught on fire Wednesday.

The driver and two other people in the van were injured. The truck's driver, a 56-year-old Appleton man, was taken to a hospital with non-life-threatening injuries.

The crash remains under investigation.

Gun rights advocate convicted in shootings

MILWAUKEE (AP) ~ A Milwaukee man who has advocated on behalf of open-carry gun rights has been convicted of killing one man and paralyzing another.

WISN-TV reports the verdict against Jesus Gonzalez came down late Thursday afternoon. He was accused of shooting Jered Corn and Danny John in May 2010 outside a bar on Milwaukee's south side.

Gonzalez told police they were trying to rob him and the shooting was self-defense. The survivor, Jered Corn, disputed that.

Gonzalez was found guilty of lesser charges of first-degree reckless homicide and first-degree reckless injury. He'll be sentenced next month.

In 2009, Gonzalez filed a federal lawsuit alleging his constitutional rights were violated on two separate occasions when police took him into custody because he was carrying a handgun in a holster.

ACLU to probe if SD breaks child-protection laws

By Amber Hunt

Associated Press

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) ~ The American Civil Liberties Union is investigating whether the South Dakota

Department of Social Services violated federal law by removing Native American children from their homes and placing them in foster care instead of with relatives.

Tate Walker, an ACLU spokeswoman in Sioux Falls, said the civil rights organization has fielded individual complaints for years from families who said the state violated the federal Indian Child Welfare Act. The law directs officials to place Native American children removed from homes with their relatives or tribes except in unusual situations.

But the cases had been too scattered and disparate to tackle, Walker said, until a recent National Public Radio series accused the state of routinely breaking the law and disrupting the lives of hundreds of Native Americans each year.

"That aired and then boom: We're getting calls left and right," Walker told The Associated Press on Tuesday. "The outcry was phenomenal, not only from people demanding that something be done, but also from several potential plaintiffs."

The ACLU investigation could lead to a potential lawsuit that would unite complainants as plaintiffs against the state.

The three-part NPR report described Native American children as being placed in South Dakota's foster care system at a disproportionate rate: More than half of all children in foster care are Native American, despite them accounting for just 15 percent of the state's child population.

The series suggested that the motive might be money, since the state gets federal financial assistance for each child removed from his or her home. It also suggested a conflict of interest in Gov. Dennis Daugaard's work for Children's Home Society of South Dakota when he was a lieutenant governor. That organization received millions of dollars for housing Native American

Unclaimed vets money

(MADISON) – The Wisconsin State Treasury and the Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs (WDVA) are teaming up to help veterans claim money they may have lost or forgotten.

The agreement between WDVA Secretary John Scocos and State Treasurer Kurt Schuller permits the Unclaimed Property Unit in the State Treasury to begin matching social security numbers from the Treasury database with those in a Department of Veterans Affairs database. Veterans who have unclaimed assets will receive checks from the State Treasury.

"It is our hope that we can make it easier for veterans to claim their own cash...money they might not even know they are missing," State Treasurer Kurt Schuller said. "These heroes who have fought for our freedoms deserve a little extra help from the State."

"Sharing information to match unclaimed assets with the rightful owner just makes sense," Secretary Scocos added. "This partnership with the Treasury is just one more small way we can help those who have served and sacrificed for our country."

The State Treasury is holding more than $400 million in unclaimed funds. The State Treasurer and his staff of claims examiners are working to return as much of that as possible every day.

Anyone can search for unclaimed money on the Wisconsin State Treasury website, www.statetreasury.wi.gov. Just click on the magnifying glass on the homepage.

Removal of Seneca Nation president voided by clerk

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) ~ A power struggle within the Seneca Indian Nation in western New York has taken another turn.

On Saturday, the Seneca Tribal Council voted 10-6 to remove Robert Odawi (oh-DAH'-wee) Porter as chief executive officer.

But on Sunday, the Seneca clerk voided that vote on a procedural technicality.

The clerk says the nation's ethics laws prohibit nation officials from acting upon matters in which their family members have a personal interest. But in the action to replace Porter with Councilor Michael "Spike" John, John's brother, Donald John, seconded the motion and participated in the vote.

Porter, who was elected to a two-year term as president last November, says the council's vote Saturday reflects political discontent over his administration's crackdown on corrupt insider deals.

here, we don't have backup except the next officer that's either just went off duty or is coming on to duty."

Sgt. House was influenced by his grandfather Roy House – an Army veteran who survived the Bataan Death March – to join the military and by his older brothers to go into law enforcement.

"I'm trying to fill the shoes of my grandfather Roy House who's still missed to this day. That's a big thing with us boys," said Sgt. House. "Our reflection is upon the way he raised us."

Sgt. House credits his success as a police officer to his wife Leah.

"Thanks to my wife putting up with me and all the time the government took away and her staying strong. They all say behind a good officer is a good wife."

do that why couldn't I create a diabetic calendar," said Tatera.

Tatera hired an illustrator to execute the calendar's imagery as she began to research for her calendar, working on the project for nine months.

"I did a ton of research. I researched, researched, and triple researched. My oldest daughter, Mindy Tatera, is a Physician in Internal Medicine and I had her review my material," said Tatera.

While following the healthy life choices she put together in her calendar, Tatera began to see improvements in her blood sugar levels and she began to lose a significant amount of weight.

"So far while following this diet I have lost 80 pounds and that has played a major role in my blood sugar improving. My blood sugar has gone from an 8.1 to a 5.8. Most of my life my weight has been a yo-yo, but staying on this diet I have kept the weight off and I feel terrific," Tatera said.

landfill, sort it, and put non-hazardous, non-recyclable materials through a Pyrolysis / gasification process; generating five megawatts of power hourly, which will be sold to Wisconsin Public Service.

Site preparation work for the facility was completed in October under a WDNR early start permit. It is anticipated that full construction will begin in 30 to 60 days, with the plant operational by December 2012.

"We are excited about what this will do to help the environment as well as the community," said Cornelius. "We'll reduce the volume of garbage going into landfills, increase recycling, create jobs and provide electricity," said Cornelius. "It really is a model for the future."

"Seven Generations would like to thank the Oneida Nation, the City of Green Bay, their elected leaders and staff, and the Perkins Park Neighborhood Association, for their support and assistance during this process," said Cornelius. "We value the positive working relationship with them and look forward to working with them in the future."

Greg Matson
Vice-Chairman

Shekólih,

I hear a lot of people saying that we are facing some very difficult times financially. I personally have a hard time accepting that because I think we just need to find our balance again. Over the years I have seen many things from within our organization that has taken away our ability to recognize our potential to bring all the people of the Oneida tribe up in a way that ensures we can all stand side by side and move forward. The passion to be the best we can be has slowly diminished and has been replaced in many ways with "I got mine," "now you get your own." This is sad to me, but I know it is only temporary. I say that because I am confident that as we move forward, we will again "get it right."

This will take all of us;

and I mean all of us that are proud to be Oneida, Haudensaunee and people of Turtle Island. For those of you that may not feel the need to contribute to the well-being of all Oneidas, I ask you to step aside and allow those with good intention for the people to move forward with the opportunity given to us. And once again join the effort at a later date. I thank you for this and look forward to your rejoining the effort for the community.

We as Oneida people have been through many struggles and have always made it through.

I know we will continue this because of the belief in our ways. If you are wondering what I mean by that, then it's time for you to discover your ancestry and history. Once again, I ask you to step aside if you're not willing to do this because it is time for us to realize what we have and take care of it. We have not lost our ways we have simply lost our way. Our families of the past would be ashamed of how far away from our ways we have stumbled. We need to become a family again. A family that takes care of each other and mother earth as well as give thanks for what we have.

During the proposed reorganization, I hope we can all realize the need to include all the people of the Standing Stone as equal and organize our membership to do what's right. We all have a title in this tribe whether it's manager, director, front line or brother, sister and mother, and hope we can all honor these titles with the best intentions. These titles all have roles and responsibilities that have to be maintained in the best way we can and I ask you all to do that. In the past some of these titles have been used to take advantage of an opportunity and I hope we can come together and make positive changes regarding these roles.

In closing I would just like to say we have the opportunity to really do what is right, but we have to let our common sense lead us and support each other in our future endeavors.

Accordingly, I will assume that we will all come to the meeting informed. That will require us all to read the packets mailed to us. Also, the Business Committee will schedule community meetings prior to the meeting. My Office will also schedule meetings with Tribal members. You may contact Kitty Melchert at 920-869-4026 to schedule an individual review of the Agenda with either of my Senior Policy Advisors Diane House, Linda Dallas or with myself. You may contact my Office directly at 920-562-1750. In addition at the GTC meeting, I will recommend that we spend any specific time discussing any of the resolutions. I will support the use of "calling for the question" at any time after a motion is made. The use of "calling for the question" will allow the membership to decide when they have heard enough discussion and when they are ready to vote.

Probably the most important Resolution on the Agenda is first on the Agenda. The Resolution calls that "...there shall be no 2/3 vote requirement in the Ten Day Notice Policy. Given Notice in accordance with this law, action to overrule previous passed motions or resolutions shall require a simple majority vote."

Under our current Ten Day Notice Policy, a typical quorum of 1400 Tribal members at a GTC meeting requires a 2/3 majority vote to amend or repeal laws approved by the General Tribal Council. Therefore, under the 1400 member quorum scenario, if 900

Tribal members voted for change or repeal of a law and 500 wanted the status quo, the 500 minority would win the vote and wishes of the vast majority would be dismissed. It is no doubt the current Ten Day Notice Policy is unfair. But there is more. The Policy is a result of a mistake made when it was passed in 1991 and the Resolution being presented at the November 21st meeting will correct that mistake. In 1991, all the discussion at the GTC meeting contained discussion on the need for Notice (a very important component in any democracy). However, the 2/3 majority requirement was not discussed and according to the Oneida Law Office, there are those who attended the 1991 GTC meeting who admit that the 2/3 requirement was a mistake. We will have a chance to correct that mistake on November 21st. I ask that you the membership support this Resolution. Today's world requires that we be progressive and applicable to change. The Resolution being presented will allow our Tribe to better adapt and compete in today's and tomorrow's world. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Ed Delgado
Oneida Tribal Chairman

OBC Forum...

Over the last few months I have issued memos and urged us to think ahead. I have lost some quests to contain costs, but I have not lost faith that we can forge ahead with a good budget. My goal here is to help start the transformation of our tribe and to begin the process and retooling of the way our resources are allocated. We have to begin the process of delivering a more advanced level of services to the Oneida people; anything less will make us look like we're unequipped to properly handle the leadership helm here.

We are in a disastrous state here and this is why restructuring is needed. We are stepping into our footprint of GTC action. As we move through a restructuring process we need to look at how we can:

- Reallocate resources to better fit our organization,
- Increase efficiencies and create efficiencies where there are none, and

- Govern properly into the future.

I want people to understand that as the OBC, we are setting up opportunities through restructuring. There are many great opportunities to the set the Tribe on a path of success if we continue to put forth the effort to realign the organization to be in line with our vision. We are taking a new approach to reaching out to the people and the response has been positive. My office welcomes any ideas the membership may have on cost savings and welcomes any ideas you may have on areas where more investment should be required.

Liaison and Office Update

Oneida Total Integrated Enterprise's (OTIE) mission is to preserve, restore, and enhance the natural and constructed environment for future generations through successful customer-focused project delivery. As one of the liaisons to OTIE, I am working diligently toward creating job opportunities for the Oneida people within OTIE's mission.

In October, Tribal Secretary Hoeft, Councilman Jordan and I attended the Organizational Structure Update at SEOTS. I also gave a briefing from my office on policy issues and pending legislation. As always, it is a great pleasure to meet with the Oneida constituents and discuss what is going on in the Tribe and in the Milwaukee community. Thank you to the SEOTS staff for assisting in communicating and organizing another successful community meeting.

I applaud the OBC for supporting housing. I am continuing to look at housing initiatives both here in Oneida and in Milwaukee and am actively working on a housing proposal as the housing liaison. Aside from this project, my office is also working on the following legislation:

- Amendments to the Election Law to include addressing issues raised from the last election and a referendum process.
- Amendments to the Comprehensive Policy Governing Boards, Committees and Commissions which would only allow non-employees to sit on boards, committees and commissions.
- Budget Management Act as directed by the General Tribal Council.

I have supported the addition of the dealers in the .75 cent wage increase and have supported the removal of the cap on dealer wages. I am pleased to report that the dealer wage cap was successfully removed at the last BC meeting. However, work still needs to be done in the area of wage issues. We may still have employees who are behind in the pay grade levels across the organization.

This fall the Oneida Apple Orchard hosted the Big Apple Fest which was a family event featuring Oneida products. The event was a success and I would like to see more events in the community like this event which brought the community together and supported a tribal entity.

On October 31st, I attended a Federal/State Indian Policy Briefing "Workshop" hosted by the Town of Hobart. The meeting was held in at the Capitol in Madison and video recorded. I encourage all of you to listen to the rhetoric being espoused by our neighbors, it is quite disheartening. Around 57 minutes into the video you will see Chairman Delgado address the Hobart panel followed by my questioning of the panel around 1 hour and 2 minutes. Several others also spoke out against this "workshop" and the presentation put forward by Hobart. The video can be viewed at http://www.wiseye.org/Programming/VideoArchive/EventDetail.aspx?evh_id=5420

In closing, I encourage you to join my email list a Oneida2011@yahoo.com. Through this email I will send out updates and other forms of policy information.

Thank you for your time and I will continue to provide updates in the next few months about how things are progressing. If you need any assistance or are interested in any released memos or reports, please feel free to contact my office at 920-869-4426 or email me at vdelaros@oneidanation.org.

Have a good day!

For the record: Vince Delarosa stated it's clearly obvious we have been mis-applying a two-thirds majority for many, many years in GTC and others

locations, mostly GTC.

Chief council House actually kind of outlined at the

LOC meeting how there was just an error in how we have been applying

Robert's Rules of order as it relates to two-thirds majority. There was an oversight, there was a misunderstanding and this got advanced somehow and we've been doing it for a long time and it's just not an appropriate standard. For amending a constitution? Yes. But for amending simple policy work that impacts the lives of folks in positive manners, it's not a standard that we need to bear. I support this majority movement, which is the appropriate movement towards advancing policy on behalf of the people.

For the record: Brandon Stevens stated I'm in agreement with the resolution, but I know the discussion will come up on what pieces of legislation need more protection than others, like the constitution. Perhaps the judiciary, that's another discussion but to require changing those documents,

I would feel would be two-thirds vote to change and the judiciary is up for discussion, but I think constitution is definitely one of those ones we need to proteet.

Desktop Support Specialist Trainee, MIS Department Full-time Desktop Support Specialist I, MIS Department Client Server Computer Programmer, MIS Department
Motion by Tina Danforth to allow for a transfer for Tribal member only posting for the three positions and that a report be brought back in thirty days as a status of the hiring process; relative to those considerations, seconded by Melinda J. Danforth. Motion carried with a vote from Chairman Delgado breaking the tie:
Ayes: Melinda J. Danforth, Tina Danforth, Paul Ninham, Ed Delgado
Opposed: Patty Hoeft, Vince DelaRosa Greg Matson
Abstained: David Jordan, Brandon Stevens

For the record: Vince DelaRosa stated my concerns are many, I look forward to talking to you; I hope we can get some written reports. I am really interested in the evolution of technology-based platforms such as even cloud computing. I've done a little bit of research on that and I just see that there are fundamental changes that we have to have here now. So instead of adding staff I would like to have that type of dialogue first until we figure out where we are going. So hopefully you have that type of vision and you're going to bring reports forward that will look into those types of platforms and other things that we can utilize to better reach out to our Tribal members and service the employee base here. Hopefully you got some sort of report along those lines that the council can look at, but I'll make a formal request.

For the record: Brandon stated I abstained only because these requests are becoming more and more apparent that these are day-to-day decisions and we, as we go through reorganization we really need to start pushing that a little further, since that is our direction and pushing these back on to the division directors to make that decision and for the committee to just receive the reports, accept it and then if we disagree on their decisions then that's how we act appropriately. Rather than making these decisions.

For the record: Tina Danforth stated these are procedural exceptions and that is the only reason why they are being addressed. We are not addressing them because they are day-to-day.

Thank you.

Additions
Approval of the Budget for Nov. 21 GTC meeting

Motion by Tina Danforth to approve the budget to be forwarded to the General Tribal Council as presented in the draft that was provided today, seconded by Vince DelaRosa. Motion carried with two abstentions:

Ayes: Tina Danforth, Vince DelaRosa, Patty Hoeft, David Jordan, Greg Matson, Paul Ninham
Abstained: Melinda J. Danforth, Brandon Stevens

For the record: Vince

DelaRosa stated I am in support of moving the budget forward and I am in agreement with advancing a basic budget forward until such time as we hear from the Division Directors (DD) and formulate our final restructuring plans after review of the DD's plans and reports.

I would note, the finance personnel of the tribe and all of management have worked hard over the last few months, along with the new Oneida Business Committee (OBC) to get to a balanced budget to the General Tribal Council (GTC) and I want to move the budget forward.

If we look at where we were at in the beginning of this budget cycle, over the last few years we as a tribe have had an extreme difficulty in keeping operational costs in line with fiscal year FY 2011 through 2013 revenue projections. However, over the last few months and during this budget cycle we have come a long way. In fact, it was reported by the Tribal Treasurer her September 2010 Executive Summary, that "both the 2012 and FY2013 [budgets] had projected to have deficit balances of -$34,680,688 and -$12,900,899 respectively", and today we have largely arrested these projected spending deficits.

Likewise, the Treasurer and her staff, along with the OBC and management have done a good job of getting to a balanced budget.

It is for all those foregoing reasons that I support moving the budget forward while acknowledging that moving forward we have financial risks and challenges that we still have to address. I am confident we can meet some of those challenges while also creating room in future budgets for a higher level of programmatic activity as we move forward, with housing being one of the biggest initiatives which we need to address.

For the record: Tina would just like to thank the committee and the finance department staff for their diligence, their patience and their hard work on putting together this budget; especially during a transition period. Every time the BC made a decision on the budget, my staff went back and reworked the budget. So they were almost daily for three weeks changing the numbers of this budget and I appreciate all of their hard work. Thank you.

Amendment to the motion to strike Native American Bank contribution from the budget, seconded by Paul Ninham.

Amendment fails with four oppositions and one abstention:

Ayes: Melinda J. Danforth, Paul Ninham, Brandon Stevens

Opposed: Tina Danforth, Vince DelaRosa, David Jordan, Patty Hoeft

For the record: Greg wants to state why abstained on the amendment and it was based upon, I feel the GTC has a right to make that decision based upon information given at the regular budget meeting.

The vote of support to move the budget forward to reflect the same, this is a GTC action that needs to be approved.

Letters & Opinions...

Ya wako

On behalf of the family of Purcell Powless we wish to extend a great deal of appreciation to all who came to honor his memory at the first annual Purcell Powless Remembrance Day tree planting ceremony. Thank you especially to the Oneida Business Committee for the action they took to recognize the memory of retired Chairman Purcell Powless as a Tribal holiday and for coming to the ceremony.

We chose to plant a white pine as a symbol of peace for our community. We also wanted to commemorate Purcy's extraordinary example of his commitment to the seven generation philosophy to our homeland here in Wisconsin. His land is forever in trust and will never be sold. He made that commitment to his family and community and for that we are grateful.

Thank you to family and community for the food donations. There was so much food that we took the remainder to the homeless shelter later in the day, we are sure they were grateful.

Thank you to those who contributed the prayers, good stories, picnic tables, the tent, firewood, the photographs, and also cash donations to the Purcell Powless Scholarship.

Ya wako,
The Family of Purcell Powless

Museum Request

Hunting season is once again here, and I remember my father in law Zachariah Skenandore! A World War I veteran used to loan out some World War I weapons to his brother in law Edward Metoxen, his friend Philip and Orvil Cornelius and a few others to the Skenandore family.

If their descendants would like to return any of them, please make arrangements with the "Frank & Nancy Marine Corps Museum" by calling 920-869-2709 or call 928-305-6532(His Yuma telephone). We would very much like to display it so all the public could see these World War I artifacts.

The weapon was a Springfield 30.06 Long Barrel Rifle, with a side load feature that held five rounds. It was used for deer hunting.

Thank you in advance and may God Bless You and your family.

Yours Truly,
F.L. Cornelius

Finding Freedom

I am writing to find spiritual people, Native brothers and sisters who walk the Red Road.

I am a Native brother who is on the path. I have been locked up for the last seven years of my life. I'm thankful to be getting out soon. This time has shaped and polished me. I went from a wild youngster who dealt drugs, got shot, got stabbed multiple times (once in the heart), hit by cars, got in fights with everyone, overdosed, died legally twice; to a person who when he wiped out the drugs and alcohol for six months was a completely different person. I went through a lot of trial and error of finding the things I love to do. I now am a writer, I am a mixed martial artist, I am an entrepreneur (from prison!), I am a singer. I love to learn, love knowledge and love my Native culture. But if I can do this from here, you can surely do it out there.

Whoever, wherever we are, in or out of prison, we are all doing hard time until we find the freedom inside ourselves.

Though we may seem an unlikely bunch, filled with doubts, fears and many forms of self-hatred, we also happen to be the keepers of the precious flame of Truth; it survives solely because we keep it flickering in our hearts. We're loaded with spiritual power. We just have to unblock our access to it. And it takes a lot of self-honesty and hard work, no matter where we live, or how we spend our days, or what we've done in the past.

Every one of us has the starring role in this movie of life. We're all heroes, adventurers, who have a lot of ups and downs, who may stumble and fall a million times, but we can all become strong, wise and free by the end.

About the highest compliment in prison is "He knows how to do his own time." How many of us do? How many of us use every moment of our lives to get a little bit stronger, a little bit freer, no matter what's going on around us, no matter how crazy or violent it all seems to be? This is a constant opportunity we all share. People with wisdom have known this forever.

With kindness, humor, patience, courage and self-honesty, we can find that inner peace deep within ourselves. Most of the time we don't use but a fraction of our spiritual power that would make life feel infinitely more natural and more worth living. Wisdom and joy come only from learning how to see a wider much more wondrous world, and power comes only from the spirit within. If you need to talk to someone, write me. Bless all of your family hoops. Be well. Be safe. Be happy. Be yourself and take care. We are all related.

November 21 GTC Meeting

November 21, 2011
GTC Meeting

On this date I will be presenting nine resolutions for the GTC to consider. I turned these in January and April. Jo Anne House is stating that some of them cannot be voted on because there have been no public hearings or other reasons of her own. The Administrative Procedures Acts calls for public hearings when the Business Committee wants to change a law, but not for the GTC. I call upon the GTC to hold onto its right to make decisions that affect the lives of Oneida people.

I am also asking the GTC to change the order of the agenda. Resolution 8 orders the medical management team to restore the specialists positions of urology, ear/nose/throat and allergy/asthma to the Oneida Health Center.

Please move this to the second resolution and place the one that is second to the end of the agenda. The management removed these positions. Now Oneidas who live out of Brown and Outagamie will need permission to be referred. The Health Center has what is called a priority list. I know one woman who had heart symptoms. Debbie Danforth told her she had to sign a paper stating she would be responsible for all charges if she didn't have a heart condition, because she was a low priority. I advised her to sign. Her heart was so bad part of it was dead already. I know this to be true because I was with her when it happened. She was my sister Winifred Skenandore.

With regard to the urologist, Dr. Joseph Binard offered his services free of charge. They never even acknowledged his offer.

The Oneida Legislative Operating Committee stated that there are not legal bars to adopting this resolution. Jo Anne House says it is out of order. I'm asking the GTC to overrule her opinion.

Resolution 6 and 7 deal with the farms. I'm calling for a doubling of the grass fed beef herd and also I'm calling for a generous Oneida Tribal discount for beef for the Oneida people. One of the reasons why the farms can't make a profit is that the Land Commission charges the Oneida Nation $100 per acre to use our Oneida Land! It is strange that the Land Commission charges Land Commission member Pat Cornelius' husband Merlin $20 an acre for 99 acres. Over a three year period that is a loss to the tribe of $23,760 and double that if they take the three year additional option. Good deal for a private business!

don't care how old you are, I'm 70 but I wouldn't have the nerve.

Oneida land should be there for four purposes; to provide health food and home sites for the Oneida people and to protect our sovereignty and for recreation.

Please read all the resolutions and come prepared to vote so we can get these done in one night.

Sincerely,
Madelyn Genskow

Concerned son

I am Enrique R. Caravantes and I am currently incarcerated in GBCI. I get the monthly tribal paper. I was looking through the paper and I saw the advertisement for a women's support group. It stuck out to me because I was looking for something along the lines for my mom. Needless to say my mother has been going through some of her own problems. I brought up the support group to her and she was against it because there was no confidentiality principle expressed. I attend alcoholics anonymous and narcotics anonymous here at GBCI and our biggest principle is what's said in the group, stays in the group period. My mother said to me that when she went to the support group the tribe hosts and the confidentiality principle wasn't practiced. Now this is a concern to me because I have to attend some tribal support groups to help readjust back into the community. If I can't trust that what I say will stay within the group then we, as Native people aren't exercising our love, unity, and support for each other. There are way too many issues within our people and we all need safe places to get our problems off our chest. I've become very passionate about my NA and AA. The thought of me hosting my own AA groups did come across. I don't want drugs and alcohol to ruin the sacredness of our people. I am a very proud Oneida man and my culture runs deep in me. I was disappointed to hear what I heard from my mom so I hope I'm giving a voice, or being a voice for and with other people who may share my same concern and ambition. I am looking to help and try to better our people.

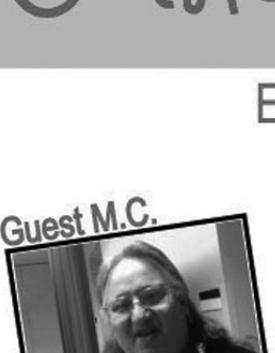

Sincerely,
Enrique Caravantes

Oneida Elder Named Purpose Prize Fellow

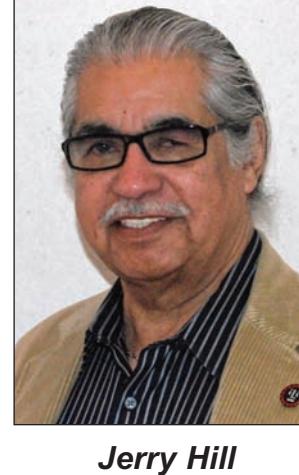

Purpose Prizes
Honor Americans Over Age 60 for making an Extraordinary Impact in their Encore Careers

ONEIDA, Wisc., Nov. 3 — Civic Ventures announced that Jerry L. Hill, from Oneida, is a 2011 Purpose Prize fellow. Hill was recognized as a social entrepreneur over 60 who, in his encore career, is using his experience and passion to make an extraordinary impact on society's biggest challenges. Now in its sixth year, the $17 million Purpose Prize program is the nation's only large-scale investment in social innovators in the second half of life.

Hill was named a fellow because of his consistent dedication to his Oneida culture and language. He was a language apprentice to Oneida Elder, Amos Christjohn, for 10 years, who inspired and encouraged other Oneidas to revitalize their language, participate in their cultural practices and to become educated as a path toward survival and good citizenship.

"While Purpose Prize fellows are helping to solve a wide range of pressing social problems, they have one thing in common," said Marc Freedman, CEO and founder of Civic Ventures and author of The Big Shift (PublicAffairs Books). "They – and millions of others in encore careers – are turning personal passions and decades of experience into invaluable contributions across sectors, continents and generations, often through entrepreneurship."

The approximately 300 attendees of the invitation-only Purpose Prize awards ceremony will hear from Prize judges, including NBC's Jane Pauley and Sherry Lansing, CEO of The Sherry Lansing Foundation and former chair of Paramount Motion Picture Group. The 28 judges – leaders in business, politics, journalism and the non-profit sector – chose the five winners from a pool of more than 1,000 nomnees.

"I believe my training as an attorney laid a groundwork for the discipline needed to pursue Native language revitalization efforts with other tribal members and Native people throughout North America," said Hill.

Funded by The Atlantic Philanthropies and the John Templeton Foundation, The Purpose Prize is a program of Civic Ventures' Encore Careers campaign (www.encore.org), which aims to engage millions of boomers in encore careers combining personal meaning, continued income and social impact in the second half of life.

Northeast WI Veterans Treatment Court to begin hearing cases

Green Bay — Military veterans involved in the criminal justice system soon will have the opportunity to request enrollment in a court-monitored treatment and accountability program when Brown County launches northeast Wisconsin's first Veterans Treatment Court.

The Northeast Wisconsin Veterans Treatment Court (NEWVTC) will be joining more than twenty other Veterans Treatment Courts across the nation that focus on the unique circumstances that can impact the lives of men and women who have served in uniform. The courts, similar in principal to drug and mental health courts, link justice-involved veterans with treatment, recovery, and rehabilitative services to address the invisible wounds of post-traumatic stress disorder and mild to moderate traumatic brain injury; mental illness; and substance abuse that, left unaddressed, may become underlying causes of criminal behavior.

The Northeast Wisconsin Veterans Treatment Court will offer eligible veterans a supervised and coordinated program of treatment, services, and mentoring designed to help justice-involved veterans overcome service-related problems and once again become contributing members of the community.

Court partners and stakeholders include the Department of Veterans Affairs, the Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs, representatives from Brown County's District Attorney's and Public Defender's offices; Law Enforcement and Department of Corrections professionals; the Human Services Department; local Veterans Service Organizations including a representative from the veterans of the Oneida Tribe of Indians; and volunteer veteran mentors.

With a clear focus on public safety and improving the success of veterans in their translation into civilian life, the court is designed to rely on available resources and community support without requiring new taxpayer dollars. Although the court seeks to assist veterans, they are held accountable for their conduct before and during the program: the obligation to conform to the court's rules and expectations is stringent and compliance is mandatory.

Judge Robert Russell in Buffalo, NY established the nation's first Veterans Treatment Court in 2008. Judge Russell has addressed the Wisconsin State Bar to report that the Buffalo court has been successful in helping veterans since its inception and has saved his state an estimated $12 million in social services costs. Wisconsin established its first Veterans Treatment Court in September 2009 in Rock County, with other courts established in Wisconsin since that time.

Law signed letting UND drop Fighting Sioux name

By Dale Wetzel and Amber Hunt
Associated Press

BISMARCK, N.D. ~ Like many of her classmates and University of North Dakota students who came before her, senior Annie Hessinger says it doesn't matter that the school is shedding its 81-year-old nickname after a drawn-out dispute with the NCAA. She's Fighting Sioux and always will be, no matter what new nickname the school eventually picks.

She'll still wear clothing bearing the Fighting Sioux logo, a colorful profile of an American Indian warrior's head. And she'll carry on school traditions that started long before she arrived, such as ending the national anthem with "home of the Sioux" instead of "home of the brave" before games.

"I've grown up going to Sioux games. My whole family has gone here," said the 21-year-old graphic design major, whose parents and three siblings attended UND. "It's not just the hockey team or the athletic teams. All the students here are Fighting Sioux."

Gov. Jack Dalrymple signed a law Wednesday overturning a last-ditch attempt in March by the Legislature - which counts many UND alumni among its members - to mandate that UND keep the Fighting Sioux name. That maneuvering caused scheduling headaches for UND teams and threatened its bid to join the Big Sky Conference as it transitions from Division II to Division I sports.

Since August, the NCAA has banned UND from hosting postseason tournaments and said the school's athletes may not wear uniforms with the nickname or logo during postseason play.

"Being forced to change what you're called doesn't mean changing who you are," said Democratic Sen. Mac Schneider of Grand Forks, a former UND offensive lineman. "We are the University of North Dakota, and we'll always be fighting."

The NCAA in 2005 placed UND on a list of schools with American Indian nicknames, logos and mascots that it found objectionable, and UND was the last holdout on that list. Some schools were able to keep their nicknames by getting permission from the tribes.

But while the Spirit Lake Sioux tribe endorsed the Fighting Sioux nickname, the Standing Rock Sioux's tribal council refused.

UND teams have been known as the Fighting Sioux since 1930. Those who support the name echo the argument made by fans of other teams with American Indian mascots - that it is part of the school's heritage and is a sign of respect that honors proud American Indian traditions.

But critics say that naming sports teams after Indians, a historically disenfranchised race of people, is demeaning and even racist.

"It's all about athletics. That's the only reason they're going along with the change," said B.J. Rainbow, 31, a UND graduate who was among a group of students in April who filed a federal lawsuit to ban the further use of Fighting Sioux imagery.

"There isn't anything about the hurt," he said.

The university has to change a lot more than mindsets. The Fighting Sioux logo and moniker appear on everything, from merchandise to the privately financed arena where the hockey teams play. The school estimates it will cost almost $750,000 to paint over, scrub out or otherwise remove old logos, order new uniforms and gear for its teams, change its stationery and update its websites.

Some remnants are likely to remain. Inside the privately owned Ralph Engelstad Arena are thousands of granite and metal Indian head logos, including one huge logo inlaid into the floor inside the building's main entrance. Jody Hodgson, the arena's manager, previously has estimated it would cost about $1 million to have most of them removed. He declined to comment when reached Wednesday.

Under the law signed Wednesday, UND can't adopt a new nickname or logo until January 2015 - a provision intended to allow the furor over the change to quiet before the university re-brands itself, officials said.

"I think we can agree that the NCAA has been frustratingly obstinate on this issue," said state Rep. Stacey Dahl, who wrote the provision. "But I assure you that it's not the NCAA who will be hurt if we do not repeal this law. It's going to be our student athletes and Division I sports at UND."

Dean Blais, who led UND to two national championships during a long tenure coaching men's hockey at the school, said UND students and alumni treat the Fighting Sioux name with reverence, and that he doesn't think they should be forced to abandon it.

"It means the world. The Fighting Sioux were exactly that. They were a proud tribe," said Blais, who now coaches at the University of Nebraska-Omaha.

He said the debate over the name was just gaining steam when he left the school in 2004.

"That was very upsetting to me, being the head coach there, knowing what the Fighting Sioux name meant to all our alumni and anyone who put on that jersey," he said. "That was a big thorn in my side when I was head coach."

Senecas want arbitrator to settle dispute with NY

By Carolyn Thompson
Associated Press

BUFFALO, N.Y. ~ The Seneca Indian Nation will seek expedited arbitration to settle a dispute with New York that has held up payment of $330 million in gambling profits to the state and three cities where the tribe has casinos.

Seneca President Robert Odawi Porter said Thursday that Gov. Andrew Cuomo had failed to make a good faith effort to resolve the nearly 3-year-old impasse over whether the state's expansion of gambling violates its 2002 casino compact with the Senecas.

"This action has resulted in significant hardships for a number of communities in the state which had specific line item expenditures associated with these revenue payments," wrote Howard Glaser, director of state operations.

Porter called the letter "inflammatory." The tribe, he said, had given the new administration time to pursue good faith negotiations before continuing with arbitration, only to find out this week that it wasn't interested.

"This is a very frustrating scenario, 10 months later, to finally hear that arbitration is the official position for resolving the dispute," Porter said. "It's wasted an awful lot of time for our nation and for the local governments who've been hanging out there without getting paid."

In Albany, Cuomo laughed at the idea that his administration has moved at a glacial pace.

"Yes, that's us, we're known for glacial-type movement," he told reporters. "We're looking and have been looking to resolve the differences as quickly as possible."

Halloween Boo Bash a success

Submitted by Oneida Recreation

Halloween was a BLAST, or should I say a BASH! The Oneida Recreation Department hosted one of the most successful Halloween parties to date. On Friday, October 28, 2011 the annual Boo Bash took place, and had over 900 attendees. The kids took a walk through our "spooky" maze and trick-or-treated to earn a bag full of treats. There were over 30 sponsored booths and 60 volunteers helping man those booths. After trick-or-treating through the Civic Center all youth ages 0-8 could partake in a costume contest. Over 300 youth competed in the contest.

Oneida Recreation is dedicated to teaching the youth about character and this event is a great example of people in our community showing and living by character. We want to take the opportunity to thank all volunteers and sponsors.

UWGB designing new Oneida language website

By Jamison King
ANA Multi-Media Specialist

Volunteers from The University of Wisconsin Green Bay are in the process of designing a new Oneida Language website. Students, Drew Hanson Larson and Ben Buhr have been instrumental in making this website user-friendly and accessible for users of all ages. Hanson-Larson and Buhr are currently in the graphic and web design program at UWGB.

The staff is Jeff Benzow and Dr. Cliff Abbott. Benzow is the Associate Professor of Arts in Visual and Graphic design. Dr. Abbott is a Professor of Information and Computing Sciences in the American and First Nations Studies and has been involved in the Oneida language for over 30 years. He helped develop an Oneida dictionary along with Maria Hinton and Amos Christjohn and has advanced that into an online dictionary which will be incorporated onto the new website.

The professors as well as the students have been volunteering their time to make this project possible. Oneida cultural heritage staff has been meeting with the University giving input on how they wanted the website to be laid out. The design and layout of the page are nearly completed. This will be very beneficial to Oneida community members looking to have access to Oneida language and Oneida language materials anytime via the internet.

The project is on pace to be finished sometime this winter, if not early spring and will be at the same web address at the current language website oneidanation.org/language.

This new website will make it easier for us to add our language materials and edit content as well as incorporate the Oneida font with in the web page, which is very challenging because of the unique font system with our language.

On October 20th, Oneida Cultural Heritage staff along with Oneida tourism presented the two students and staff with some gifts to show our appreciation for the hard work, dedication and volunteering their time to helping make this new website possible.

We would like to encourage everyone to go to the current website and practice the Oneida language oneidanation.org/language.

OBH sponsoring new groups

Oneida Behavioral Health is happy to announce that there are several new groups plus the already existing support and therapy groups available for our community members to utilize. We are attempting to provide new options that will meet the community's needs for services and support.

You are encouraged to call if you or someone you know has an interest or need for support in any of the group topics listed below. Some groups have already started and some will be starting soon.

New group members are welcome. Those groups listed as support groups can be used on an as-needed basis without committing to a certain number of sessions. The Wellness Support Group is offered daily at various times to accommodate participant schedules.

Various treatment groups continue to be offered Monday-Thursday and are scheduled based on individual assessments.

Please call and let us know what you are looking for!

Oaéida VETERANS DAY 2011

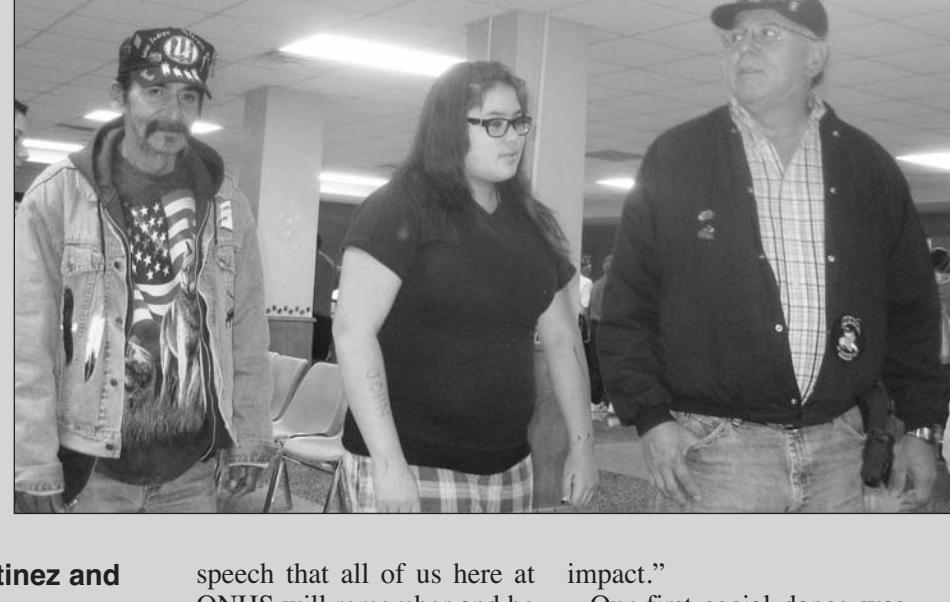

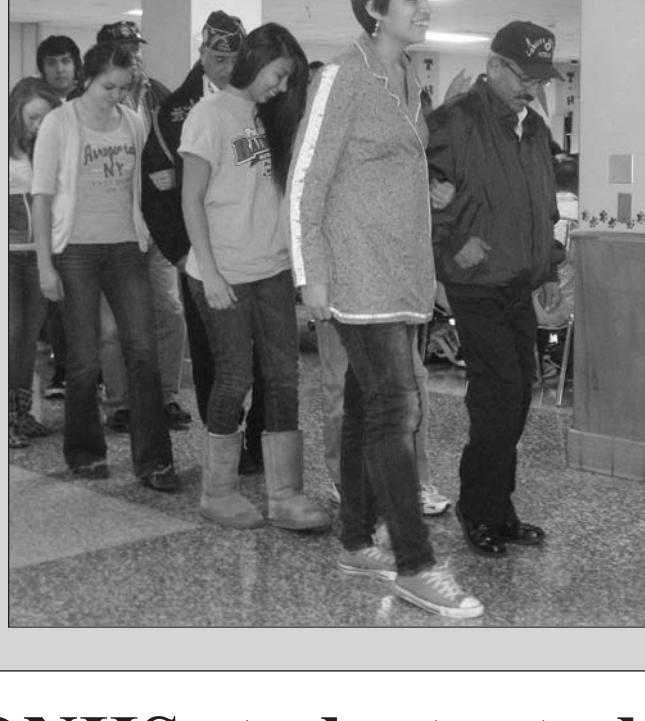

Thunderhawk

Oneida Nation High School honors area veterans

Photos by Becky Anderson

More than a dozen veterans joined students and staff at Oneida Nation High School on Thursday, November 10, in honor of Veterans Day. ONHS Student Council members and other students socialized with the vets as they ate lunch together. Afterward, the students heard from some of the vets and their experiences in the military and afterward before a social dance was held in their honor. Senior Mason Powless served as MC for the event and Senior Jaleesa Caldwell and Junior Heather Stevens introduced the veterans and gave them certificates in recognition of their service to their country and to the Oneida community.

By Kota Martinez and Tasha Stevens

Thunderhawk Times

ONHS honored the veterans in our community on Thursday, November 10.

Student Council invited veterans to come and join us for lunch and social dances.

As we ate, the veterans shared their experiences that make them our heroes today. One of our community veterans, Dan King, gave us a speech that all of us here at ONHS will remember and be thankful for our veterans.

Melvin Fish, a freshman, said, "It was pretty cool. Dan King's talk was really cool. He said a lot of stuff I didn't know."

Noelle Metoxen, a junior, said, "Dan King's talk was very educational. The numbers and statistics about the names on the Vietnam Wall, for instance, had a lot of impact."

Our first social dance was the Friendship Dance. Following that, were the Alligator and Robin. The dances are usually sung when you invite people in and accompany them by showing care and respect. The students and teachers invited the veterans to dance with them. It was an enjoyable experience for ONHS.

ONHS students study niacin in corn

By Noelle Metoxen

Thunderhawk Times

ONHS students in Becky Nutt's classes are hard at work on their science projects for the 2011-2012 school year.

The project I have chosen relates a lot to the way Native Americans process their corn. There is a disparity between the Europeans and Native Americans. There was an increasingly huge difference in the result of the corn the Europeans, and the corn Native Americans were processing. The Europeans were developing a disease; they then began to point the finger at the corn. Eventually, they witnessed the Native Americans eating corn, with no fatal results. The Europeans began to realize that it was not the corn, but maybe the way they prepared the corn that caused such an extravagant difference.

Europeans were processing their corn by boiling it and then grinding it. From there, they would make it into bread and food. A common result to European corn processing was pellagra.

Pellagra is a vitamin deficiency disease. This is caused by the lack of niacin in the body (Dittaeva, 2002). On the other hand, the Native Americans would boil their corn, but along with this, they would put in wood ash to boil along with it. This was the only different factor between the Europeans and the Native Americans, yet it made a remarkable difference. When I heard this section in history, I became curious as to why the difference in the way the corn was processed made an incredible difference in the outcome of the corn.

The natives of Mexico and Central America had always used an efficient technique of soaking the corn in alkali before cooking. Alkali is a basic, ionic salt. Having the corn soaked in this helps to unlock the niacin in the corn. Niacin is vitamin B, an organic compound with the formula C₆H₅NO₂ (Farmer, M. 2002). Your body needs this, otherwise you can become very sick and diseased with cases such as or related to, pellagra.

I am excited to experience and work with the different forms of corn processing. I will test which unlocks more niacin and why. Then I will be able to put a better understanding on the reason for the result in the processing of corn. It obviously does make a huge difference, and I am about to see why.

Child Brides

By Cody Cornelius

Thunderhawk Times

In social studies class, we studied the issue of "child brides." This is a bigger problem than many people think. Here are some facts:

Over the next decade, another 100 million girls will become child brides.

Risk factors for young teen girls who give birth are greatly increased.

Sexual disparity in child marriages increases risk of AIDS.

The majority of child marriages occur in West and East Africa and South Asia.

Congratulations to Senior class for winning the overall competition, and a Pizza Party. Other students also qualified for the pizza party by helping cleanup the school grounds with toilet paper.

The classes that took the various competitions were: Dress-Up, Seniors; Attendance, Freshmen; Hall Decorating, Juniors; Tug-of-War, Juniors; Human Pyramid, Sophomores; Scooter Races, Seniors; and 3-on-3 basketball, Juniors.

The "Leonard Peltier Walk for Human Rights" will kick off on December 18, 2011, at Alcatraz Island.

Two members of the Oneida, Wisconsin community are board members of the Leonard Peltier Defense Offense Committee. They are Dorothy Ninham and Gina Buenrostro. People who want more information can contact either of these two ladies.

His case hasn't been forgotten.

There will be a walk regarding Leonard and for Human Rights. The walk will begin in California and end in

Senior Plans After High School

Jaleesa Caldwell

Thunderhawk Times

With about 20 seniors here at ONHS, each and every one of them are on track for graduation this, 2011-2012 School Year.

After talking with many of them, most plan on going to college and obtaining many different degrees. Some of them are still clueless on what they want to do, but with the school year almost half way done they are now starting to make their decisions. Some of them plan on going out of state just to try something new. But most of them are staying close.

My plan is to go somewhere small like Haskell for the first two years so I can get a feel for the college life, then, after I do that, I want to transfer to a big university like UW-Oshkosh or UW-Green Bay to finish off college for however long it will take to obtain a masters in social work or psychotherapy. I want to go into the social work field because I like helping people.

After a master's degree, I want to go for a doctorate because I want to be just like my grandfather, Ken Ninham who is a doctorate in philosophy and works part-time as a psychotherapist and works with many different reservations in Wisconsin and runs a private practice.

I also would like to do this because I grew up in a family of counselors, psychotherapists, and doctors I think It would only be right to keep up the little 'family tradition' of going into the social work field like most of my family.

College to me is very important. Later in life it will definitely pay off because you'll be successful in whatever job you choose. Even if your plan is to take a break after high school and start college maybe a year later, that's cool but I think going to college will probably be one of the best decisions you'll ever make, and you'll be forever thankful for it in the long run.

When asked what he loves about football, University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh (UWO) Left Tackle replies - everything.

"Hitting people, the team atmosphere, the bond that you build with the players on the team, we're like a big family," he said.

Nicholas is hoping to attract the attention of professional football scouts when he plays in the Metrodome All American Bowl on Saturday, December 17 held in Minneapolis. Nicholas was invited to attend the 16th Annual Metrodome All American Bowl. Division II, Division III, and Semi Pro all-stars from around the country will be participating in the two All American Bowl all-star games. The Metrodome event also includes a scouting combine the day before the games.

"I'm really excited to go," said Nichols.

Nicolas is a four year starter for the UWO Titans which wrapped up their football season with seven wins and three losses, which is their best season since 1976.

Nicholas has earned three varsity letters and was named to the Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference All Conference - Honorable

The facts on artificial sweeteners

By Brady Goldschmidt
UWGB Dietetic Intern

People may wonder "What is the frequency of use for artificial sweeteners?" "Is one artificial sweetener safer than another?" These are understandable questions as some artificial sweeteners have reported to possibly cause cancer, migraine headaches and depression. Consumers are researching and continuously acquiring new information on the topic of artificial sweeteners. Artificial sweeteners can be correlated into individualized diet plans in many ways. Some of these ways are safety, weight loss, and consumption.

Are Sweeteners SAFE? Yes, all sweeteners are approved by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and generally recognized as safe (GRAS). However, in 1974, critics believed that quality of initial research supporting aspartame safety was inadequate and that consuming large amounts could be the cause of numerous health risks such as migraine headaches, nausea and depression. The Government Accountability Office concluded that the food additive approval process had been followed properly and described aspartame as one of the most thoroughly tested and studied food additives the FDA has ever approved. The number of Americans who consume sugar-free, artificially sweetened products has grown from less than 70 million in 1987 to more than 160 million in 2000. The FDA works to ensure products are safe before they hit grocery shelves. All artificial sweeteners are classified as safe. A range of products is available as food manufacturers look for shelf stability and taste. There is a variety of artificial sweeteners to choose from for future use.

Artificial sweeteners can be substituted into individualized diet plans to help aide in weight loss. Out of all the artificial sweeteners, only Splenda contains four calories per gram. All other artificial sweeteners are "calorie free" which allows consumers to maintain a healthier weight since no extra calories are being added to their diet when using these products. Artificial sweeteners for a Diabetic Diet are considered "Free Foods" as they do not count as a carbohydrate choice or increase blood glucose levels like regular table sugar would. People consuming artificial sweeteners on a regular basis must understand that these products taste sweeter than regular sugar. Therefore, through the use of artificial sweeteners in baked goods or daily usage when sprinkling it on your cereal in the morning, it allows you to cut back on calories by decreasing the consumption of refined sugars.

The chart below depicts several types of artificial sweeteners and demonstrates additional information on the products such as general use and sweetness factors.

This leads to the next question of "What frequency should these products be consumed?" Artificial Sweeteners are attractive to the eye of the consumer but we must remember we only need a fraction of the sweetener compared to the regular sugared item used because of its sweeter taste. Artificial Sweeteners are also used in many products we buy everyday such as: soft drinks, candy, dairy products and jams which means people should read labels to see what items already contain these sweeteners. While the FDA has not passed a daily intake recommendation for consumption of artificial sweeteners, they do appear to be safe for diabetes and weight loss. They should continue to be used with discretion.

Fatal overdoses from painkillers triple in decade

By Stephanie Nano
Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) ~ The number of overdose deaths from powerful painkillers more than tripled over a decade, the U.S. government reported Tuesday - a trend that one health official called an epidemic, but one that can be stopped.

Prescription painkillers such as OxyContin, Vicodin and methadone led to the deaths of almost 15,000 people in 2008, including actor Heath Ledger. That's more than three times the 4,000 deaths from narcotics in 1999.

Such painkillers "are meant to help people who have severe pain," said Dr. Thomas Frieden, director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, which issued the report. "They are, however, highly addictive."

The report shows nearly 5 percent of Americans ages 12 and older said they've abused painkillers in the past year - using them without a prescription or just for the high.

The overdose deaths reflect the spike in the number of narcotic painkillers prescribed every year - enough to give every American a one-month supply, Frieden said.

Prescriptions rose as doctors aimed to better treat pain and as new painkillers hit the market.

Frieden and White House drug czar Gil Kerlikowske said states need to take sharp actions to reverse the long-running trend.

States oversee prescription practices and can rigorously monitor prescriptions and crack down on "pill mills" and "doctor shopping" by patients, Frieden said.

Doctors should limit prescriptions - giving only a three-day supply for acute pain, for example - and look for alternative treatments, he said.

"For chronic pain, narcotics should be the last resort," he added.

A federal drug plan announced this year calls for state programs to track prescriptions. All but two states - Missouri and New Hampshire - have approved them, said Kerlikowske. But a number of states don't have them in place yet or doctors aren't using them enough to check on their patients' past prescriptions, he said.

"America's prescription drug abuse epidemic is not a problem that's going to be solved overnight, but at the same time, we're not powerless," said Kerlikowske, who urged parents to get rid of unneeded or expired painkillers so they aren't misused.

Some states are taking action. Earlier this month, a doctor in California was sentenced to prison for illegally selling tens of thousands of prescriptions for painkillers and sedatives. Ohio now requires pain clinics to be licensed by the state, and limits the amount of pills that can be dispensed at clinics. Florida also has cracked down on so-called "pill mills."

Overall, there were 36,450 fatal overdoses in 2008, including accidental cases and suicides involving illegal drugs like heroin and cocaine along with prescription medicines. About three-quarters of the deaths from prescriptions involved narcotic painkillers.

That's the year Ledger died from an accidental overdose of painkillers and sedatives. A few months later, a 12-year-old girl from suburban New York overdosed on methadone she bought from a 15-year-old boy.

Narcotics also played a role in the recent deaths of a 27-year-old model at the mansion of an Anheuser-Busch heir and of former hockey player Derek Boogaard.

Other findings of the CDC report:

- New Mexico had the highest overdose death rate (27 per 100,000) and Nebraska had the lowest (5.5). The national rate was 11.9.

- Fatal overdoses were more likely in men, middle-aged adults and whites and American Indians.

All customers who use

Oneida Health Center Pharmacy for Prescriptions:

The Oneida Pharmacy will now require a legal I.D. at the time of registration in the pharmacy and when the patient or representative picks up a prescription.

This process was initiated on January 1, 2011 requiring the patient or their representative show a legal form of identification (Tribal I.D. or Drivers License) at the time of registration in the pharmacy, to pick up prescriptions.

Oneida Pharmacy will now require each patient or their designated representative present a legal Identification to PICK UP prescriptions.

Please plan ahead to avoid delays when picking up prescriptions at Oneida Pharmacy.

Note: The busiest time for pick-up for prescriptions is Friday afternoons. Please avoid these times, if possible to avoid a delay in service and to avoid long lines. This will help you and everyone to keep the prescription pick up smooth and efficient.

Thank You for your help and cooperation.

Events at the Oneida Nation Museum

Did you know that the Oneida Nation Museum hosts a variety of events for people of all ages? This past year, the museum organized a traditional clothing making class, held in conjunction with the Flying Leaves Community Center. We also continued our Super Saturday Activities during the summer, our music series featuring local artists, and a storytelling series.

Still to come this year, will be a screening of the movie "Reel Injun: On the Trail of the Hollywood Indian." The screening will be hosted by Richie Plass on November 19th from 10am-6pm. The movie will be played at 10am and 2pm. Local musical artists, the Flying Feather Band will perform at 12pm and 4pm...

Also, starting the week of November 21, the museum will host its annual Youth Art Exhibition and Silent Auction. Oneida students at the high school level submit art to be displayed at the museum. While on display, community members have the opportunity to bid on the art. All of the proceeds go back to the artists.

As 2011 is beginning to wind down, we are busy planning the many events that we will host next year.

On June 8-9, 2012, the museum will be unveiling a traveling temporary exhibit, entitled "Power of Place – Strength of Being." This exhibit will feature the artwork of Iroquois artist, Sam Thomas. Mr. Thomas is a member of the Lower Cayuga Band of the Iroquois Nation and is world-renowned for his beadwork. In conjunction with the exhibit, Sam will be conducting a series of beadwork classes at the museum and at Bear Paw Keepsakes. A schedule of classes will be posted in a future edition.

In late 2011, the museum will begin activities related to the recent award of a grant from the IMLS. A large portion of the grant covers the repair and stabilization of a one-of-a-kind man made from braided and stitched cornhusks. First, "Corn husk Man" will undergo a CAT scan at a local hospital so that we can see what is inside of him. Then, a professional conservator, Anton Rajer, will formulate a plan to support and stabilize "Corn husk Man" so that he can be displayed at the museum. The conservation work will take place at the museum, beginning in March 2012. The general public is invited to take part in and track this unique journey to repair this rare object. The museum will be hosting several events throughout this project.

The Oneida Nation Museum may be a small place, but we have BIG plans and hope to see you soon. For information on these or any other future event contact the Oneida Nation Museum at (920) 869-6539. The Museum is located at W892 County Road EE, near the intersection of County Road E and EE, next to the Redstone Elderly Complex and by the Anna John Nursing Home.

Oneida Library News

The Oneida Community Library and Green Earth Branch Library have so much to share with you this winter season! We hope you'll come in soon and check out our new videos, we've even started adding a few seasons of television shows at our Elm St. location.

At the Green Earth Branch Library, a new toddler program has begun in addition to the Toddler Mornings! It's called Techie Toddlers, and toddlers—anyone in the 0-6 crowd, actually, can visit Green Earth and experiment with technology and learning! Call 920-833-7226 for more information and the schedule!

There are more books being added to our shelves on a daily basis at our Elm St. location!

Knockout Interviews with Doctors who are Curing Cancer by Suzanne Somers is in, as are some really cool hunting books donated and On the Hunt: The History of Deer Hunting in Wisconsin by Robert C. Willging will be added to our shelves shortly!

Christmas cookbooks, and authors like James Patterson, John Grisham, Elizabeth Scott, and Maureen Johnson, characters such as Babymouse, Flash, Bad Kitty, Chet Gecko, and Disney Princesses, Daniel X, there's something for everyone—even Joseph Bruchac has a new book this year that will be here soon!

The library will be closed for the Thanksgiving holiday from November 24-26, we hope to see you on Monday, November 28! We open at 10:00 a.m. Monday – Thursday, 1 p.m. on Friday and again on 10:00 on Saturday, except on holiday weekends.

For the month of December, we'll be having the 9th annual YAB (Youth Appreciation Bash), December 27-30, pick up a schedule/agenda for activities in the beginning of December at the front desk.

Every Monday is still Monday Movie Madness—your household gets one large bag of popcorn if you check out three movies! Every Friday is still Free Fax Friday, up to 15 pages free faxing, Fridays only-$0.50/page, otherwise. Friend us/Like us on Facebook for these kinds of reminders.

Something to think about: the summer reading programs happen from June to August at both libraries. They've been going on Monday –Friday from 1-3 p.m. for the last 8 years or so. That's a lot of programs (49 plus teen programs = over 100 hours a summer of community interaction at both libraries!) If you have something you could offer the children of our community:

knowledge, craftwork, storytelling, or reading, call the libraries at 920-869-2210 or 920-833-7226 to find out how you could become a volunteer for the summer programs. The summer theme is Dream Big: Read, so the possibilities for programs and fun are limitless!
