Methodist Church pastor charged with possession of child porn, meth

The part-time pastor of Oneida United Methodist Church (OUMC) was taken into custody by law enforcement officials February 24 on 20 counts of possession of child pornography and one count of possession of methamphetamine. Rick Haberland, 48, was booked into the Outagamie County Jail just after noon after investigators received a tip from the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children.

Search warrants were executed at the church as well as a residence across the road from the church where the pastor resided. Haberland was a reverend for the church for less than two years. Prior to his arrival at the Oneida Methodist Church, he worked as pastor at both Suring and Hickory United Methodist Churches in Suring, Phillips United Methodist Church in Phillips, as well as Tabor United Methodist Church in Eden. At the time of his arrest Haberland was also working as a pastor at New Hope United Methodist Church in Ashwaubenon.

Investigators allege in the criminal complaint that Haberland admitted to having at least 20 videos of child pornography on his device.

GBCC Eliminates marijuana possession fines

Russia’s unprovoked attack on Ukraine is prompting condemnation and a worldwide response from many nations including the United States. Since the invasion President Joe Biden has deployed several thousand United States troops to neighboring European countries to help train NATO forces and serve as a deterrent. And while there is no intent on the part of the U.S. to join in the fighting against Russia, that news is still unsettling for one Oneida Nation mother whose son was just deployed to the region.

Army Specialist Tyrel Miller, 26, shipped out in mid-February as Russian President Vladimir Putin continued his build-up of troops on the Russian/Ukrainian border. Miller’s mother, Michelle, says the 2013 Preble High School graduate deployed with his Wiesbaden, Germany-based unit and is currently serving as a Chaplain’s Assistant at an undisclosed location.

“I really thank all of our family and friends who have been reaching out,” Michelle said. “I really appreciate that from everybody, and not just for my son but for all of our military families because this is a rough time not knowing what is going on when we don’t hear from our loved ones. I did ask him to contact me, even if it’s only a two-second phone call, to let me know he’s all right but have yet to hear from him.”

As the situation in Ukraine continues to evolve the United State’s mission in the conflict will continue to be one of deterrence and training for the foreseeable future.

Green Bay Common Council eliminates marijuana possession fines in private spaces

By Christopher Johnson
Senior Reporter/Photographer

The City of Green Bay Common Council voted unanimously to drop all local fines for adults older than 21 for possessing small amounts of marijuana in private settings during their March 1 Common Council Meeting.

General Ordinance No. 06-22 essentially eliminates fines for possessing and consuming less than 28 grams (just under one ounce) in private settings like a residence within the city. The previous city ordinance set the maximum fine at a $500.00 forfeiture for the same amount. The default forfeiture amount was $350.00 and there was no distinction in penalties for minors. Anybody over the age of 21 caught in public with pot may still be subject to a fine ranging ranging from $1 to $500.

An informational memorandum brought forward by the Green Bay Law Department and Green Bay Police Department shows the new ordinance will also address persons under the age of 21, setting fines between $100 to $200. Fines would increase with any subsequent offense. Community Service is also a viable disposition for the offense.

Paraphernalia citations carry their own sets of forfeiture amounts, and this ordinance will not be affected by any decisions made around the pot possession ordinance proposal. This means while an individual may not receive a fine for actually possessing less than an ounce of pot, they could still receive a citation for possessing paraphernalia.

The memorandum also clearly states these changes have no effect on the actual legalization or use of marijuana.

These changes are focused solely on the forfeiture amounts which are based on the circumstances surrounding the offense. This ordinance does not apply to incidents of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence or instances of possessing more than 28 grams of marijuana, both of which are criminal offenses.

Marijuana possession, in every form, remains illegal in the state. The state of Wisconsin, which has become Republican Assembly Speaker Robin Vos' own private island of prohibition, is losing out on at least $165 million in estimated yearly tax revenue. Vos has repeatedly stated publicly across the years that he supports medical marijuana, but he continues to shoot down any and all marijuana reform legislation, including all bipartisan medical proposals, that cross his desk.

Senator Melissa Agard (D-Madison) has introduced several marijuana reform bills to the Wisconsin State Legislature calling for the legalization of both medicinal and recreational use of pot. All of her attempts are essentially ignored by Vos.

“This is a great step in the right direction,” Agard told the Kalihwisaks regarding the Green Bay Common Council decision. “I’m thrilled to see more and more communities in Wisconsin prioritizing the reduction or elimination of fines for cannabis possession.”

Medical marijuana is a proven hot button topic in Wisconsin, with 83 percent of registered voters showing support according to the latest Marquette University Law School poll, released March 2. At least 51 percent of state Republicans and 75 percent of Democrats want full-scale legalization, while more than 61 percent of all eligible Wisconsin voters favor legalization.

Oneida’s presence at capitol pays off

Keith Skenandore
Kalihwasaks

Approximately 75 Oneida tribal members traveled to Madison to lobby against a referendum that would eliminate gaming in the State of Wisconsin.

The referendum, Senate Joint Resolution 73, was passed by a vote of 27 to 6, and was to appear before the assembly on March 2. It was at the assembly where the Oneida’s made their presence known. Whether is was talking with legislators or just standing there, the Oneida’s were recognized.

“It’s really hard to screw somebody over when you have to look them in the face,” said Cindy Broydwick, lobbyist for Broydwick, Broydwick and Dacy.

The assembly broke into a Senate Caucus and it was there that the referendum was the topic of discussion. The referendum proposed that gaming be eliminated in Wisconsin except for bingo, lottery, dogtracks and horsetracks.

John Medinger, Representative of the 93rd Assembly District, expressed his views on why the referendum should be voted against.

“We need to realize how complex this issue is,” said Medinger. “It’s not whether you’re for or against gambling, or whether your moral or immoral.”

“We don’t want to leave out the minority viewpoint. Haven’t the white man broke the Indians back enough already. Don’t break their gaming compact.”

Throughout the caucus disputes surfaced on whether the bill should go before a public hearing.

“I see nothing wrong with a public hearing,” said James Holperin, 34th Assembly District representative. Mary Lou Van Dree, 90th Assembly District representative agreed with Holperin and asked for a public hearing.

The results from the caucus put the referendum back on to the assembly floor that afternoon. It was there that a decision was made for the referendum to be put in the Rules Committee. Currently the bill is still sitting there awaiting its destiny. It’s possible that the bill or another bill may be taken up in a Senate Caucus, which may once again move into action on the floor. There are a number of ways this bill can go and the Oneida Tribe is monitoring its path, as well as watch for any other bills that may affect the tribe.

There is also another threat over the legislature. That is the Governor threatening to call them back into a special session if they do not address the gambling issue. This increases the likelihood that it will be addressed before the end of the session, which ends the week of March 27.

Oneida Nation praises “Purple Heart Reservation” Bill

A special thanks to Lead Authors Rep. Jim Steineke and Sen. Robert Cowles

(Oneida Reservation) – On Wednesday, February 23, 2022, the State Assembly concurred passage of Senate Bill 969 that will allow the Oneida Nation to erect Purple Heart signs on state highways within the Nation’s reservation. SB-969 passed the State Senate the day before on February 22, 2022.

In 2019, the Wisconsin State Military Order of Purple Heart Chapter 164, led by two of our cherished Purple Heart recipients, the late George Greendeer Sr. and Cletus Ninham, worked with the Nation’s leadership and veteran’s groups to declare the Oneida Reservation a Purple Heart Reservation. Subsequently, a community event was held by the Military Order of Purple Heart to erect a monument honoring our veterans and recognizing Oneida purple heart recipients.

“The Oneida Nation is proud of our military service, as Oneida people have served in every war on the side of the United States since the Revolutionary War,” stated Oneida Nation Councilwoman Marie Summers. “We hold our veterans in the highest regard. On behalf of the Oneida Nation, I wish to also express our appreciation to Senator Robert Cowles (R-Green Bay) and Representative Jim Steineke (R-Kaukauna) for taking the lead to ensure timely passage of this legislation.
Yukhihsótha wehní·tahtle?
{Our grandmother the Moon}

The Moon is significant to the Oneida people. It is acknowledged in our Kanehelatuksla -Thanksgiving Address and Creation story. In the Thanksgiving address, we give thanks to the Moon, our Grandmother. She is the nighttime light giver and is the leader of female matters.

Our first ceremony of the year Mid-Winter is in line with the moon. Five sleeps after the New Moon is the date that the Mid-Winter ceremony would be set. This year the New Moon was on January 2. Counting that day, the 6th day had been designated as the day to do our Mid-Winter Ceremony, which was January 7th. We did a Tobacco Burning on behalf of the people due to the pandemic.

We also acknowledge our grandmother moon at the time she’s full. Women come together, bringing a clear glass of water and place it in the moonlight for the full moons energy to go through it. Women will sing seed songs, or women’s songs to the Moon, and after, drink the water to consume her energy. If a woman doesn’t know a song, she can say a thanksgiving to our Grandmother Moon before drinking the water to consume her energy.

Elder Quote of the Month

Evelyn M. Danforth

By Trista Cornelius-Henricks

Evelyn M. Danforth was born in March 1916, to Elias and Mary Skenandore. She lived in Brown County and remembered growing up around other Oneida people. Her father spoke fluent Oneida, as did her mother, until she went away to school where the language was lost. Though she could still understand it, her mother could no longer speak it. Neither of Evelyn’s parents taught her Oneida, however, she picked up on some words because her grandmother didn’t speak English. “I don’t know it good, but I know some, I can remember some.”

When asked about her schooling, she explains that when she was younger; she accompanied her older brothers and sisters on their travel to school, Red Springs Indian Mission in Gresham WI, but once there she wanted to stay, so her father let her. “Later, I thought I was six at that time, but my sister told me I was four.” She doesn’t elaborate on her time at the school, even with some gentle questions.

She remembers growing up without heat or electricity. They burned wood or coal, and when someone was sick or ill, her grandmother would use herbs, until later when they could seek treatment with Dr. Hill. While her mother was taught to use herbs, it was not passed down to her and the practice was forgotten. A typical Sunday for Evelyn and her family was company after church, with family and friends. They seem fond memories as she smiled while saying, “I thought it was fun.” She also talked about her grandmother making cornbread early in the morning; they often ate cornbread and corn soup in winter. They planted plenty of white corn in her father’s garden. Her mother used to tell her stories of how the land was before, how you could hear wolves howling at night, and how they would steal the farmer’s pigs and chickens.

Evelyn did seasonal work in a factory until she married Dennison Danforth in 1944 and focused on raising their three children. She seemed the happiest when mentioning her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Later in life, she was a foster grandparent to many other children, and worked at the Oneida Elementary School. She enjoyed reading to children at the library. Far different from when she attended school at Trout Creek, where there was a single room with one teacher for about thirty students of varying grades.

Schools weren’t the only changes she experienced. She says with amusement, “The one thing is roads” and how the landscape has changed. Her family went from her father’s horse and buggy to her brothers, eventually getting cars. “And all these new homes and stuff” how Green Bay, Seymour, and Oneida itself have grown over the years. Thinking on changes and the future, when asked what advice she gives to her grandchildren, she says, “Get as much schooling as they can.”

As winter melts away to spring, it also marks a return to flood season. Flooding from melting snow or heavy rain is one of the most common and most costly natural hazards in Wisconsin. Floodwaters can rise in a matter of seconds, creating a potentially life-threatening situation. “People often underestimate the force and power of water. Since 2010, more than a dozen people in the state lost their lives during flooding. The more people heed warnings and avoid flooded areas, the more lives we can save.

Much of Wisconsin is currently experiencing drought conditions, but heavy rainfalls can still produce flooding quickly. While you can’t always stop the waters from rising, the following tips can help improve safety for you and your community before a flood:

- Know your flood risk. Assess the potential for flooding on your property if you live in a flood plain or near a body of water or have a basement. Plan with your family for what you will do if the floodwaters begin to rise.
- Build a “Go Kit.” Include items such as food, water, cash, medications, and copies of important documents (personal identification like passports and birth certificates, medical records, insurance policies, and financial documents).
- Make an emergency plan — If you can't make it home or need to leave quickly, identify a meeting place for your family. Make a list of emergency numbers and important contacts.
- Keep water out of your house. Clean gutters regularly, direct downspouts away from your foundation, repair cracks in your foundation, improve grading so water flows away from your house, and cover window wells.
- Investigate flood insurance. Standard insurance policies generally do not cover flooding. Most flood coverage requires 30 days to take effect. Find more information about flood insurance options at https://www.floodsmart.gov/.

Follow these tips during and after a flood:

- Stay up to date on the forecast. Identify multiple ways to receive alerts about dangerous weather conditions and potential flooding, such as a NOAA Weather Radio, trusted local news outlets, and mobile weather apps.
- Never drive or walk-through flooded areas - turn around, don’t drown! Just six inches of fast-moving water can sweep adults off their feet, while 12 inches can carry away a small car. Be especially careful while driving at night.
- Stay out of floodwaters, which can contain bacteria from human and animal waste, sharp objects, hazardous chemicals, downed power lines, and other dangerous items.
- If your home floods, follow cleaning and disinfection guidelines to avoid mold growth.
- If the power goes out for more than four hours, throw out refrigerated food or any food that came into contact with floodwater.
- If your drinking water well is flooded, disinfect the well and test the water to make sure it’s safe before drinking it.
- If you use a generator, keep it outside at least 20 feet from your home to avoid illness or death from carbon monoxide, which can occur in enclosed spaces.

In her earlier years, Marena served as a Cub Scout Den Mother and PTA Treasurer. She was an member of Church of the Holy Apostles, Oneida.

She is survived by her son Walter Wilber, her mother Alfreda Green, her sister Carole Liggins, grandchildren, as well as numerous aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces, nephews, and friends.

She was preceded in death by her children, Carla J. Bridges, Scott H. Skenandore, Amy Allenby, and her father Carl Danforth.

Known for her bead work, star quilts, creating all types of artistic creations. She was a kind & gentle soul who enjoyed having tea and visiting with friends.

Employed within the Oneida tribe. Lobie, was an avid reader and enjoyed going for walks in nature. Lobie supported the recovery community and had 18 years of sobriety. She followed Lakota Sioux ceremonies since the age of 18 and was honored as a “Pipe Carrier”. As a member of the Native American Church, she lived and respected that way of life.

Preceded in death by her father Roy Metoxen, her mother, Lida Metoxen, brothers, Jeffrey Metoxen, Alphian Metoxen. Laurie endured many struggles in her lifetime and is now at peace.

December 23, 1926 - February 21, 2022
Blanche A. Powless, beloved matriarch of the Powless family, entered Eternal life Monday, February 21, 2022.

She was born December 23, 1926, in the town of Oneida, the daughter of the late Dennison and Sadie (Powless) Hill. She attended St. Mary’s School for Native American Girls, Springfield, South Dakota and graduated from Green Bay East High School, Class of 1945. On September 22, 1945, she married her childhood sweetheart, Edmund C. Powless at All Saints Cathedral in Milwaukee and shared 62 years of “wedded bliss” with him along with raising five daughters.

Blanche was a member and active supporter of the Church of the Holy Apostles, Oneida, and of the Episcopal church, in general, her entire life, having served on committees at both local diocesan and national levels throughout her lifetime. She thoroughly enjoyed doing the church’s work, most often beside her childhood sweetheart, Edmund. She will be greatly missed not only by her family and close friends, but also by all those who had the privilege of working with her.

Blanche is survived by four daughters, Theresa, Kathy, Dorothy (Dottie), and Barbara, seven grandchildren, Joe (Amy) Misikin, Tim (Shelly) Hughes, Henry (Wendy) Martin, Jr., Heather Martin, Sarah Miller, Katsi (Matt) Nichols, and Rachel Miller, eleven great-grandchildren, and six great great-grandchildren. She is further survived by a sister-in-law, Mary Hill, numerous nieces and nephews and extended family members Mrs. Beverly Skinner and family.

Blanche A. Powless
Blanche was preceded in death by her parents, Dennison and Sadie, her husband Deacon Edmund Powless, one daughter Patricia Hill, three sons-in-law, Douglas Krull, Corey Hill, and Rick Dickson, five brothers, Louis, Irvin, Sylvester, Charles, and Jerry, and three sisters, Catherine, Lorraine and Vivian.

In lieu of flowers, Blanche’s wishes are for monetary offerings to be made to the Church of the Holy Apostles in her memory.

Jenna Webster, 34, Green Bay, passed away Wednesday, February 23, 2022. She was born on September 2, 1987 in Green Bay to Rodger Webster and Elizabeth Matthews.

Jenna loved being the life of the party. She loved her kids and having family get togethers. It was never a dull moment with her!

Jenna is survived by her seven children, Charlotte, Darwin, Nataylah, Cheyenne, Acea, Malakye, Rosko and their father, Jeffery Fish; her mother, Elizabeth Matthews; siblings, Renee (Webster) Narayandas, Cheyenne (Webster) Hudson, Chad Webster, Jonathan Webster; nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her father, Rodger Webster.

his phone and arranging Zoom meetings to display child pornography. Law Enforcement located a profile on his phone in which Haberland writes he is “an active pedophile” who has molested children as young as 3 days old to 12 years old. Haberland says on his profile his motto is “molest, abuse, rape, and reuse.”

Jeremiah Cottrell-Duebner, Lay Leader of the OUMC & Staff Parish Relations Chairman, said the church community is in a state of shock. “The Oneida United Methodist Church is shocked and heartbroken over the recent devastating news in regards to Reverand Rick Haberland,” Cottrell-Duebner wrote in a statement. “The United Methodist Conference of Wisconsin does not tolerate any misconduct of this behavior or nature at all and takes this matter very seriously. At this time the pastor has been released of any and all pastoral duties and the church is working cooperatively with Outagamie County officials as the investigation is ongoing.”

Online court records indicate Haberland has so far been charged with 13 counts of Possession of Child Pornography and one count of Possession of Methamphetamine. He was due in Outagamie County Court March 10 for further proceedings. This is a developing story and more information will be released as it is received.
Wisconsin’s First Nations also stand to gain another source of valuable revenue through agriculture and other means as a result of legalization. In Indian Country, the cannabis industry is in its infancy with only a few Nations currently engaged in cultivating, processing, and retail activities. With two-thirds of all states now having legal cannabis in some form or another, tribes in Washington, Oregon, and Nevada have entered into state compacts and operate their own cannabis enterprises. Many other Native Nations across Turtle Island are currently in the process of doing the same.

Annually, the United States cannabis industry is worth an estimated $61 billion. Every single state that borders Vos’ personal fiefdom has now reaped tens of millions of dollars in tax sales, with Illinois topping $1 billion in its first year of legalization in 2020. Sales in Michigan topped $1.3 billion in 2021. Medical marijuana sales reaped an estimated $60-$70 million in Minnesota just last year, and while recreational use remains illegal on their books, it has been decriminalized with low fines for possessing small amounts being the enforcement norm. Medical marijuana is allowed in Iowa with state legislation being brought forward this year for full recreational legalization.

Numerous municipalities in Wisconsin have taken steps to lower, if not eliminate, fines for possessing small amounts of marijuana (most notably Dane and Milwaukee Counties) due to Vos’ refusal to join the rest of the nation in common sense legislation. “We are on the path to full legalization,” Agard said. “It’s clear that this is an issue that matters to the Wisconsin people, and an issue that I will continue to spearhead in the legislature.”

As policy makers, we need to listen to what the people want – it’s no longer a matter of ‘if’ we legalize cannabis in Wisconsin, but when.”

The Oneida Nation and its police department will continue to enforce state, county, and tribal laws for the foreseeable future, so the new Green Bay ordinance will have little to no impact on tribal enforcement, Assistant Oneida Police Chief Joel Maxam said. Tribal properties within the Green Bay city limits still fall under the Oneida Police Department’s jurisdiction, so they will still have enforcement authority in these areas.

The new Green Bay ordinance goes before the Common Council for any revisions and final approval March 15, and should be officially on the books a few days after.

Register for MTERA’s 2022 Virtual Annual Conference on March 29-31

The Midwest Tribal Energy Resources Association (MTERA), with support from the National Renewable Energy Laboratory (NREL), will be hosting a three-day virtual conference on March 29th - 31st, 2022. The theme for the event is Building Resilient Communities.

Day 1 - National Tribal Energy Topics - March 29th, 2022

Day One will spotlight policies, programs, and federal funding opportunities across the nation. Several appointed agency leaders will describe their agency’s energy vision and what Tribes can expect in the coming years.

Day 2 - Midwest Energy Topics - March 30th, 2022

Day Two will focus on the Midwest! Attendees will hear from State leaders and stakeholders in Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin as they discuss their current energy initiatives, Tribal partnerships, and state-specific funding opportunities.

Day 3 - Midwest Tribal Energy Topics - March 31st, 2022

MTERA brings together Tribes to create a strong Tribal energy network, provide energy assistance to Member Tribes, and pursue collective action energy projects. Day Three highlights these key areas.

Hear from Tribal leaders, federal and state agencies, educators, and energy industry experts as they discuss successful Tribal energy projects, state and federal energy policy, and strategic energy planning to help Tribes advance beneficial energy initiatives. Registration is FREE!
