

Proposed budget cuts jeopardize two WI Indian health clinics

By Dawn Walschinski
Kalihwisaks

Donald Johnson is a greeter at the United Amerindian Health Center in Green Bay. Normally the elderly man will smile and offer you a cup of coffee, but ask him about proposed federal budget cuts that would close 17 urban Indian Health clinics, and his Menominee warrior blood rises.

"That would be disastrous to the people because this is needed. This ain't a want, it's a need. It's a treaty right for us to have service, Bush don't understand that," he said.

President Bush has proposed in his 2007 budget eliminating $33 million that goes to 34 urban Indian health clinics across the country. The cuts could mean 17 of the clinics would close including the Gerald L. Ignace Indian Health Center in Milwaukee and the Amerindian Center in Green Bay.

The cuts are proposed to reduce redundancy. Clients of the closed clinics would go to federally funded community health centers which would receive a $181 million increase to expand or build new centers.

However, opponents of the plan argue that not enough research has been done on the impact such closures would have on urban Indians.

"Congress really needs to do an impact study before an elimination so we do know the ramifications of this kind of a closure could be," said Oneida Business Committee vice-chairwoman Kathy Hughes who testified in Washington against the cuts and for a re-authorized Indian Health Care Improvement act.

One concern is that the inner-city Indian clinics often focus on health issues that disproportionately effect Native Americans such as diabetes.

The Gerald L. Ignace center offers comprehensive diabetic programs such as a nutritionist, mini-gym and cooking classes.

Two Oneida business leaders and one Oneida tribal member who heads a national non-profit organization that preserves and protects Native languages were honored with a Chairman's Leadership Award by the National Indian Gaming Association (NIGA) on Monday, April 3, in Albuquerque, N.M. The honoring was held on the first day of NIGA's 15th annual trade show and membership meeting, which took place from April 2 to 5 at the Albuquerque Convention Center.

Ernie Stevens, Jr., an Oneida tribal member who has served as NIGA Chairman for the past five years, presented the prestigious awards to Artley Skenandore, Chief Executive Officer of Nature's Way Tissue Corp. and Patricia Lassila, former President of the Oneida Airport Hotel Corp.

Planning and Social Policy. He has served in various administrative positions with the Oneida Tribe of Indians for more than 30 years. Recently he led negotiations with the State of Wisconsin for a successful gaming compact, as well as negotiations and settlement talks on Wisconsin Oneida land claims in New York State.

Gollnick has a long list of service and affiliations. Among them is a presidential appointment as vice chairperson of the National Advisory Council on Indian Education and service as a consultant to the White House Conference on Indian Education. He has had two Wisconsin gubernatorial appointments, including chairperson of the Wisconsin State American Indian Language and Culture Education Board, and the Wisconsin State Chapter 2 Advisory Committee that he served as secretary.

He has won awards from entities including the National Indian Gaming Association, the Oneida Tribal School Board, the Oneida Tribe, the Great Lakes Inter-Tribal Council, the Wisconsin Indian Education Association, and the Harvard Graduate School of Education, among others.

Other honorees at the dinner will be Betsy Hendrickson, an honorary chairperson of the UW-Green Bay capital campaign; and Paul Linzmeyer, president of Bay Towel, Inc. Outstanding Recent Alumni Awards will be presented to David Lamers, Kaukauna, and Veronica Brieno Rankin, South Range, Mich.

In addition to the awards made to alumni, an "Honorary Alumna" award will be given to her family in honor of Kathy Majewski, who was a student at UW-Green Bay when she died in 1999. Her parents, Jim and Mary Lou Majewski of Pulaski, have created a scholarship in her memory at UW-Green Bay. The Association also will acknowledge former members of its board at the dinner event.

"Our argument is that we are not duplicative, but that we actually compliment what community health centers are doing," said director of the Gerald L. Ignace Health Center Jone Stromberg.

Executive director of the Amerindian Center David Webster said cuts would mean losing money for transporting people from Green Bay to the Oneida Community Health Center, an on-site nurse and administrative positions.

"We get a diabetes grant and that wouldn't be effected by the cut, but we wouldn't have anyone to administer it," said Webster.

Another concern is the community health centers that would fill the gap are already overwhelmed with patients.

"In Milwaukee, they have had to stop seeing people who are uninsured because they don't have sufficient funding," said Stromberg.

Currently the Gerald L. Ignace Center sees 2000 clients a year with the majority being 629 Oneidas.

The Amerindian Center gets about 600 visits a month with most of the clients being either Oneida or Menominee. Webster noted that the community health center in Green Bay "has pretty limited hours and pretty limited service."

Also, there is a lack of familiarity that may discourage Native Americans from going to the centers other than in extreme health situations.

"Rather than taking preventative measures for keeping the diseases from getting worse, (clients) will wait till the last minute to go in and then the treatments will be much more costly," said Hughes.

Both the Gerald L. Ignace and Amerindian centers offer Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse (AODA) counseling. The Milwaukee center also offers traditional healing support groups, a computer resource center for job searches and referrals for access to housing and food.

"There's just that connection that we create to identify with their own culture and that often means more in helping in the healing process than if you give people drugs," said Stromberg.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

*The Rose...
A rose once grew where all could see,
sheltered beside a garden wall.
And as the days passed swiftly by,
it spread its branches straight and tall...
One day, a beam of light shone through a crevice that had opened wide-
The rose bent gently toward its warmth then passed beyond to the other side...
Now, the rose blooms there
It's beauty even greater now, nurtured by God's loving care.*

Elderly Independent living From Page 1/NIGA Award recipients

By Steve Gandy

Kalihwisaks

The goal of the Oneida Nations Elderly Services program is to make life easier and safer for the elders, and the scope is reservation wide. Some of the many benefits that Elderly Services provide to the Oneida community elders are respite care, in-home chore workers, Alzheimer groups and elderly abuse prevention. Tina Pospychala, Assistant Director of Elderly Services says, "We provide 2-4 hours of care per day or per week depending on what (resources) we have available." All of the available services must be scheduled through Elderly Services and priority will be given to individuals whom are 70 or older. The Oneida Nations Elderly Services provides all services to members 55 years of age and older.

These Services also include a housing provision. Elderly services operates and maintains an independent living apartment complex on South Overland consisting of 29 units.

Although the units are located directly adjacent to the elderly Services building, tenants live independently and receive assistance from the staff when they (tenant) requests assistance. "They (tenants) pay rent every month just like other communities," Pospychala said. They have all the rights and responsibilities, independence and freedoms as every other tenant in the state of Wisconsin. Conversely, the management and staff are also bound to the same laws as every other property-owner in the state. They cannot enter units without permission or without 24 hours notice.

While being an independent living facility, there is still a staff member on hand that will take care of emergencies, repairs and the concerns of their residents.

William and Rose Cooper are residents of the apartment complex and have lived there since September of 1997. Both enjoy the community in which they live. They utilize a walking trail, approximately 1/3 mile long, 3-4 times in a week. Activities, meeting and the occasional road trip are also on the Cooper's agenda.

tribal language preservation and protection.

Gerald (Jerry) Hill, another Oneida tribal member, who serves as the President of the Indigenous Language Institute (ILI) in Santa Fe, N.M., accepted the NIGA award on behalf of the Institute's language protection and preservation efforts.

"The Chairman's Leadership Award is one of the top honors that NIGA gives each year; the award recognizes both tribes and individuals across the United States - and, I'm especially proud to recognize the efforts and accomplishments of my brothers and sister from the Oneida Tribe," said Stevens. "Pat, Artley and Jerry bring great credit to our tribe; and I am especially pleased to see their hard work on behalf of the Oneida Tribe - and Indian Country - recognized by association that I am so proud to serve."

"This award is perceived (by me) to be a recognition of the tribes that are investors in Nature's Way Tissue Corp., and their diversification vision," said Skenandore, noting that the Oneida Tribe's Seven Generations Corp. and the Spirit Lake Nation in Fort Totten, N.D., are the two tribal investors, along with Skenandore. "As investors, we have 51 percent of the company's shares," Skenandore noted.

"This award recognizes the two tribes and their continued efforts to diversify the economy," added Skenandore, noting that the Spirit Lake Tribe also own a varsity bag business, that NIGA uses to produce give-away bags for its trade shows. The tribe also owns Sioux Manufacturing, a defense manufacturing business and a successful resort on the edge of Spirit Lake. The Oneida Tribe also has experienced success in the convenience store business, banking and agriculture, said Skenandore. "I look upon this award as an acknowledgment of their (the tribes') vision."

Lassila served as President of the Oneida Airport Hotel Corp. for twelve years. She currently operates a restaurant in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, with her daughter.

"I started my career at the Radisson Hotel and Conference Center in 1988 as a waitress, working for the management company that operated our hotel at the time; and I was able to work my way up the ladder over the years," said Lassila. "When I started my position as President, one of my first jobs was to transition our hotel from the management company to the Oneida Airport Hotel Corp., a process that took about four years."

"I also worked on two expansion projects totaling 30 million dollars, which I am proud to say both came in under budget," noted Lassila. "One of the biggest challenges for me was being a woman in a male dominated business."

"Our surrounding community never thought that we would be as successful as we are today," said Lassila. "This year, our hotel will be celebrating our 20-year anniversary."

"Several year's ago, I approached Mr. Stevens and the NIGA board of directors regarding the hospitality industry; I thought it was a great opportunity to share my experience as a hotelier with other tribes because of the number of casinos that were being built in Indian Country -- that is how the NIGA Hospitality Network got its start," said Lassila.

"Pat was largely responsible for the success of the National Indian Gaming Hospitality Network; and it will be very hard to fill her shoes now that she's no longer here," said Stevens, as he presented the award. "At NIGA, Pat helped me personally to highlight the Indian gaming hospitality industry, which is an important component of our work to promote Native owned businesses."

"It was my and Pat's goal to get the two groups of people - those who represent the gaming side and those on the hospitality side of our Native casinos - to work together in both a proactive manner and in a way that will most benefit our communities in the end," said Stevens.

"I think that it is important that we share our knowledge with other Native American tribes," said Lassila. "I think it is also important that we give back to the community."

NIGA's 15th Annual Trade Show and Membership Meeting concluded with an attendance of almost 5,000 attendees and some 400 exhibiting companies.

The NIGA trade show now ranks among the top five conventions that Albuquerque hosts.

Oneida Appeals Quarterly Report

Initial Review Decisions

Rule 9(D) – Criteria for Acceptance: The Initial Review Body shall accept an appeal for appellate review if one or more of the following elements are sufficiently alleged to exist in the original hearing body decision by the Appellant in the Notice of Appeal:

- (1) A violation of constitutional provisions;
- (2) The decision is outside the scope of the authority or otherwise unlawful;
- (3) The decision is clearly erroneous and is against the weight of the evidence presented at the hearing level;
- (4) The decision is arbitrary and/or capricious;
- (5) There is exhibited a procedural irregularity which would be considered a harmful error that may have contributed to the final decision, which if the error had not occurred, would have altered the final decision;
- (6) There is a presentation or introduction of new evidence that was not available at the hearing level which, if available, may have altered the final decision.

To conserve time and space provided, the Oneida Appeals Commission will only put into print the Initial Review Decisions which have been denied. The cases that have been accepted at Initial Review will be published when the final adjudication has been entered.

Initial Review Decisions

Oneida Human Resources Department vs. Estate of Doris Smith. Docket No. 06-AC-002, February 8, 2006. Judicial Officers, Janice L. McLester, Lois Powless and Winnifred Thomas presiding. In this case the original hearing body of the Trial Court failed to provide a written decision in a timely manner as required according to Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 26 (A) Written: Every decision, opinion, and order rendered by the trial court in a case shall be in writing and shall include the findings of fact and conclusions of law. The Appellant was given five (5) days to perfect the filing.

Appellate Court Decisions

Mark R. King vs. Oneida Tribal School Meals/Food Service - Order for Remand to Original Hearing Body. Docket No. 05-AC-017, November 23, 2005. Judicial Officers Winnifred L. Thomas, Mary Adams, Dorothy Ninham, Lois Powless, and Jennifer Webster presiding. Appellant was terminated from the Oneida Tribal School Meals/Food Service for theft of property. The Appellate Court rendered a decision stating there were too many disputed facts related to the termination and denied the Motion for Summary Judgement. The appellant was denied the opportunity to view evidence. Appellant argued that the MOA Panel questioned Respondent then excused her and then called the Appellant. Appellant was not allowed to question his accuser or rebut any of her testimony. Hearing Procedures outlined in the Administrative Procedures Act were not followed. The Appellate Court remanded the case back to a MOA Panel to hold a hearing according to the Administrative Procedures Act. Section X. Contested Cases, § C.2., outlines the hearing format that shall be followed: a. Grieving party presents case; b. Responding party presents case; c. Grieving party cross questions; d. Responding party cross questions; e. Grieving party rebuttal; f. Responding party rebuttal; g. Original Hearing Body deliberations and findings. The hearing was to be held within fifteen (15) days of receipt of the decision. The court also requested a status report in ten (10) days from the receipt of this decision. On 02/03/06 an agreement had been reached between the parties and a settlement was made. Case closed.

Valerie Brulette vs. Oneida Human Resources, Oneida Backgrounds, Oneida Personnel Commission, Oneida Appeals Commission, & Oneida Business Committee

Docket No. 04-AC-026, February 15, 2006. Pro-Tempt Judicial Officers Linda Cornelius, Wendell Askenette, Robert Miller, Sandra Skenadore, and Kimberly Vele presiding. Ms. Brulette commenced this action after being denied an interview for a position with the Oneida Tribe. This is an appeal of an order of the Oneida Appeals Commission Trial Court dated October 8, 2004. The Appellant, Valerie Brulette, appealed the decision of the Oneida Appeals Commission dismissing her appeal for lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction. In their decision, the Trial Court found that there was no administrative decision from which there was a proper appeal under the Oneida Tribe's Administrative Procedures Act and that the Appellant failed to properly file an action for a Declaratory Judgement. In the absence of either, the Trial Court ruled that it was without jurisdiction to proceed in the appeal. The Appellate Court affirmed the decision of the Trial Court and the Oneida Personnel Commission's decision not to conduct a hearing.

Trial Court Decisions

Oneida Central Accounting vs. Pam Schroeder. Docket No. 05-TC-181, January 16, 2006. Judicial Officers Leland Wigg-Ninham, Janice L. McLester, and Winnifred L. Thomas presiding. This is a money judgment complaint filed by the Oneida Tribe of Indians, Central Accounting against Pam Schroeder based on her tribal debt owed to the Petitioner. A hearing was conducted at 9:00 A.M. and delayed at the request of the Respondent until 11:00 A.M. After reconvening at 11:15 A.M., the Respondent failed to appear. The court took a ten (10) minute recess and reconvened at 11:30 A.M. and noted for the record that the Respondent still was not present. The court then entered a Default Judgement in favor of the Petitioner in the amount of $805.59

Doris Smith, deceased vs. Oneida HRD Benefits, Crawford Management Services

Docket No. 05-TC-151, February 1, 2006. Judicial Officers Anita Barber, Dorothy Ninham, and Leland Wigg-Ninham presiding. This is an appeal of an alleged claim filed on the behalf of Doris Smith, deceased, by her husband, David Smith, pursuant to the Oneida Worker's Compensation Law, Chapter 13 of the Oneida Tribal Ordinance. The Respondent, Oneida Human Resources Benefits Department, moved for a dismissal of the action. The Trial Court found no evidence that Ms. Smith ever submitted a claim for benefits and dismissed the case without prejudice because the matter was not ripe for adjudication. Estate of Alice Cornelius. Docket No. 05-TC-152, February 10, 2006. Judicial Officers, Mary Adams, Robert Christjohn, Jennifer Webster. This was a probate matter. The decedent, Alice Cornelius, passed away on October 5, 2004. Decedent's Last Will and Testament designated her home to be transferred to her daughter, Shirley LaFleur and her son, Paul Cornelius. The Will was executed on January 29, 1993, signed and notarized by two witnesses. Since there were no legal objections to decedent's Will, the court ruled the Will stands as uncontested.

Rick Cornelius vs. Oneida Police Commission

Docket No. 05-TC-150, March 6, 2006. Judicial officers Anita Barber, Dorothy Ninham, and Leland Wigg-Ninham presiding. This is a complaint against the Respondent, Oneida Police Commission. Rich Cornelius contested certain aspects of his performance evaluation. The Oneida Police Commission conducted an evaluation on the Police Chief, Rick Cornelius, and based on the score of 28.3, gave the Petitioner a 1.6% merit increase with no bonus. The Petitioner claims that he has been wrongfully denied the proper merit increase and bonus he is eligible to receive and entitled to receive as a result of his satisfactory employee evaluation. The Trial Court held that the Oneida Police Commission had the discretion to award the Petitioner the 1.6% merit increase but did not have the discretion to withhold the bonus. The Petitioner was awarded a bonus in the amount of $393.96 and all other claims by the Petitioner were dismissed.

Oneida Indian Preference Department vs. Oneida Housing Authority & Board

Docket 05-TC-137, March 24, 2006. Judicial Officers, Mary Adams, Robert Christjohn and Dorothy Ninham. The Oneida Preference Department filed a claim against Oneida Housing Authority and Oneida Housing Authority Board for not following the Oneida Preference Ordinance. Prior to the case moving forward, parties reached a settlement agreement and entered a Motion to Dismiss. The court granted the Motion to Dismiss.

Chairman's Corner...

enjoying the warm weather we've been experiencing. Planting flowers, tilling gardens, cleaning garages, dusting off golf clubs and fishing are activities spring and summer brings.

As weather gets warmer and school lets out for the summer, there will be hundreds of children in our community ready to engage in a flurry of activity. Little league, tee-ball, summer camps, and swimming are just a few ways our youth will spend their time during the summer. To harness this endless abundance of energy, there are programs specifically geared toward the youth. The Oneida Recreation Department in particular operates a summer program which engages our youth in many different recreational experiences. Another recreational and social program is managed at the Three Sisters Library by Isabel Parker, an employee of the Oneida Housing Authority. I recently had the pleasure of visiting the Three Sisters Library and learning about the activities provided there.

During the school year the Three Sisters Library operates from 12noon to 8:00pm Monday through Friday, and during the summer months (beginning May 1st) from 9:00am to 5:00pm Monday through Friday. The program at the Three Sisters Library includes activities such as: parenting classes, a woman's support group (in conjunction with the YWCA), tutoring, arts and crafts, visits to the Anna John Nursing Home and babysitting classes to name a few. These activities are open to the community (both Oneida and non-Oneida). In addition to the "in-house" activities, there are also field trips which include the movies, bowling and swimming (locally), and occasionally field trips out of the area.

Servicing the youth in the Three Sisters/Green Bay areas is a prime responsibility for the library. Isabel however, also works in coordination with the Salvation Army and Family Services in Green Bay and Oneida Social Services to assist families when non-recreational needs arise. Additionally, the Three Sisters Library participates in a local neighborhood watch program, and quarterly meetings are held, where attendees can keep abreast of the most current issues.

Recently most of the fifty rental units in the Three Sisters area have transitioned into elderly homes. This move was necessary to accommodate the rising need for elder units. The Three Sisters area has over one-hundred rental, homeowner and acquisition homes occupied by Oneidas, and the Three Sisters Library plays a valuable role in providing a much needed service to our constituents living in the area. For more information on the Three Sisters Library and the programs offered there, please contact Isabel Parker at 920-498-3340.

My congratulations to the Oneida Housing Authority for providing this valuable program and to Isabel for her dedication to our community.

Legislative Update

Greetings, Oneida Nation Citizens,

I'd like to take this opportunity for the Nation to reflect upon the history of our Oneida Police Department as it faces some challenging times. Historically speaking, Oneida police have faced significant challenges dating back to 1879 when the new constitution was adopted. In that constitution were provisions which provided for a court system, fines, and laws. During that era, was much unrest amongst Oneidas protesting the change from traditional government of Chiefs to an elected form of government which we operate today. It was decided police were needed to enforce the laws outlined in the Constitution. Ultimately, laws were carried out by both "constables" and police. During that time, offenders were to be brought before the court and the more serious crimes were handed over to the U.S. Indian agent for punishment. [Reference "Oneida Indian Police-In the Beginning" presented by Joycelyn Ninham and Susan Daniels]. Over a century later, in the 1970's, Tribal Leaders brought a proposal to General Tribal Council to establish a Tribal Law Enforcement Agency but was ultimately voted down by GTC. It wasn't until the mid 1980's when Oneida Bingo and other tribal enterprises were established on the reservation, which created a demand for law enforcement services. The local agencies could not provide the level of service which Tribal Leaders requested in the form of adequate response time to situations on the reservation. In mid-1985, Oneida Tribal Leaders approached James Danforth, who at that time, was an Outagamie County Sheriff Deputy with a proposal of establishing a tribal law enforcement agency. After careful thought and consideration of being asked to leave his post at Outagamie County, James Danforth accepted the challenge. On November 12, 1985 the Oneida Public Safety Department was first created. From that point on this job required a Chief of Police to virtually build upon something that was non-existent. With our bingo enterprise booming, security officers at the bingo hall became our first tribal officers. That was only the beginning of the many hurdles and obstacles the Chief of Police would have to overcome such as purchasing equipment and buying used vehicles only then being limited to only communicating within the department and not being allowed to be use county radio frequencies. Then came further resistance from both Outagamie and Brown County whom would not recognize Oneida Officers with police powers and jurisdiction over the lands within the original reservation boundaries. The two counties, town governments of Oneida and Hobart along with Green Bay formed a commission to challenge jurisdiction of the Oneida Tribe over the lands included within the boundaries of the reservation as it had been established in the 19th century. The issue was settled when the federal courts ruled in favor that the tribe did have jurisdiction over the lands within the original reservation boundaries and that the jurisdiction is not dependent upon ownership of the land. With that ruling being handed down, slowly the political interference within law enforcement began opening doors despite resistance still coming from within the county governments to enter into agreements with Oneida. Having withstood such turbulent times, in 1988 Oneida entered into dispatching agreement with Brown County. In March 1991, Sheriff Brad Gehring took the lead and moved to deputize Oneida Tribal Officers living in Outagamie County, followed by Sheriff Pieschek deputizing those officers living in Brown County in February 1992. Through the determination and endurance of strong governmental leadership in former Tribal Chairman Purcell Powless and successor Rick Hill, our past leadership stepped up to meet this challenge and exercised our sovereign rights as a Nation.

Councilwoman

We are very proud of the accomplishments and great strides taken by the Oneida Police Department. We are most grateful to the individual officers that have taken the oath to protect and serve and place their lives on the line everyday. In order to continually move forward to maintain that highest level of integrity, the Legislative Operating Committee is revisiting our current Law Enforcement Ordinance and bringing forth amendments that better serve the mission and vision of the Oneida Police Department. If you have any questions or comments please feel free to contact my office at 920-869-4461 or email at mdanforj@oneidanation.org.

Strike a pose

The Oneida Nation Arts Program recently held its first ever fashion show and design competition at the community room in the Social Services building on Saturday, April 22.

This show and competition were designed to bolster new and artistic blends of contemporary fashion with native culture and design trends. "The goal of this show was two fold. First it was to showcase the incredible talents of our community seamstresses and tailors and second it was a goal to create contemporary wear that teen would find comfortable that still maintain a native flair," says Beth Bashara the Arts Program Director. The event was comprised of two areas of competition, the first being an open entry and the second being a pure design competition consisting of three categories; Sports/School, Dress for Success and Special Attire.

Open Entry Participant winners were; first Place, a wedding outfit designed by Coleen John and Elizabeth Bins, modeled by Coleen and Robin John. Second place, a baptismal gown designed by Connie Doxtator. Best in show was a Fancy Shawl designed by Tina Hensley and Laura Cornelius, modeled by Jasmine Cornelius.

Design Competition winners, Sports/School, first Place designer was Stephanie Ninham with Jasmine Polar modeling. Second place designer was Kim Cornelius with Jessica Nishimoto modeling. In the Dress for Success category, first place designer was Vanny Wheelock with Kemewan Wheelock modeling. Second place designer was

Packer Country Tourist Attractions—Not just for Visitors

(Green Bay, WI) – All too often visitors to the area know more about a tourist attraction than the local residents. Packer Country Visitor & Convention Bureau wants to be sure area residents know about the special attractions in the area.

Sales of Passports for the 3rd annual 'Be a Tourist in Your Hometown' program kicked off April 17th. The Passports are available for $10 each and give an entire family admission to eight of the area's tourist attractions during the weekend of May 13-14, 2006.

The Passport also contains valuable coupons worth more than $400. The coupons are from a variety of tourist-related businesses and can be used through the end of the year. In addition, special 500 point keywords are also available inside the Passport, as well as on-site during the special event weekend for WIXX Club 101 and Y100 Club Y members. Total Passport value based on a family of four exceeds $500.

"How many times have you heard a conversation where a local resident tells you he or she has never been to a local attraction," said Katie Green, Director of Marketing for the Packer Country Visitor & Convention Bureau. "There's sometimes a tendency for people to forget about some of the wonderful places located right in their own community. The 'Be A Tourist in Your Hometown' promotion is a simple, easy way to help people check out some of these great spots."

The Batter's Box, Bosse's, Comfort Inn, Cub Foods (east & west Green Bay), Exel Inn, Green Bay Botanical Garden, Hazelwood Historic House Museum, M.A.G.I.C. Offices, National Railroad Museum, Packer Country Visitor & Convention Bureau, The Old School, Regency Suites, Super 8, The School House, Tundra Lodge Resort & Waterpark, and von Stiehl Winery.

In addition, the 'Be A Tourist in Your Hometown' program includes prize drawings featuring:

- Tickets to a Green Bay Packers home game at Lambeau Field
- Overnight accommodations and golf at Fox Hills Resort
- Overnight stay and waterpark passes to the Tundra Lodge Resort & Waterpark

"We're excited about the program and the response we've had in the first couple of years," Green said. "We think local residents who visit these area attractions will certainly be impressed and become unofficial ambassadors for these great places within the region."

What Is It? It's the Masterpiece!

This ball of tape represents two years of "free time" work by ONHS senior Travis Dessart-Cornelius. What started as a "small, dice-shaped piece of masking tape" grew into a softball-sized collection of "just about every kind of tape imaginable – scotch tape, mostly electrical tape, even duct tape." The "Masterpiece" has become a sort of symbol to the ONHS class of 2006 and was brought out and modeled by K-win Wheelock Thursday, April 20, as the seniors continued planning for their graduation and class trip.

Movie Review: Ice Age 2, The Meltdown

By Isaiah Smith
ONHS

Ice Age 2, The Meltdown is hilarious. That squirrel thing chasing the acorn is funny. Whatever position he gets himself into, he tries to get that acorn. While he's trying to get that nut.

Mannie the Woolly Mammoth leads a whole bunch of species to a safe place before the ice melts. The sloth, the funny one out of the group, gets himself into trouble but always gets himself out of it.

The sabertooth tiger is the serious one. He does not take jokes or chances. But if you put the leader, a joker and an up-tight tiger together, you get a three star movie.

As Mannie leads the animals, he thinks he is the last mammoth alive. But then he bumps into Ellie, a mammoth who thinks she is a possum. As they keep telling Ellie that she is mammoth, but she doesn't believe him until she sees her own reflection in a lake.

They split up in their own different ways, but Ellie get stuck when the ice melts and water is chasing them. But Mannie gets her out and the other animals get a big big tree as a boat and they all live.

At the end, the squirrel thing was going to die and be in heaven with all the acorns he wants but the sloth saves him. But all the acorns are gone. So, the squirrel chases the sloth and that is the end. Thanks to the squirrel, I'll give this movie a total of 4 out of 5 stars.

Ice Age 2, The Meltdown is rated PG.

Teddy Roosevelt - early conservationist President

By Stakwas Danforth
ONHS senior

Theodore Roosevelt felt very strongly about conservation. He contributed to the world and the nation with steps toward the permanent preservation of some natural resources.

Roosevelt said, "The conservation of natural resources is the fundamental problem. Unless we solve that problem it will avail us little to solve all others."

Roosevelt worked with a chief forester, Gifford Pinchot, to preserve more than 170 million acres of land. Most of it was in the west. Roosevelt also created five national parks, four game refuges, fifty one national bird reservations and the national bird resource.

I think Roosevelt cared about this issue so much because he cared about other people. Also because he believed conservation was a democratic movement, necessary to maintain and to strengthen American democracy. He believed that "vast natural resources as the source of the country's economic wealth and subsequent political strength globally."

The Zen of Tetris

By Earl Elm

ONHS Junior

[Tetris is a great computer game. Adults seem to enjoy it as much or more than kids. Here are some tips for playing Tetris from a self-proclaimed Tetris master.]

– When playing Tetris you should always know that you will not get the piece you need.

– Always keep your game under six lines otherwise you will start to mess up. (Now if you're really good, you could probably get out of it and this is where you rack up the points, but I wouldn't recommend you do that.)

– When playing, you have to block everything else out of your head. Focus on the game.

– One more thing, don't get angry with the game or any other games otherwise the game Gods will strike you down and you will not be able to beat another game ever again.

– Don't ever forget this: Be one with the game – not two or three but one.

– Follow these tips and you should be alright.

ONHS records set at Oshkosh meet

by Darrell Skenandore

ONHS junior and Thunderhawk Times second semester editor

The track team went to Oshkosh on April 13 for a track meet. The meet was held at the Titan Stadium. The whole track team didn't go though, due to grades. But the kids that did go did a good job.

The boys relay team set a school record in the 4x200 meter race. In that race the boys finished first. The second relay race was held just five minutes afterward and they were really tired. The boys came in second this time and they missed the school record just by a hair. The record is 51.35 and the relay team got a 51.37. The guys think they could have broke the record if they had run the 4x100 race first. The relay team consisted of Eddie Metoxen, Sean Metoxen, Nick Cantu and myself, Darrell Skenandore.

The throwers did pretty well with Earl Elm and Lakwaho McLester throwing the discus. Lakwaho had an 80 ft. toss, but Earl threw 93 ft. The school record for the discus is 108 ft. thrown by Tehassi Hill in 1997.

Robert "Bobby" Danforth threw the shotput about 21 ft., which is pretty good for a freshmen.

The girl throwers didn't have a good day. Throwing the discus was Neset Vega and Lauren Mills and throwing the shotput was Neset, Lauren and Yasiman Metoxen. In the discus, Neset did not throw well, only getting around the high-40s and Lauren couldn't get her best throw off either only getting around the low 60s. For the shot put, the girls couldn't get a good throw off either, except for Yasiman throwing a 23 ft. The school record is 30 ft.

At this meet there were only two sprinters – Janene Skenandore and Eddie Metoxen. They both sprinted the 100 meter race. Janene is just learning to use the block, so she had a bad start and couldn't catch up. Eddie broke the school record with a time of 12.5, but he did not place at the meet.

We also had two long distance runners – Raeanne Funmaker and Ladonna Parker. They both ran the one mile race and Ladonna ran a 7:15 and Raeanne beat her by about 5 seconds.

We also had about 5 jumpers; Sean Metoxen, Truman Powless, Yuntle McLester, Crystal Metoxen and myself.

The furthest long jump from the boys was myself with a long jump of 16'3 and the record for the boys is 16'6. The furthest long jump for the girls was Yuntle jumping about a 11 ft., which is about 2ft from the record.

The furthest triple jump was Sean jumping about 35 ft. and broke my record (temporarily) which was set last year. I could not get a jump off without scratching except for my last jump, which I jumped way before the line and did not get my best jump off.

Baseball Team fights low grades

By Joe Christjohn

ONHS junior

This year's baseball season was off to a good start until the second week of practice, when coaches Gary Lancelle and Mark Ninham talked to the team about grades. About half the team had at least one "F" and if we didn't get the grades up, there would be no team

I'm not sure that a lot of the players took them seriously.

We didn't have practice for about a week, while guys worked after school to get caught up on their work.

We're now back at practice. We lost our game last night 10-0, but the team showed some promise having the bases loaded at one point.

We've got another game tonight, so I'm hoping we get our first win. We've battled back from some low grades (well, I didn't have any "Fs") and the rest of the season should be alright.

Thanks OBC!

By Denis Gullickson

Thunderhawk Times advisor

Thanks to the Oneida Business Committee (OBC) for opening their conference room to thirty-seven Oneida Nation High School students for a movie on Thursday, April 13. The students earned the privilege of attending the movie through great school attendance, good third quarter grades, and excellent behavior.

We realize the sounds from the movie may have been a little bit distracting to OBC members and their staffs while they worked that afternoon, so we want to thank you for your patience. This is exactly the kind of support that makes students want to do a good job here at ONHS.

The conference room is a cozy, warm place for such an event. We cleaned up after ourselves and even vacuumed the carpet.

Again, thanks! And a special thanks to Janice Decorah for helping set this up as well as Melinda J. Danforth for her support of ONHS students and staff.

Second place designer was Vanny Wheelock with Mesawn Wheelock modeling. Jourdan and Belisle also took Best in Show honors as well for the design competition.

Judges made these decisions base on five criteria consisting of commercialization, technical proficiency (sewing), degree of difficulty, colors, fabrics and trim, and native influence. Debra

Jenny, a judge in the competition and a former lace making teacher had this to say about the competition, "It was wonderful, there was a lot of good techniques put into (designs) that could be used today." Other judges involved in the decision making process included, Janice Hirth, Loretta Webster, Kim Siebers and Miss Oneida Katrina Redhail. Redhail said, "I thought (the fashion show) was beautiful and it's about time Oneida does something like this for the youth...things that they're good at."

Vote YES on the July 2006 referendum

The Trust & Enrollment Departments work cooperatively, but independently of each other, and will always be linked.

The Trust-Enrollment Committee respectfully requests your support to create 2 committees out of 1 by approving the "development" of a Separation Plan.

The Committee would best serve it's roles, responsibilities and commitment if G.T.C. authorizes two distinct bodies to conduct business on behalf of G.T.C.

Due to growth, Trust & Enrollment duties have become increasingly complex and time consuming.

Each department has unique purposes and mission.

Both Committees will remain autonomous and be under the direct supervision of G.T.C.

Your support in creating 2 out of 1 is the crucial beginning step.

G.T.C. elects people they trust to manage the Trust and Enrollment areas. We would not make a recommendation to G.T.C. unless it was necessary and in the best interest of the Oneida Nation.

Older Americans Month champions choices for independence

America's aging population reached a turning point in 2006. One of the nation's largest generations, the baby boomers, started turning 60. According to Oneida Elderly Services, as many as 78 million people constitute the baby boom generation, and they stand to make an enormous contribution to the rich character and wisdom older adults offer to all of us. "Baby boomers are among the millions of mid-life and older adults who are continuing to redefine how we age," said Florence Petri, Program Director. "We need to be ready for an aging population that's as multifaceted as any in our history."

This May, we will once again celebrate Older Americans Month. This year's theme, Choices for Independence, reflects the continued commitment of the U.S. Administration on Aging (AoA) and Elderly Services to help our nation prepare for a larger aging population, and to bolster the efforts of baby boomers and older adults to achieve healthy aging. Independence for adults as they age relies on a balance of important elements: empowerment in consumer choice; healthy lifestyles that emphasize nutrition, physical activity, prevention, and active participation in one's health care; and access to the tools necessary to make informed decisions. Combined, these elements help all adults maintain the dignity they deserve, providing more opportunities to live longer independently while contributing to communities they cherish.

AoA supports the desire of older adults to live in their own homes and communities for as long as possible. Elderly Services is proud to be a part of this effort. We work knowing that the combination of independence and choice are essential to the pursuit of healthy aging. Our projects cover a range of issues important to older adults, including health care, diet and physical activity, transportation options, and housing. Among current projects is a large-scale effort to modernize the services provided under the Older Americans Act to ensure dynamic, efficient service that stays in step with the changing needs of our older citizens.

Elderly Services is one of many organizations working with AoA to help older Americans remain vibrant in their communities. If you are seeking more information on how to help, or would like information for yourself or someone you care about, please call us at 1-920-869-2448 or 1-800-867-1551.

History of Older Americans Month

When Older Americans Month was established in 1963, only 17 million living Americans had reached their 65th birthdays. About a third of older Americans lived in poverty and there were few programs to meet their needs. Interest in older Americans and their concerns was growing, however. In April of 1963, President John F. Kennedy's meeting with the National Council of Senior Citizens served as a prelude to designating May as "Senior Citizens Month."

Thanks to President Jimmy Carter's 1980 designation, what was once called Senior Citizens Month, is now called "Older Americans Month," and has become a tradition.

Historically, Older Americans Month has been a time to acknowledge the contributions of past and current older persons to our country, in particular those who defended our country. Every President since JFK has issued a formal proclamation during or before the month of May asking that the entire nation pay tribute in some way to older persons in their communities. Older Americans Month is celebrated across the country through ceremonies, events, fairs and other such activities.

Whole grains and your health

Submitted by Samia Hamdan

USDA Midwest Region Nutritionist
The new 2005 Dietary Guidelines for Americans now include recommendations to eat at least three servings of whole grains a day. Whole grains are packed with nutrients and can fit very well into a healthy diet. In fact, the nutrients in whole grains have been linked to preventing diabetes, heart disease and some cancers. Eating the recommended amount of whole grains can also help with weight maintenance.

What Is A Whole Grain?

Whole grains contain the entire grain seed, usually known as the kernel. The kernel is made up of three components called the bran, germ and endosperm. When grains are processed or refined most of the bran and some of the germ is removed from the grain. When this processing happens, many healthy components are removed, including dietary fiber, vitamins, minerals, lignans, phytoestrogens, phenolic compounds and phytic acid.

During processing, most refined grains are then enriched, meaning that food manufacturers add nutrients back into the food item, including vitamins and minerals, such as folic acid, thiamin, riboflavin, niacin and iron. This is required by law for most grains. However, not all of the healthy components are added back to refined foods. That's why whole grains can be healthier for you.

How to Identify a Whole Grain:

- Look for the word whole or whole grain in the ingredient list. Make sure it the first ingredient on the list. Examples of whole grain ingredients include whole wheat flour and whole corn.
- Be aware that some whole grain foods don't contain the word whole. Examples include rolled oats, oatmeal, graham flour and brown rice. These are all whole grain foods, too.

- Don't be fooled by color! Brown is not an indication of a whole grain. Products, such as bread, can be colored brown and not necessarily be made from whole wheat flour.
- Look for the FDA whole grain health claim on food products*
- These ingredients are not whole grains and don't guarantee a food is whole grain: white flour, wheat flour, de-germinated cornmeal, enriched flour and rice flour.

Avoid Label Confusion:

Food labels can be confusing. Read the fine print. The best indicator is to read the ingredient list or look for the FDA whole grain health claim* on the package.

Look at the following terms, they usually do not reflect foods made mostly from whole grains.

- Contains whole grain
- Made with whole grain
- Made with whole wheat
- Multi-grain
- Pumpnickel
- 100% wheat

What Are Some Examples of Whole Grain Foods?

Examples of whole grain foods include:

- Whole wheat flour products listing this as the first ingredient
- Whole grain corn
- Oatmeal
- Popcorn
- Brown rice
- Wild rice
- Whole rye
- Buckwheat
- Bulgur
- Whole grain cereals
- Granola made from whole grains
- Whole grain cereal or granola bars
- Whole grain pancakes, waffles, bagels
- Whole grain muffins
- Whole grain tortillas, taco shells

- Whole grain chips/pretzels
 - Whole grain crackers
 - Whole grain cookies
- #### Tips to Eat More Whole Grains

Whole grains don't have to be expensive, hard to find, or time consuming to cook. Here are some easy ways to get more whole grains into your daily diet.

- Add whole grain granola to yogurt
- Have popcorn without butter as a snack
- Use whole wheat toast instead of white toast
- Add wild rice or brown rice to soups and casseroles
- Opt for whole corn tortilla chips with salsa for a snack
- Use whole wheat pasta products in place of regular pasta

Oneida Nation welcomes biotechnology educator

Submitted by J. Buckley
Special for the Kalihwisaks

On Thursday (April 13), Kathy Frame, Vice President for Educational Programs at the Biotechnology Institute located in Arlington, VA visited the Oneida Nation at the invitation of Vice Chairwoman, Ms. Kathy Hughes. The Biotechnology Institute was founded as an independent, national non-profit organization dedicated to education about the present and future impact of biotechnology. Its mission is to engage, excite and educate the public, particularly students and teachers, about biotechnology and its immense potential for solving human health, food and environmental problems.

Ms. Frame shared biotechnology information, resources, and contacts that may benefit the Nation now and in the future and took the opportunity to meet and interact with Oneida leaders to observe first-hand the development of the Nation in healthcare and education, and to learn more about our culture.

Our Chairman Mr. Gerald Danforth, Vice Chairwoman Ms. Kathy Hughes, and Treasurer Ms. Mercie Danforth received Ms. Frame at breakfast to discuss the latest advancements in biotechnology for business opportunities, careers, education, and potential tools that can strengthen and support the science curriculum in our schools. Chairman Danforth asked Ms. Frame to define biotechnology. She explained that biotechnology is the use of organisms for the benefit of man, and that biotechnology was not new, but the tools used in biotechnology today were new. Man has been selecting the best traits of organisms for his benefit for thousands of years, such as the white corn of the Oneida nation. White corn is integral to our nation's cultural heritage as part of the creation story and is the foundation of Oneida traditional agriculture. The Oneida have maintained the strongest traits of white corn by selecting seeds for next year's crop from plants that produced high yield and other desirable results. This is the traditional way of biotechnology and the desired traits are not always produced. Ms. Frame explained that today, the tools of biotechnology allow us to select the traits from the chemical DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) that all organisms share. DNA is made up of four building blocks Adenine (A), Thymine (T), Guanine (G), and Cytosine (C). The arrangement of these blocks "spells" out each trait, just as the letters of an alphabet create words with meaning. The arrangement of these molecules provides information for what an organisms traits are.

Ms. Frame met next with the Higher Education team to talk about career opportunities in biotechnology. She stressed the diversity of jobs available and that not only were scientific researchers needed in biotechnology, but also in other field such as law, public relations, communications, forensics, sales, regulation, and quality control. She said an ideal opportunity for students in higher education to learn about the industry was through the Institute's Minority and Indigenous Fellows program. Those accepted in this program are provided with a mentor from industrial companies such as

Amgen, Exelixis, Baxter, Syngenta, and other companies for a minimum of a year to find out what the industry is about, to network with the industry, and to observe first-hand the career and further education potential for them in biotechnology.

After meeting with Higher Education, Ms. Frame met with the high school science teacher Ms. Becky Nutt, the Principal Mr. Robert Ganka, and Administrator Ms. Sharon Mousseau. Ms. Nutt took the opportunity to promote the wonderful science projects by the high school students who have placed in ACIS. Ms. Frame encouraged her to have her students participate in the Institute's student research competition the sanofi-aventis International BioGENEius Challenge that recognizes outstanding student research in biotechnology. Ms. Nutt stated that she had participated in a biotechnology program in Madison, but she could not afford the expensive equipment and materials to implement it with her students. Ms. Frame invited her to attend the Institute's 2007 National Biotechnology Teacher-Leader program in Boston. Through the intensive four-day program, participants become part of a national network of leading teachers in biotechnology education who share their expertise, curriculum, ideas, and resources through the Biotechnology Institute. The program is open to elementary school teachers through college professors. Participants receive the experience and knowledge to implement biotech into their curriculum and are provided with resources as well.

Dr. Carol Cornelius joined Ms. Frame and Kathy Hughes for lunch to share her work with white corn. Dr. Cornelius selects seeds of the white corn with the desired seed traits for future planting manually. She also provided Ms. Frame with a brief history of the role of white corn in the Oneida Nation and how it is being retained in our culture.

The last stop of the day was to our health facility to meet Dr. Tim Moreau and to discuss his work in diabetes. Dr. Moreau provided a tour of the facility and discussed the present treatments and education offered to the Oneida. Together, they discussed the role of biotechnology in the challenge to defeat this disease.

Upon leaving Ms. Frame commented on how much she appreciated the opportunity to visit the Oneida Nation. She also commented how welcome she had been made and honored to meet with so many key leaders of the Oneida Nation. She expressed how enlightening and valuable this day was, and how she looked forward to continuing to share with the Oneida a more in-depth understanding of biotechnology and providing resources and opportunities to them. She undoubtedly witnessed first hand the progressive work of the Oneida Nation and the richness of its internal resources.

Notice of Availability

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY Project Description: The Oneida Tribe is proposing to construct 12 town-house units and related infrastructure, at 2723 W Mason St, on the south side of the frontage road, in Township 24 North, Range 20 East, Section 29, in the City of Green Bay, Brown County, on the Oneida Reservation in Wisconsin.

A draft environmental assessment (EA) has been prepared regarding this proposed action in compliance with the Oneida Environmental Policy (2-13-93B) and National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). The draft EA contains project information, affected environment, project alternatives and consultation letters.

Comments were requested from the US Fish and Wildlife Service regarding possible impacts to threatened and endangered species, and from the Oneida Cultural Heritage Department about possible impacts to historic properties. No significant impacts to these resources are anticipated, and recommendations from these sources will be followed.

Need for Project: The need for housing for tribal members within the exterior boundaries of the Oneida Reservation is critical, over 500 applications from members request land leases for home construction. Planned housing sites within the urban areas of Green Bay will help limit urban sprawl.

Alternatives: The preferred alternative is to create a 12 unit town-house development on about 2 acres, develop the necessary infrastructure, roads, utilities, storm water management and landscaping. Two, three, and four unit, two story town homes with attached garages and basements will be constructed. The no-action alternative will leave the site as a small agricultural field and not develop the site for housing.

Comments & Availability: Interested parties can obtain copies of these documents to review. Comments regarding the proposed action may be submitted within 30 days of the date of this NOA. Contact Lisa Miotke at (920) 496-5353 or write Oneida Environmental, Health & Safety Division, PO Box 365, Oneida, WI 54155 for additional information.
