Introduction

This publication supplements Pub. 15, Employer's Tax Guide, and Pub. 51, Agricultural Employer's Tax Guide. It describes how to figure withholding using the Wage Bracket Method or Percentage Method, describes the alternative methods for figuring withholding, and provides the Tables for Withholding on Distributions of Indian Gaming Profits to Tribal Members. You may also use the Income Tax Withholding Assistant for Employers at IRS.gov/ITWA to help you figure federal income tax withholding.

Although this publication may be used in certain situations to figure federal income tax withholding on supplemental wages, the methods of withholding described in this publication can't be used if the 37% mandatory flat rate withholding applies or if the 22% optional flat rate withholding is used to figure federal income tax withholding. For more information about withholding on supplemental wages, see section 7 of Pub. 15.

Although this publication may be used to figure federal income tax withholding on periodic payments of pensions and annuities, the methods of withholding described in this publication can't be used to figure withholding on non-periodic payments or withholding on eligible rollover distributions. For more information about withholding on pensions and annuities, see section 8 of Pub. 15-A, Employer's Supplemental Tax Guide.

2020 Form W-4

The 2020 Form W-4 has been redesigned to reduce the form's complexity and to increase transparency and accuracy in the withholding system. Beginning with the 2020 Form W-4, employees will no longer be able to request adjustments to their withholding using withholding allowances. Instead, using the new Form W-4, employees will provide employers with amounts to increase or decrease the amount of taxes withheld and amounts to increase or decrease the amount of wage income subject to income tax withholding.

The 2020 Form W-4 contains 5 steps. Every 2020 Form W-4 employers receive from an employee should show a completed Step 1 (name, address, social security number, and filing status) and a dated signature on Step 5. Employees will complete Steps 2, 3, and/or 4 only if relevant to their personal situations. Steps 2, 3, and 4 show adjustments that will affect withholding calculations.

For employees who don't complete any steps other than Step 1 and Step 5, employers will withhold the amount based on the filing status, wage amounts, and payroll period. But see Exemption from withholding, later.

For employees completing one or more of Steps 2, 3, and/or 4 on Form W-4, adjustments are as follows.

Step 2. If the employee checks the box in Step 2, the employer will figure withholding from the "Form W-4, Step 2, Checkbox" column in the Percentage Method or Wage Bracket Method tables. This will mean higher withholding for the employee. If the employee chooses one of the other two alternatives from this step, the higher withholding will be included with any other additional tax amounts per pay period in Step 4(c).

Step 3. Employers will use the amount on this line as an annual reduction in the amount of withholding. Employers should use the amount that the employee entered as the total in Step 3 of Form W-4 even if it is not equal to the sum of any amounts entered on the left in Step 3 because the total may take into account other tax credits. If the Step 3 total is blank, but there are amounts entered on one or two of the left lines in Step 3, the employer, at its option, may ask the employee if leaving the line blank was intended.

Steps 4(a) and 4(b). Employers will increase the annual amount of wages subject to income tax withholding by the annual amount shown on Step 4(a) and reduce the annual amount of wages subject to income tax withholding by the annual amount shown on Step 4(b).

Step 4(c). Employers will increase withholding by the per pay period tax amount on Step 4(c).

New employee fails to furnish Form W-4. A new employee who is first paid wages in 2020, including an employee who previously worked for you and was rehired in 2020, and who fails to furnish a Form W-4 will be treated as if they had checked the box for Single or Married filing separately in Step 1(c) and made no entries in Step 2, Step 3, or Step 4 of the 2020 Form W-4. However, an employee who was paid wages in 2019 and who failed to furnish a Form W-4 should continue to be treated as single and claiming zero allowances on a 2019 Form W-4.

Additional information. See the Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs), available at IRS.gov/Pub15T, for answers to questions employers and employees may have about the changes in the Form W-4 and figuring withholding.

Exemption from withholding. Employees who write "Exempt" on Form W-4 in the space below Step 4(c) shall have no federal income tax withheld from their paychecks except in the case of certain supplemental wages.

Electronic system to receive Form W-4. If you maintain an electronic Form W-4 system, you should provide a field for employees who are eligible and want to claim an exemption from withholding to certify that they are exempt instead of writing "Exempt" below Step 4(c). You should also include the two conditions that taxpayers are certifying that they meet: "you had no federal income tax liability in 2019 and you expect to have no federal income tax liability in 2020." Additionally, you should continue to provide a field for nonresident aliens to enter nonresident alien status.

Withholding Adjustment for Nonresident Alien Employees

Apply the procedure discussed next to figure the amount of federal income tax to withhold from the wages of non-resident alien employees performing services within the United States.

This procedure only applies to nonresident alien employees who have wages subject to income tax withholding.

Nonresident alien students from India and business apprentices from India aren't subject to this procedure.

Instructions. To figure how much federal income tax to withhold from the wages paid to a nonresident alien employee performing services in the United States, use the following steps.

Step 1. Determine if the nonresident alien employee has submitted a 2020 Form W-4 or an earlier Form W-4. Then add to the wages paid to the nonresident alien employee for the payroll period the amount for the applicable type of Form W-4 and payroll period.

If the nonresident alien employee was first paid wages before 2020 and has not submitted a Form W-4 for 2020 or later, add the amount shown in Table 1 to their wages for calculating federal income tax withholding.

Table 1

Payroll Period	Add Additional
Weekly	$155.80
Biweekly	311.50
Semimonthly	337.50
Monthly	675.00
Quarterly	2,025.00
Semiannually	4,050.00
Annually	8,100.00
Daily or Miscellaneous (each day of the payroll
period)	31.20

If the nonresident alien employee has submitted a Form W-4 for 2020 or later or was first paid wages in 2020 or later, add the amount shown in Table 2 to their wages for calculating federal income tax withholding.

Table 2

Payroll Period	Add Additional
Weekly	$238.50
Biweekly	476.90
Semimonthly	516.70
Monthly	1,033.30
Quarterly	3,100.00
Semiannually	6,200.00
Annually	12,400.00
Daily or Miscellaneous (each day of the payroll
period)	47.70

Step 2. Enter the amount figured in Step 1 above as the total taxable wages on line 1a of the withholding worksheet that you use to figure federal income tax withholding.

The amounts from Tables 1 and 2 are added to wages solely for calculating income tax withholding on the wages of the nonresident alien employee. The amounts from the tables shouldn't be included in any box on the employee's Form W-2 and don't increase the income tax liability of the employee. Also, the amounts from the tables don't increase the social security tax or Medicare tax liability of the employer or the employee, or the FUTA tax liability of the employer.

Example. An employer pays wages of $300 for a weekly payroll period to a married nonresident alien employee. The nonresident alien has a properly completed 2019 Form W-4 on file with the employer that shows marital status as "single" with one withholding allowance and indicated status as a nonresident alien on Form W-4, line 6 (see Nonresident alien employee's Form W-4 in section 9 of Pub. 15 for details on how a 2020 Form W-4 must be completed). The employer determines the wages to be used in the withholding tables by adding to the $300 amount of wages paid the amount of $155.80 from Table 1 under Step 1 ($455.80 total). The employer has a manual payroll system and prefers to use the Wage Bracket Method tables to figure withholding. The employer will use Worksheet 3 and the withholding tables in section 3 to determine the income tax withholding for the nonresident alien employee. In this example, the employer would withhold $32 in federal income tax from the weekly wages of the nonresident alien employee.

The $155.80 added to wages for calculating income tax withholding isn't reported on Form W-2 and doesn't increase the income tax liability of the employee. Also, the $155.80 added to wages doesn't affect the social security tax or Medicare tax liability of the employer or the employee, or the FUTA tax liability of the employer.

Supplemental wage payment. This procedure for determining the amount of federal income tax withholding for nonresident alien employees doesn't apply to a supplemental wage payment (see section 7 in Pub. 15) if the 37% mandatory flat rate withholding applies or if the 22% optional flat rate withholding is being used to figure income tax withholding on the supplemental wage payment.

Rounding

To figure the income tax to withhold, you may reduce the last digit of the wages to zero, or figure the wages to the nearest dollar. You may also round the tax for the pay period to the nearest dollar. If rounding is used, it must be used consistently. Withheld tax amounts should be rounded to the nearest whole dollar by dropping amounts under 50 cents and increasing amounts from 50 to 99 cents to the next dollar. For example, $2.30 becomes $2 and $2.50 becomes $3. This rounding meets the tolerances under section 3402(h)(4).

1. Percentage Method Tables for Automated Payroll Systems

If you have an automated payroll system, use the worksheet below and the Percentage Method tables that follow to figure federal income tax withholding. This method works for Forms W-4 from 2019 or earlier and Forms W-4 from 2020 or later. This method also works for any amount of wages. If the Form W-4 is from 2019 or ealier, this method works for any number of withholding allowances

2. Wage Bracket Method Tables for Manual Payroll Systems With Forms W-4 From 2020 or Later

If you compute payroll manually, your employee has submitted a Form W-4 for 2020 or later, and you prefer to use the Wage Bracket method, use the worksheet below and the Wage Bracket Method tables that follow to figure federal income tax withholding.

The Wage Bracket Method tables cover only up to approximately $100,000 in annual wages. If you can't use the Wage Bracket Method tables because taxable wages exceed the amount from the last bracket of the table (based on filing status and pay period), use the Percentage Method tables in section 4.

3. Wage Bracket Method Tables for Manual Payroll Systems With Forms W-4 From 2019 or Earlier

If you compute payroll manually and your employee has not submitted a Form W-4 for 2020 or later, use the worksheet below and the Wage Bracket Method tables that follow to figure federal income tax withholding.

The Wage Bracket Method tables cover only up to approximately $100,000 in annual wages and up to 10 allowances. If you can't use the Wage Bracket Method tables because taxable wages exceed the amount from the last bracket of the table (based on marital status and pay period) or the employee claimed more than 10 allowances, use the Percentage Method tables in section 5.

Step 1.	Figure the tentative withholding amount
	1a Enter the employee's total taxable wages this payroll period	1a	$
	1b Use the amount on line 1a to look up the tentative amount to withhold in the appropriate Wage Bracket Table in this section for your pay frequency, given the employee's marital status (line 3 of Form W-4) and number of allowances claimed. This is the Tentative Withholding Amount	1b	$
Step 2.	Figure the final amount to withhold
	2a Enter the additional amount to withhold from line 6 of the employee's Form W-4	2a	$
	2b Add lines 1b and 2a. This is the amount to withhold from the employee's wages this pay period	2b	$

5. Percentage Method Tables for Manual Payroll Systems With Forms W-4 From 2019 or Earlier

If you compute payroll manually and your employee has not submitted a Form W-4 for 2020 or later, and you prefer to use the Percentage Method or you can't use the Wage Bracket Method tables because the employee's annual wages exceed $100,000 or the employee claimed more than 10 allowances, use the worksheet below and the Percentage Method tables that follow to figure federal income tax withholding. This method works for any number of withholding allowances claimed and any amount of Periodic payments of pensions or annuities. Periodic payments are those made in installments at regular intervals over a period of more than 1 year. They may be paid annually, quarterly, monthly, etc. Withholding from periodic payments of a pension or annuity is figured in the same manner as withholding from wages, except that it doesn't matter if the Form W-4P is from 2019 or earlier or a 2020 Form W-4P. Use Worksheet 5 and the Percentage Method tables in this section to figure federal income tax withholding on periodic payments of pensions or annuities. However, if you prefer to use the Wage Bracket Method of withholding, you may use Worksheet 3 and the Wage Bracket Method tables in section 3 to figure federal income tax withholding on periodic payments of pensions or annuities. If the recipient doesn't submit Form W-4P, you must withhold on periodic payments as if the recipient were married claiming three withholding allowances.

6. Alternative Methods for Figuring Withholding

You may use various methods of figuring federal income tax withholding. The methods described next may be used instead of the Percentage Method and Wage Bracket Method discussed earlier in this publication. Use the method that best suits your payroll system and employees.

Employers must use a modified procedure to figure the amount of federal income tax withholding CAUTION on the wages of nonresident alien employees.

Before you use any of the alternative methods to figure the federal income tax withholding on the wages of nonresident alien employees, see Withholding Adjustment for Nonresident Alien Employees, earlier.

Annualized wages. The Percentage Method Tables for Automated Payroll Systems in section 1 and Worksheet 1 allow you to figure federal income tax withholding based on annualized wages.

Average estimated wages. You may withhold the tax for a payroll period based on estimated average wages, with necessary adjustments, for any quarter. For details, see Regulations section 31.3402(h)(1)-1.

Cumulative wages. An employee may ask you, in writing, to withhold tax on cumulative wages. If you agree to do so, and you've paid the employee for the same kind of payroll period (weekly, biweekly, etc.) since the beginning of the year, you may figure the tax as follows.

Add the wages you've paid the employee for the current calendar year to the current payroll period amount. Divide this amount by the number of payroll periods so far this year, including the current period. Figure the withholding on this amount, and multiply the withholding by the number of payroll periods so far this year, including the current period. Subtract the total tax already deducted and withheld during the calendar year from the total amount of tax calculated. The excess is the amount to withhold for the current payroll period. See Revenue Procedure 78-8, 1978-1 C.B. 562, for an example of the cumulative method.

Part-year employment. A part-year employee who figures income tax on a calendar-year basis may ask you to withhold tax by the part-year employment method. The request must be in writing, under penalties of perjury, and must contain the following information.

- The last day of any employment during the calendar year with any prior employer.
- A statement that the employee uses the calendar year accounting period.
- A statement that the employee reasonably anticipates that he or she will be employed by all employers for a total of no more than 245 days in all terms of continu-

Complete the following steps to figure withholding tax by the part-year method.

- 1. Add the wages to be paid to the employee for the current payroll period to any wages that you've already paid to the employee in the current term of continuous employment. See definition for "term of continuous employment," later.
- 2. Add the number of payroll periods used in step 1 to the number of payroll periods between the employee's last employment and current employment. To find the number of periods between the last employment and current employment, divide the number of calendar days between the employee's last day of earlier employment (or the previous December 31, if later) and the first day of current employment by the number of calendar days in the current payroll period.
- 3. Divide the step 1 amount by the total number of payroll periods from step 2.
- 4. Find the tax in the withholding tax tables on the step 3 amount. Be sure to use the correct payroll period table and to take into account the employee's withholding allowances if their Form W-4 is from 2019 or earlier; or take into account other information provided on the employee's 2020 or later Form W-4.
- 5. Multiply the total number of payroll periods from step 2 by the step 4 amount.
- 6. Subtract from the step 5 amount the total tax already withheld during the current term of continuous employment. Any excess is the amount to withhold for the current payroll period.

See Regulations section 31.3402(h)(4)-1(c) for more information about the part-year method.

Term of continuous employment. A term of continuous employment may be a single term or two or more following terms of employment with the same employer. A term of continuous employment includes holidays, regular days off, and days off for illness or vacation. A term of continuous employment begins on the first day that an employee works for you and earns pay. It ends on the earlier of the employee's last day of work for you or, if the employee performs no services for you for more than 30 calendar days, the last workday before the 30-day period. If an employment relationship is ended, the term of continuous employment is ended even if a new employment relationship is established with the same employer within 30 days.

Other methods. You may use other methods and tables for withholding taxes, as long as the amount of tax withheld is consistently about the same as it would be under the Percentage Method, as discussed in section 1. If you develop an alternative method or table, you should test the full range of wage and allowance situations to be sure that they meet the tolerances contained in Regulations section 31.3402(h)(4)-1 as shown in the chart below.

If the tax required to be withheld under the annual percentage is—	The annual tax withheld under your method may not differ by more than—

7. Tables for Withholding on Distributions of Indian Gaming Profits to Tribal Members

If you make certain payments to members of Indian tribes from gaming profits, you must withhold federal income tax. You must withhold if (a) the total payment to a member for the year is over $12,400, and (b) the payment is from the net revenues of class II or class III gaming activities (classified by the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act) conducted or licensed by the tribes.

A class I gaming activity isn't subject to this withholding requirement. Class I activities are social games solely for prizes of minimal value or traditional forms of Indian gaming engaged in as part of tribal ceremonies or celebrations.

Class II. Class II includes (a) bingo and similar games, such as pull tabs, punch boards, tip jars, lotto, and instant bingo; and (b) card games that are authorized by the state or that aren't explicitly prohibited by the state and played at a location within the state.

Class III. A class III gaming activity is any gaming that isn't class I or class II. Class III includes horse racing, dog racing, jai alai, casino gaming, and slot machines.

Withholding Tables

To figure the amount of tax to withhold each time you make a payment, use the table on the next page for the period for which you make payments. For example, if you make payments weekly, use Table 1; if you make payments monthly, use Table 4. If the total payments to an individual for the year are $12,400 or less, no withholding is required.

Example. A tribal member is paid monthly. The monthly payment is $5,000. Use Table 4, Monthly Distribution Period, to figure the withholding. Subtract $4,377 from the $5,000 payment for a remainder of $623.00. Multiply this amount by 22% for a total of $137.06. Add $384.80 for a total withholding of $521.86.

Depositing and reporting withholding. Combine the Indian gaming withholding with all other nonpayroll withholding (for example, backup withholding and withholding on gambling winnings). Generally, you must deposit the amounts withheld using electronic funds transfer. See Depositing Taxes in Pub. 15 for a detailed discussion of the deposit requirements.

Report Indian gaming withholding on Form 945. Also, report the payments and withholding to tribal members and to the IRS on Form 1099-MISC.
