With multiple Oneida Casino gaming facilities having now been opened for more than a month, early indications seem to suggest a promising outlook for the expansion of gaming reopening phases.

“Our Phase I reopening, now past the first month, was very good,” Oneida Gaming General Manager Louise Cornelius said. “People wanted to get out of their homes and test the market to see what it was like. We had very positive results in the first week but our customer counts and revenue has been down slightly the past few weeks.”

History suggests a slower pace in early summer is actually common at the Oneida Casino. “June and July are not historically good months for us,” Cornelius said. “July typically picks up, but June is when you see all the weddings, graduations, picnics, and all those other family outing events.”

The lower turnout of visitors wasn’t completely unexpected. “We survey more than 500 guests every other week,” Cornelius said. “Some guests surveyed suggested they felt safer staying at home and were going to let more time pass, but many others have said they feel safe with all the proactive measures we’ve put in place. So I’d have to say things have been going well.”

One of the more difficult things for returning employees was getting used to the wearing of protective masks. “We’re past our first month of reopening and even I’m one of those people that doesn’t like wearing masks,” Cornelius said. “But I’m getting used to it and overall we’re not having to remind customers as much about it either.”

Other changes to the Oneida gaming scene have been going smoothly as well. “We’ve had smoking designated areas outside the facility and testing upon arrival for our employees and guests,” Cornelius said. “It’s all getting better and people are adapting. We put many proactive and preventative measures in place just to ensure the safety of our customers and employees.”

The continuous additions of protective measures and PPE in the casinos are leading up to the expanded reopening phases of Oneida’s gaming operations. “What will be noticed by the public is our recent installation of protective shields between each of our slot machines and the table games,” Cornelius said. “We (recently) submitted our Phase II reopening plan to the Oneida Business Committee (OBC), we need approval from the Comprehensive Health Division (CHD) and the Oneida Gaming Commission (OGC), as well as the Law Office.”

With the approval of those various entities, Phase II of the Oneida Casino reopenings is underway. “Phase II allows for the opening of table games on July 7,” Cornelius said. “Now, when a player approaches a Blackjack table there will be four seats instead of the usual six. Plexiglass has also been installed on both sides of the player and in front between them and the dealer. There is a slot underneath the front plexiglass where the player will place their bet, so both the dealer and the player are protected.”

The Poker Room, not scheduled to reopen until July 21, will also be sporting some new looks. “Their number of spots

Question for the Vice Chair, Secretary candidates:

What is one thing you'd like to see changed, improved in Oneida and why?

Jim Martin

“I would work to build a first-class Grocery Store in Oneida. This would create numerous job opportunities for our people. We could expand our Highway 54 one stop into this facility. We would capture the business from throughout the area including Seymour, Pulaski, Freedom, not to mention all the surrounding residents of Hobart and bring increased income into our tribe. I wouldn't stop there. I would work to build our own first class Hospital as an expansion of our current Health Center. I feel our Health Center provides great service to our Community with very professional employees and we can build on that great expertise with a Hospital.

If you have any questions you can contact me by phone at: 920-819-8889. Elect Jim Martin as Vice-Chairman of the Oneida Nation.”

Debra Powless

“Take a strong and clear stand to work towards eliminating the destructive power inherent in the perpetuation of the historical trauma cycle and a commitment to replace with the well-being of Oneida's and their communities. Some youth feel disconnected and feel they are between two worlds especially youth in urban areas. Holding on to their culture in the modern world is about identity and remembering where they come from. The continuance of a strong culture and language foundation, gives us our original instructions of compassion, harmony and love and all of this identify is refocused towards the preservation of our history. Our ancestors overcame extreme obstacles so that the next generation could be here to achieve happiness and to be a servant to future generations.”

went down from nine to 7 also,” Cornelius said. “And it'll be the same concept as Blackjack with plexiglass in the front and sides. So this adds that extra layer of protection because we care deeply about our employees and guests.”

The Irene Moore Activity Center's (IMAC) Bingo games will resume July 7 with their updates. “Social distancing and the wearing of masks are certainly required,” Cornelius said. “And if you look over at IMAC you'll see the tables have all been separated with plexiglass dividers, and four players can be seated per table with plexiglass dividers between them as well. Typically, IMAC seats about 750 players but now with these measures we're looking at about 365. Once Bingo is up and running, and we have all the plexiglass installed, we'll also be opening up our Packerland Drive and Travel Center casinos as part of our Phase II reopenings.”

The phased approach to reopening gaming sites is being done with caution. “We need to be sure we're doing it right and not just opening everything up all at once,” Cornelius said. “This works better for our employees and the rest of us internally. We care deeply about our customers and employees, and we believe our employees are adjusting well to the new protocols. We had to implement most of this to maintain our business operations.”

Prior to the Oneida Nation employee furloughs that took place March 18, the Gaming Division employed 1,010 full-time workers. Those numbers don't include Internal Security, Surveillance, or MIS. “We ended up having to furlough 947 employees, or 93.7 percent of our work force,” Cornelius said. “As of now we have 401 employees, or 39.7 percent of our workers, back on payroll. We expect to bring back more employees as our Phase II plan continues to be implemented. Many of them have been off for three months now and they'll be surprised at how different things look in here.”

Correction:

In the June 17 issue of the Kalihwisaks we reported the Hwy 29 Travel Center would be reopening July 2. The correct date for the reopening is July 28. The Kalihwisaks apologizes for the error.

U.S. HHS Secretary, IHS Director visit Oneida Health Center

U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Alex Azar, along with Indian Health Services (IHS) Director Admiral Michael Weahkee, visited the Oneida Community Health Center (OCHC) Wednesday, June 24, to show their support for the reopening of health care facilities across Indian Country.

“The Oneida Nation is a leader with this incredible health center that I was able to tour and meet with the leadership,” Azar said. “We are very focused on native population health care. The Native American population is definitely suffering a disproportionate impact from COVID-19, so I wanted to meet with the leadership here to discuss their own experiences with that.”

Getting the OCHC up and running to speed, as well as making the community feel safe about visiting the facility, were issues discussed with the OCHC Administration and Oneida Business Committee (OBC). “We want people to feel safe in terms of getting their needed cancer screenings, colonoscopies, and mammograms, which are all down by 90 percent in Brown County. President Trump enabled Telehealth for the first time ever and the tribe has really taken advantage of that. But dental care, ophthalmology, and other key areas of preventative care require people to come in and be seen.”

Getting a feel for the day-to-day operations of the OCHC and meeting with the tribe’s leadership was a first for Azar. “There’s nothing like touching and feeling and seeing firsthand how an operation is running,” Azar said. “This health center is fantastic and the Nation should be extremely proud of what they’ve built here. I’ve not seen something quite like this before.”

Secretary Azar expressed his desire to help with improving Native health care. “I would like this community to know how dedicated President Trump, myself, and Admiral Weahkee are to improving the state of Native health care through the IHS as well as through self-determination and self-governance like the Oneida Nation has,” Azar said. “We’ve set aside $500 million from the CARES Act Provider Relief Fund which the OCHC has been a beneficiary of for Indian health service and tribal health care facilities.

“We’ve also put out $750 million for the support of tribal testing and we’ve just announced President Trump is giving the Oneida Nation a

$400,000 grant from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC),” Azar said. “Oneida has already been an innovator for drive-through testing, and in speaking with tribal leadership it sounds like some of that money will be used to build a more permanent facility in light of colder weather for more climate protection.”

Visiting the Oneida Nation for the first time was an eye-opening experience for Azar. “I’ve learned about the benefits of self-governance and I got to see what an empowered Nation can do,” Azar said. “I learned how proactive the team here is with the nursing home, because we’ve seen 42 percent of the nationwide COVID-19 fatalities come from nursing homes. These are our most vulnerable individuals. I also heard it was quite difficult culturally to shut down the communal dining for seniors and they had to move to delivering those meals.

“But I told them ‘You’ve saved lives,’” Azar said. “The most at-risk people for serious complications or death are those over 80, or those over 65 who suffer from hypertension, diabetes, renal failure, chronic lung disease, and cancer. So by protecting the residents of the nursing home they did a really great service for the Nation.

When asked about the possibility of a second wave or surge in COVID-19 cases later in the year, Azar made clear there are preparations underway at the national level. “We have a very clear approach to that,” Azar said. “We don’t know if there’s going to be a ‘second wave,’ and I tend not to use that terminology because we deal with what we’re facing in terms of epidemiology.

“As we think about the fall we’ll be looking to see if there is a surge in cases, fatalities, or hospitalizations,” Azar said. “We’re seeing surges in certain states and counties, and some of that is indeed increased testing, but we’re working to get to the bottom of that.

Azar discussed a six-part strategy being implemented to deal with any potential COVID-19 resurgences. “We now have the tools to execute on this,” Azar said. “The first is surveillance just as the Nation is doing with your nursing home. The second is testing of all who may display symptoms. The third step is containment. Anybody positive should be isolated and treated as well as any of their contacts so that they’re also tested, isolated, and treated.

“The fourth step is health system capacity and supplies,” Azar said. “Our health system must have the resiliency, which was our core objective in January, to make sure we flatten the curve of disease to keep it within our capacity. As our knowledge of this disease increases, we also had to be sure we had the therapeutic tools to treat this.

“The fifth step is the therapeutics,” Azar said. “Remdesivir is now available, steroids, and we also have convalescent plasma. There have been cases here in the Oneida Nation, so we really need those people who have tested positive to donate their plasma. That plasma can save somebody else’s life. Essentially we’ll take that plasma and give it to somebody in the early stages of COVID-19. It acts as a super boost of antibodies. You’ll be giving that person’s immune system your antibodies to fight the disease.”

The sixth and final step will be vaccines which are just around the corner. “By this fall we hope to have tens of millions of vaccines and hundreds of millions of vaccines by early next year,” Azar said. “So that’s the armament we have now to deal with any further surges in cases and we’re very well equipped now. We hope that doesn’t occur, but we are prepared for that.”

New rewards program coming soon to Oneida Retail

A new rewards program is coming to Oneida One Stop locations in August. Exxon Mobil Rewards+ is the new program replacing Open Roads Rewards program. Once the new rewards system is installed, Open Road Rewards cents off per gallon will no longer be valid. To accommodate customers, Oneida Retail is rolling out Rewards+ over a few weeks. This will allow customers the ability to go to different stores to redeem their points, if their favorite location has already switched over. The move from Open Roads Rewards to Exxon Mobil Rewards+ is expected to occur during the month of August. See your local store in mid-July for more details.

One major change with this transition will be for Gas Tax Exemption customers: The Exxon Mobil Rewards+ card will be a standalone Rewards program and the Tribal ID will be only for Gas Tax Exemption. What this means is if the customer wants to use both the new Rewards+ and Gas Tax Exemption it will require two transactions. The new program only allows one reward redemption per transaction.

Oneida Farmer's Market... Connecting people to local farmers and the foods they grow.

~The Oneida Farmers Market Safest Farmers Market in NE Wisconsin~

Yes, we will be open, but with a Different Look....

This year our markets MUST prioritize for the health and safety of our communities during the current global pandemic. What this means is our market will look very different this year. It is critical that we all work together to ensure a safe event for all.

In 2020, the Oneida Farmers Market will be a drive-up market only. This means there will be no walking pedestrians allowed within the Market. The customers will drive up to the vendor canopy, order whatever product you would like to buy, pay the vendor and drive out. However, once you enter the Farmers Market area there will be no getting out of your vehicles until you exit. This will mean a little additional work on our part, but we feel this is the best way to ensure the safety of our customers.

To make it easier for our wonderful customers we will have a large sign at the entrance to the Market for our customers to see where to go. This way you will know exactly what product you would like to purchase and what the cost will be. Please see sample of sign below:

Also, EBT will continue to be accepted at the Oneida Farmers Market, and we will once again offer Double Your Bucks (DYB). Buy up to $10 worth of tokens and get an additional $10 of tokens for FREE. If you have any questions please contact us at ofm@oneidation.org or check us out on Facebook at www.facebook.com/OFMWI
